Ike Turns Down Demand To Fire Sherman Adams

Washington—(UPI)—President Eisenhower today rejected a congressional demand that he fire Sherman Adams, his top aide.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty made the President's position clear in answer to a reporter's question.

The reporter noted that Rep. Peter B. Mack (D-Ill.) had said Eisenhower should demand Adams' resignation because of the presidential assistant's actions in behalf of millionaire industrialist Bernard Goldfine, from whom he accepted favors.

He then asked if Hagerty could say whether the President had any intention of firing Adams.

"Sure I can," he said. "The answer is of course not."

Hagerty declined to answer further questions concerning Adams.

"The governor sent a letter yesterday to Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) and that is all he expects to have to say," Hagerty said. "He is not going to have a press conference and I have not heard any talk about his going up (to Capitol Hill) to testify."

Influence Denied
This was Hagerty's answer to all further questions about the matter, including a report that Goldfine had given a $700 vicuna coat to Adams.

Adams denied Thursday that he had used his position to seek government favors for Goldfine, New England textile tycoon. He said he only made, or directed others to make, phone calls to get information or to arrange an appointment for him.

Derailment of a Medford Corporation log train car stopped traffic for about 20 minutes Wednesday afternoon at the Highway 99 crossing.

Long lines of motorists were held up on each side of the crossing while Medco employees put one end of a loaded car back on the tracks.

Half of the 30-car log train had reached the Medco yard when a set of wheels on one car jumped the track, officials reported.

House Committee Approves Omnibus Farm Bill With Sweeping Changes

Washington—(UPI)—The House Agriculture Committee today approved, 21 to 10, an omnibus farm bill. It provides for the most sweeping changes in the operation of federal farm programs since the New Deal came to power in 1933.

Strong Opposition
The catch-all bill contained several provisions favored by the administration, but the administration is so strongly opposed to many of its provisions that it would be almost certain to draw a veto if passed in its present form.

There seemed little likelihood it would win congressional approval now. Even

U.S. Must Dicker With East Germany

Berlin—(UPI)—The Russians refused today to release nine Americans held captive in the Soviet Zone of Germany, insisting that the U.S. government must dicker with the East German regime for their freedom.

U.S. officials had decided to negotiate with the East German "kidnappers," but for the sake of diplomatic appearances they waited until the Russians replied to their request for the release of the nine prisoners.

Today's Soviet rejection, after the U.S. appeal had been ignored for nearly a week, presumably opened the way for talks with the East Germans. U.S. authorities insist that negotiations will not imply any measure of recognition of the East Berlin regime.

Vancouver, Wash.—(UPI)—City Manager Robert D. Clute of Oregon City, Ore., has been named city manager here.

Russian Letter To Eisenhower Being Studied

Summit Meeting Believed Topic

Washington—(UPI)—The State Department today studied a new Russian letter to President Eisenhower believed to deal with the long-discussed summit meeting.

A State Department spokesman said the letter ran to about 18 pages, plus another 20 pages of annexes. It was delivered to the State Department Thursday night by Sergei R. Striganov, number two man at the Soviet Embassy here.

The spokesman said the letter "apparently" dealt with a summit meeting.

Near Agreement
British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said Wednesday that he and Eisenhower were "fairly close" to an agreement on their terms for a summit conference with Soviet leaders.

Macmillan, who concluded three days of talks here, said they agreed they did not want a summit meeting that "is a farce."

The President and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev have exchanged a series of notes recently, but none dealt with a summit meeting.

A note from the President to Khrushchev Tuesday concerned the forthcoming Geneva technical talks on ways of policing a nuclear test ban.

U.S. officials believe the disarmament issue poses the most hopeful subject for a summit conference.

Force Seen Needed To Protect Lebanon

Beirut—(UPI)—Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, U.N. "police chief" in the Mideast, believes it would take 5,000 men with planes to seal Lebanon's borders against infiltrators and arms smugglers, it was reported today.

Informed sources said the Canadian general mentioned this figure to U.S. Ambassador Robert C. McClintock when they met Thursday to discuss the mission of the "watchdog" commission the U.N. is setting up to halt reported intervention by Egypt and Syria in the Lebanese revolt.

Burns was quoted as saying he probably could spare the necessary men from the U.N. emergency force patrolling the Gaza and Aqaba strips, but that he would hesitate to do so without specific orders from New York.

Penalty Tax
A similar opportunity would be provided for growers of corn and grain sorghums. If the program is adopted, growers would be given a marketing quota. Those who exceeded their quotas would be subjected to $1.00 a bushel penalty tax.

Governor Defends Real Estate Head's Hiring Son-in-Law

Salem—(UPI)—Gov. Robert D. Holmes today defended his real estate commissioner's action in hiring the commissioner's son-in-law to perform services for the commission.

Commissioner Clarence Hyde, a Holmes appointee, paid the son-in-law $2,287 for services in the past six months, his former education director, Burton Dunn, said Thursday.

"I have complete faith in the judgment of Mr. Hyde," the governor said. "I think his decision to hire the son-in-law was made with the state's interest and not family interest in mind."

"I do not feel that a department head should be inhibited in the hiring of a relative if he feels that person is the one who can do the best job," the governor said.

Hyde fired Dunn earlier this week in a move to save Dunn's $6,000 a year salary.

