Torrential Rains Drench Midwest; Thousands Flee

Quick Thinking Keeps Toll Down

By United Press International
The Midwest reeled today under a juggernaut of deadly tornadoes and torrential rains that killed at least 14 persons and forced another 5,000 to flee their flood-threatened homes.

A fast-striking twister pulverized a mile long, three block wide strip in El Dorado, Kansas, late Tuesday. Fourteen persons were reported killed, 150 homes destroyed, and more than 50 persons injured.

Severe thunderstorms, meanwhile, drenched the battered states of Illinois and Indiana. In weather-caused accidents alone, 12 persons have been killed in Indiana since the storm barrage began late Sunday.

The El Dorado tornado roared in from the west shortly before dusk, knocked out almost all electric and telephone service. Gov. George Docking authorized the use of National Guard troops following a declaration of martial law by City Manager Stanley Dial.

Emergency Red Cross stations were set up to handle those less seriously injured, while others were brought to the community's only hospital.

Officials credited quick thinking by many citizens for helping hold the death toll down. Motorists on the outskirts of town saw the black funnel swirling toward the city and sounded their horns to give advance warning. There was only five minutes' notice before the twister struck.

Cars Tossed Like Toys
Observers said the sucking wind drew up cars from a junk yard and tossed them around "like toys."

Most of the destruction was centered in the Graham Addition, a middle class residential district.

Sheer weather torment continued to plague a vast area embracing most of the central Midwest. The U. S. Weather Bureau reported a string of tornadoes through parts of Missouri, Illinois, and western Kentucky. Howling winds continued to take their toll of telephone poles and communication lines, property and crop damage, while hail stones four inches wide pelted Emporia, Kan., and piled eight inches deep at Dixon, Mo.

In Indiana, authorities said that at least 5,000 persons had been forced to flee to high ground in advance of swollen rivers. Bridges were closed along the Mississippi river near Marion, Ind., as almost unceasing rains pelted the region and land to the north.

De Gaulle Condemns Algerian Warning

Paris — (UPI) — Premier Charles de Gaulle today ordered Gen. Raoul Salan, France's supreme military and civil commander in Algeria, to keep out of politics. De Gaulle also denounced an Algerian Public Safety committee warning to him Tuesday as "unfortunate."

De Gaulle moved fast to meet a direct challenge to his authority issued Tuesday by the All-Algeria Committee of Public Safety, made up for the most part of right wing extremists who want to end all vestiges of the old political regime in the French government.

This group issued a communique which was interpreted as open defiance of De Gaulle's authority.

Lebanon Watchdog Commission Voted

BUDGET TOTALS $3,435,887

Russia Abstains In Vote Before United Nations

Move To Insure Against Subversion

United Nations, New York — (UPI) — The United Nations voted today, over Russia's abstention, to send a watchdog commission to insure Lebanon against subversion by the United Arab Republic.

Soviet Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev told the Security Council he did not veto the watchdog measure introduced by Sweden because neither the UAR nor Lebanon raised objections to it.

Despite his abstention, Sobolev said, the Soviet Union still regards Lebanon's complaint of "massive interference" by the UAR as "unfounded."

Three Sessions
The council held three sessions Tuesday on Lebanon's complaint of "massive interference" by the UAR. The final meeting lasted well past midnight when it adjourned until this morning.

Swedish Ambassador Gunnar V. Jarry proposed that Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold "dispatch urgently an observation group to proceed to Lebanon so as to insure that there is no illegal infiltration of personnel or supply of arms or other material across the Lebanese borders."

Plan Supported
The U. S. and Britain quickly supported the Swedish plan, saying flatly that Lebanon had proved its case against the UAR.

While the diplomats debated, two major battles were reported underway in Lebanon between rebel and government forces. Observers said the rebels appeared to be shifting from defensive to offensive operations.

Ricker Leaves VA Domiciliary; No Successor Named

Camp White — Eugene K. Ricker, manager of the Veterans Administration Domiciliary during the past five years, will leave Camp White on disability retirement this week.

No successor has yet been named, Ricker stated. Banks I. Paul, assistant manager, is expected to serve as acting manager in the interim.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricker plan to move to an apartment in the Medford Plaza Friday and will take up residence there following a brief vacation trip during the summer.

Ricker came to Camp White from Ft. Bayard, N.M., in 1953. Numerous changes were made and several important improvements were undertaken while he was manager, the most recent of which was the completion of the stadium at Memorial Field.

Ricker comes from Massachusetts and has spent the last 41 years in government service, including service in the army during both world wars. He holds the rank of major, retired, in the army.

Ricker started with the Veterans administration in the public health service in 1919, serving in supply until 1946, when he became assistant manager at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Dr. Wallace Pianka, chief medical officer during the past two years, has left for the Fargo, N. D., VA center, leaving two top posts at Camp White to be filled.

Ike, Macmillan In Close Agreement

Washington — (UPI) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said today that he and President Eisenhower have reached "fairly close" agreement on terms for a summit conference with Russia.

"We do not want one that is a farce," he told the National Press Club.

Macmillan said an East-West summit meeting would be profitable if it "can achieve small decisions, some form of move in disarmament."

He listed these two conditions for western agreement to a summit meeting:

—Reasonable prospects of success.

