Coming Events Announced For VFW Auxiliary

Crater Lake VFW auxiliary sewing club will meet at the home of Mrs. Fred Lawrence, 1422 Euclid avenue, for a potluck picnic at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, June 12.

Girl Scout Troop 158, sponsored by the auxiliary, will leave this month for a two-week trip to Yellowstone National park. Mrs. Lawrence, chairman for the troop, stated that the girls were still in need of paper which has been collected the past three years to finance the trip.

Members have been asked by Mrs. E. G. Heim, sewing chairman, to make two articles for the fall bazaar.

Mrs. Russell Zundel, poppy chairman, reported that the recent poppy sale in Medford was a huge success and expressed her thanks for all those who helped.

Guests at a recent meeting of the auxiliary were Miss Laurene Kell, senior vice president of the Department of Oregon, and Mrs. Dan Krotz and Mrs. Phillip Holt of Steelhead auxiliary, Shady Cove.

Miss Kell gave the obligation to the coming year's officers, elected to serve the group now made up of the former Central Point auxiliary and the Medford group.

The group will meet June 17 at 8 p.m. at the VFW hall.

Potpourri

The Ivan Burtons, who live at 26 Richmond avenue, are simply bursting with pride over their neighbors. The William E. Frakes live next door to the Burtons, and last year their son, Bill, was valedictorian of the 1957 graduating class of Medford High school. The Paul Beddoe family lives on the other side of the Burtons, and this year Gladys Beddoe was valedictorian of the high school graduating class. Because the Burtons have no sons and daughters of their own, they take a special interest in the children of their neighbors and are now hopefully looking up and down the street and across the way to see if there are other brilliant young people to win honors for the neighborhood.

Bill Frake, who entered Harvard university last fall on scholarship to study law, arrived home last week to spend the summer. Bill is filled with enthusiasm about the university and his studies, and is looking forward to his sophomore year. Miss Beddoe will enter a college or university in the fall to study medicine.

Every post the last few days has brought cards and letters from Frances Bulkin, former Mail Tribune reporter enjoying a vacation in San Francisco with her husband, Paul, and daughter, Tasha. The Bulkins were able to wangle tickets last week for the Moiseyev troupe through a "broker" and hastened off to see the dancers who are playing to SRO houses throughout the United States.

Exactly a month ago Potpourri wrote to the box office in S.F. in an effort to get tickets for a performance of the Russian troupe, and got back an "all sold out" answer. We were too easily discouraged—what we should have done was to try the offices of large hotels. Next time we'll know better.

FB wrote that the Bulkins and Jack Jacksons (formerly of the Mail Tribune) had met for dinner at the Old Spaghetti Factory Cafe and Excelsior Coffee House. (She sent along the name of an advertisement to prove she hadn't made up the name.)

In spite of off-and-on showers Tuesday, about 130 women—and even a man or two—made the Junior Service League house tour. Uneasy hostesses that morning had visions of soggy-footed guests leaving wet footprints all over everything, but luckily it was comparatively dry during the actual tour hours.

Potpourri chauffeured Pal Peg and her mother, and we started the tour at the Burton Lowry's beautiful hilltop house in Fern valley. The Lowrys, who continually change and add to their garden and house, recently acquired a new oriental rug and a new dining room set. It is of acacia wood, pale in color and with interesting burl markings, and the chairs are upholstered with cut velvet brocade in rose design imported from France.

At the M. M. Huggins home visitors exclaimed over the interesting color combinations, the many paintings, some of which are Mrs. Huggins' work, the marble baths and tricky bathroom fixtures fashioned in the shape of small golden fishes and mermaids. Mrs. H. has collected antiques for many years, and has quantities of early American glassware and furniture.

The efficient league members signed up three new Greenway circle homes for the tour this year, and guests found it easy to go from one to the other. The Hugh Coleman's new home is distinguished for decor of rich simplicity, and a striking note in the living room of subdued colors was provided by two bouquets of flowers, one of carnations in coral tones and the other a low table arrangement of white daisies with greenery. Peg and Mrs. H. decided the flamingo to be seen in the garden from a window was the exact duplicate of one they had once tried to buy.

At the E. A. Littrell's home on the Circle guests admired the ingenuity of Mrs. L. and the architect in designing the little shelves in shadow-box effect which hold a cup and saucer collection and small art pieces. The two oil portraits in the living room are of Mrs. Littrell's granddaughters, Lyn (over the mantel) and Jan, daughters of the Dave Brainerds, who now live in Petaluma, Calif.

The cheerful kitchen has music on walls and table which sing "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning."

The rain prevented visitors from walking in the garden at the Raymond Miksche home, but Mrs. M., whose flower arrangements are the envy of her friends, found time to make two or three for the pleasure of her guests. Mrs. Miksche makes artistic pictures with dried blossoms, pods and cones, but the black and white portraits on the bedroom wall of the Miksche home are the work of a son who lives in New York City.

New Grandpa Royal Bebb tried a trick on fellow Rotarians last week; it didn't work. Rotarians build up charity funds by fining members $1 a pound for new children and grandchildren; Grandpa Royal announced the arrival of Barbara Ann Bebb and said "she weighs 5 pounds and 32 ounces." He paid $8.—O.S.

A dessert luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Shock. Sweetpeas decorated the table while roses were used in other parts of the house.

Bridge Table Treat

New York—(UPI)—Crisp, sugared walnuts make good nibbling at the bridge table. Roast the walnuts first and stir them into a spicy sugar syrup cooked to the soft ball stage. When nuts are well-coated and the mixture turns creamy, turn out on waxed paper and separate.

Picnic Pointers
Butter rolls at home to save bother at picnic. Wrap green onions, raw carrot strips, celery sticks and other relishes first in dampened paper towels, then in waxed paper to keep them crisp. When you pack, use shopping bags for easy carrying. If supplies are heavy, put one bag inside another.
