

Medford Accordion Pupils Win 15 Prizes in Festival

Forty-one students from the Caesar Muzzioli Accordion school of Medford participated in the Oregon State Accordion Festival and contest in Portland last week and won 15 trophies, including 11 first places. Mr. Muzzioli reported when he returned to Medford yesterday morning that about 700 accordionists from Oregon, Washington and Idaho were entered in the various divisions.

The festival was held for the fifth year in Lewis and Clark College with students, teachers and parents staying on the campus during the festival. The college music hall was available for all concerts and contests and other campus facilities were put at the disposal of festival guests.

Charles Magnante, New York City, considered one of the world's foremost accordionists, gave a concert Friday evening and also conducted workshops. Mr. Magnante, composer as well as concert artist, has become increasingly interested in the educational field and devotes a great deal of time to students and their musical problems. Mr. Muzzioli reports. The New Yorker judged all performances, both solo and band in the various grades.

The Medford winners were as follows: Junior Grade 1, Marilyn LaFleur, first; Junior Grade 2, Lynn Johnson, first; Melvin Cullison, second; Ronnie Lee Goehring, third; Junior Grade 3, Kenneth Fisher, first; Elementary Grade 7, Sue Willis, first; Elementary Grade 8, Don Weter, first; Intermediate Grade 2, Keith Bakshas, first; Intermediate Grade 3, Shyla Vancil, first; Senior Grade 2, Charles Moore, third; Senior Grade 3, Sharon Roberts, first.

In addition Lea Padgett and Sharon Roberts took first in the senior duet; the Polka Dots won second for intermediate bands and The Accaravans took first place for senior bands.

Fifteen bands from three states competed Sunday afternoon when Mr. Muzzioli's senior accordion band won first prize, the junior band second. The Accordion School is awarding a one-year free instruction scholarship to every first prize winner.

Tommy Leonard, a former Medford teacher now located in Albany, is president of the Festival Association and served as master of ceremonies for the various activities. His intermediate band took first place in that category, the advanced band placing second. A Portland accordion band from Luigi's studio was third in competition.

Chapter to Hold Picnic Sunday

Bowbells chapter, Daughters of the British Empire, will hold a picnic at Lithia park in Ashland, Sunday, June 22 at 4 p.m. Members attending are asked to take picnic food of their choice, and table service; coffee and tea will be furnished. Signs will be placed in the park to direct motorists.

Members having rooms for passengers in their cars are asked to telephone NO 4-1952 in the evening.

Former residents of England, Ireland, Scotland and Canada are invited to attend.

The flag of Liberia, patterned after Old Glory, has one large star instead of 48 small ones.

Clark E. Anderson, 1017 Sunset avenue, president of the Roxy Ann Gem and Mineral club, examines a piece of petrified wood that he had completed sawing. Mr. Anderson will be one of the exhibitors at the Gem and Mineral show sponsored by the club to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at McLoughlin Junior High school gymnasium. More than 80 persons are expected to enter displays in the show from California, Oregon, and Washington. Hours for the show are from 7 until 10 p.m. Friday; 9:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday, and from 12 noon until 5 p.m. Sunday. Behind Mr. Anderson in the picture is a sanding drum. In the foreground is a piece of petrified wood next to a Morrisonite rock.

Roguette Circle Elects Delegates

Plans for attending the annual department convention of the Military Order of the Lady Bugs were made at the last meeting of Roguette circle. The convention will be held June 28 at Redmond, Ore.

Delegates from Roguette circle will be Mrs. Ben Allison and Mrs. O. O. DeBerry; alternates will be Mrs. Ralph Pittock and Mrs. Russel Zundel.

Others planning to attend are Mrs. Amy Randle, president; Mrs. Richard Schulz, royal past grandmother gold bug; Mrs. B. B. Ramsey and Mrs. Fred Lawrence.

A project of the circle is to supply cigarettes for non-pension veterans at Camp White, and every other month the group helps to give a games party at the camp. Members also make regular visits to the camp and infirmary.

It is announced that since the park area at the domiciliary has been developed to the point that it is available for picnics, the different VAVS organizations plan on serving picnic dinners there during the summer months.

The area has a large outdoor kitchen, barbecue pit and picnic tables; several hundred persons may be accommodated at once. A fish pond has been stocked with gold fish and water lilies.

VAVS committees have worked to develop the picnic area and are proud that it is now available for the enjoyment of the veterans and their friends.

Four Members Of Rose Society Will Be Judges

Four members of Medford Rose society are now apprentice judges, and this summer will complete requirements of the American Rose society and become accredited judges. The four are Eldred Peyton, a past president, Mrs. Ronald Agell, Tracie, Mrs. Carl Norris and Mrs. W. R. Peabody.

Last spring the four passed written examinations, and tests in classifying and naming roses. This year they are serving as apprentice judges. All four worked under accredited judges during the recent annual rose show of the society, and in the last two weeks have judged at various shows. Mrs. Agell, Mrs. Norris and Mr. Peyton judged the Grants Pass rose show June 7, Mrs. Norris and Mrs. Agell helped to judge the Eugene show, and Mrs. Norris and Mrs. Axell were among the apprentice judges who worked at the show in Portland last week during the annual rose festival.

The latter part of this week Mrs. Axell, Mrs. Norris and Mr. Peyton will go to Olympia to help judge a show during the annual Northwest district convention of the American Rose society. The apprentices must help to judge at least five shows, and in addition must have had experience as growers, exhibitors and assisting with shows.