—An agenda which would permit wide debate. He said "No veto on discussion of any subject would be permitted."

Adams To Prove Charges False, Hagerty Claims

Aide Said To Have Ike's Confidence

Washington — (UPI) — The White House said today that Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams will prove that charges against him by House investigators are "completely false."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty also told reporters that Adams "has the complete confidence of the President."

The charges against Adams stemmed from a House subcommittee investigating alleged influence on federal regulatory agencies. Investigators said millionaire industrialist Bernard Goldfine obtained special favors because of his friendship with the presidential assistant.

On Way to Washington
Hagerty said Adams, who has been fishing in New Hampshire, is now on his way back to Washington. Later Hagerty said, Adams will prove "completely false" insinuations made yesterday that Mr. Goldfine received any preferred treatment from federal agencies because of his friendship with Adams.

The subcommittee Tuesday produced photostatic copies of more than $2,000 worth of hotel bills it said were paid by Goldfine for Adams and members of Adams' family at the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel in Boston. Earlier, Goldfine's secretary refused to honor a subpoena for surrender of the industrialist's financial records.

Hagerty refused at a news conference to comment on the hotel bills.

More Evidence
The House investigators said they had more evidence of the alleged trip between Adams and Goldfine.

A staff member testified that John Fox, publisher of the defunct Boston Post, charged that Goldfine got "favored treatment" by the Federal Trade Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission because of friendship with Adams.

Chief subcommittee counsel Robert W. Lishman told United Press International he has "something even juicier" in his Adams-Goldfine file.

Contract Let for School Addition

Clark C. Cummings Construction Company of Grants Pass was awarded a contract by the Medford school board last night to construct an industrial arts addition to Medford High school.

Cummings was lowest of five bidders at $186,646. Other bidders were H. Barnhart, Medford, $202,500; Jack Batzer, Medford, $202,084.15; Myron Jones and William E. Brooks, Medford, $188,770; and Harold Salter, Rogue River, $194,292.

The addition will house a woodshop, general metal shop and machine shop. Facilities also will be provided for an automotive shop, but it will not be used this coming school year. The automotive shop area will be used for mechanical drawing at first, school officials said.

The addition is part of a two-year building program approved by the voters last year.

The board also approved plans for construction of a stage and dressing rooms and a multiple purpose room at West Side school and for renovation of the entrance at McLoughlin Junior High school to provide waiting area for students catching buses and waiting for parents.

Resignations of Max Killingsworth as sixth grade teacher at Oak Grove, and Miss Maxine Anderson, physical education teacher at McLoughlin Junior high, were accepted.

Five teachers were hired. They are Mrs. Betty Love, school nurse; Mrs. Ella M. Elle, intermediate; Marvin Trautman, science teacher at Medford High school; and Charles Jandreau, elementary grades at Jefferson school. Jandreau is a former Ashland resident.

The board appointed Leland Knox, certified public accountant, Medford, to audit the district's financial records for the 1957-58 year.

Pentagon Storm 'Deeply Regretted'

Washington — (UPI) — Lt. Gen. Samuel E. Anderson says he "deeply regrets" that his remarks about planned rocket shots toward the moon stirred up a storm in the Defense Department.

Anderson, Air Force research and development chief, arrived here by plane Tuesday night and reiterated the statement he had made earlier in Milwaukee which aroused the ire of Pentagon officials.

He said the Air Force plans to shoot robot rockets toward the moon in August, September and October. Anderson said there was no discrepancy between his remarks and a Pentagon statement that "no definite decision" had been reached as to when the lunar probes would be conducted.

The dates he mentioned, Anderson said, were "planning dates" for attempts to place instrumented robot rockets in orbit around the moon. There is no plan to try to hit the moon, he said.

ICC Plans Public Hearing on SP's Rate Reductions

By ROBERT A. SMITH Mail Tribune Correspondent

Washington — The Interstate Commerce Commission is tentatively planning public hearings in San Francisco on Southern Pacific railroad's proposed lumber freight rate reductions, an ICC official said Wednesday.

The hearings would probably be held in September, he said, and last a week.

This is in the event the ICC turns down a petition for reconsideration of the May 20 suspension of the reduced rates. SP filed the petition June 2. Those opposing the petition have until June 22 to reply to it. The commission is expected to rule on it by June 30.

"That question must be passed on first," the official said.

He said San Francisco was selected because it seemed to be the most central location for the many parties who are interested in the case from Washington state to Arizona. Large lines, truckers and California lumber interests are opposed to the lower rates, which would give Oregon lumber shippers a break in competition for the big southern California market.

North Entrance Road To Park To Open

The north entrance road to Crater Lake National park from state Highway 230 will open Saturday, June 14, Park Superintendent Tom Williams announced today.

Park road crews are now widening the road to permit safe two-way traffic through snow. Drifts more than 30 feet were encountered in many places along the rim of the lake, and snow still remains along the road.

Williams said he expected the cafeteria to open Saturday, but the lodge and dining room will not open until Sunday, June 15. Scheduled bus service from Medford, Klamath Falls and Bend will resume by Pacific Railways.

The 35-mile drive around the lake will not be opened for another week or two, Williams said. Crews are now working to open the "drive, but are encountering heavy snow and rock falls.