Hyde's son-in-law, Gordon Burbee, a Eugene real estate appraiser, was paid for giving lectures at real estate clinics in Pendleton, La Grande, Medford, Ontario, Coos Bay, Tillamook and Lincoln county, Dunn said.

The regular fee for lecturing for the department is $75 a night.

Hyde said his son-in-law was "highly qualified" for the speaking assignment and that he also was available days to consult with brokers and salesmen about their individual problems.

The commission has hired numerous speakers this year, Hyde said.

The commission has from $18,000 to $22,000 a year to spend on education. The money comes from a fee charged brokers and salesmen for their self improvement.

Hyde said it was his idea to save $6,000 of this money by firing Dunn, taking some of his duties on himself and spreading the money around among various speakers.

Burbee also has been hired as an outside appraiser in the Lane county area by the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Bill To Assist Railroads Seems Certain To Pass

Halting Passenger Service Included

Washington—(UPI)—Congress appears certain to pass legislation this session to aid the nation's financially ailing railroad industry.

The House Commerce Committee Thursday approved a five-point bill less than 24 hours after the Senate passed a generally similar measure.

Both measures would authorize the Interstate Commerce Commission to permit hard-hit railroads to discontinue unprofitable interstate passenger services.

Government Loans
They would also set up a program of government-guaranteed loans to the carriers to buy new equipment, facilities and depots. The Senate voted to impose a $700 million ceiling on the loans, but the House bill would set no ceiling whatever.

Several railroad companies have warned Congress they face bankruptcy unless the government comes to their aid. Sponsors of the aid legislation have said that the only alternative would be for the federal government to take over and operate the industry.

Under both bills, the railroads would be authorized to seek ICC permission to abandon costly interstate passenger services that have been consistently losing money.

'Club' Against Taxes
Railroad executives emphasized that they would not use this feature to curtail passenger service indiscriminately. But they said it would give them "a club" to combat what they called discriminatory taxes by state and local authorities.

The provision would apply only to passenger traffic across state lines. Passenger service strictly within a state's borders would remain the responsibility of the state government and its regulatory agencies.

Man on Horseback

Rightist Revolt Said Gaining in France, Algeria

Must Take Place in World, Nation Told

Paris—(UPI)—A right-wing rebellion against Gen. Charles De Gaulle's moderate policies gathered momentum today in France and Algeria.

De Gaulle told his countrymen tonight that Algeria must be "body and soul with France" and that France must take "the place which is ours" in the Western World.

Nationwide Address
But he warned that "the whole future is closed to us if France does not have to guide her a state which is capable of doing so."

De Gaulle expressed his views in a nationwide radio and television address—the first report to his countrymen since he took office as Premier with extraordinary powers two weeks ago.

Mystery surrounded the Paris visit of Jacques Soustelle, the political brains of the rebellious "Committee of Public Safety" in Algiers who was summoned to Paris by De Gaulle Thursday.

There were reports De Gaulle might lead him the riot act for his Algerian activities—and vice versa. Soustelle has been an ardent Gaullist but he has agitated for De Gaulle to wipe out the Fourth Republic.

Rightist Revolt Seen
Several major developments raised the specter of an outright rightist revolt against De Gaulle who has refused to bow to extremist demands he sweep away France's parliamentary system and disband all political parties. Among the storm warnings were:

—Gen. Raoul Salan, the French commander-in-chief in Algeria, refused to order army officers to withdraw from the insurgent "Committees of Public Safety" which forced the downfall of Premier Pierre Pflimlin. This was not outright disobedience of a De Gaulle order, but it at least was a rebuff to the premier who told Salan to stay out of politics.

'Popular' Movement
—Air Force Gen. Lionel Max Chassin, one of the mystery figures of the Algiers insurrection, told a news conference in Paris he was launching a "popular" movement to help De Gaulle turn France into a non-party state.

—Many members of the Algerian Public Safety Committee were reported in France drumming up support for the rebel movement.

—Anti-tax crusader Pierre Poujade dissolved his extreme right-wing parliamentary group and swung his shopkeeper's party behind the public safety committee movement in France.

Free Salk Vaccine Supply Said Exhausted in State

The state supply of Salk polio vaccine furnished for use in counties has been exhausted, according to Dr. A. Erin Merkel, county health officer.

He added that in the future there will be no more state vaccine available to health departments or private physicians.

The doctor explained that due to the situation, the local county health department is now in a position that it will have to make selection as to who receives the vaccine at the health department in the future.

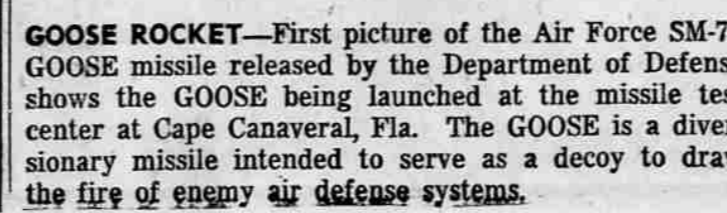

Dr. Merkel stressed the urgency of all persons under the age of 40 who have not had their vaccine to contact their family physicians and get the series of three shots started.

The health officer said that since the vaccination program is so important and so effective, the county feels it has a responsibility for those who are financially unable to obtain their Salk shots through practicing physicians. He said that in the cases up to 40 years of age the health department will be in the position to continue furnishing the polio shots.

The vaccine used during the past two years was made available through action of the state legislature and distributed through the state board of health.
