

Pastor Accepts Position At Valparaiso University

The Rev. Kenneth K. Korby, pastor of St. Peter Evangelical Lutheran church, 1020 East Main st., for 7 1/2 years, has accepted a contract to become assistant professor of religion at Valparaiso university, Valparaiso, Ind. By the action of the congregation, Mr. Korby will continue his duties here as pastor until July 27.

Pastor Korby will teach courses in Christian doctrine, one course in the Life of Christ at the university. In addition to his teaching, he will serve on the chapel committee to help develop the worship life on the campus and among the students in their dormitories. He will also continue his graduate studies at Concordia seminary, St. Louis, Mo.

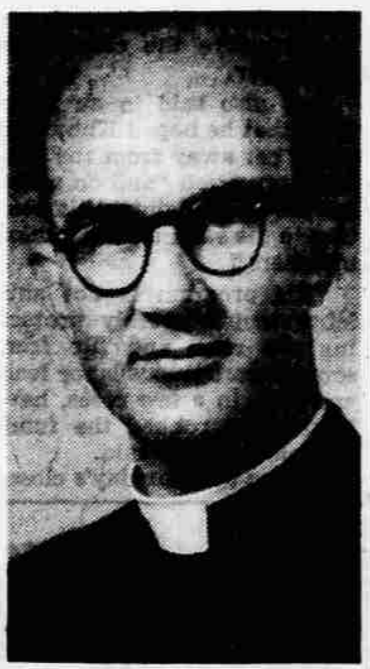

From Minnesota, Mr. Korby came to Medford from St. Paul, Minn., where he had been assistant pastor at Redeemer Lutheran church. Arriving here in January, 1951, with his wife, Jeanne, and Christopher, their son, he has carried on his pastoral work at the local church since February, 1951. His family, which also includes Deborah and Rebecca, plan to leave Medford July 27, traveling to Valparaiso by way of Ft. Collins, Colo.

Valparaiso is about 45 miles southeast of Chicago. The school, which will celebrate its 100th anniversary next year, came under the control of the Lutheran church in 1925. Since that time the student body has now grown to 2,500 students on campus, and a staff of about 160 teachers. In addition to the religion department, Valparaiso university has schools of education, music, engineering, law, pre-medicine and pre-nursing.

Last March, Mr. Korby spoke at the university, giving the Gross Memorial Preaching series. The series of sermons on a theme of Lent were delivered to the student body and faculty of the school.

Medford Group Honors Leader

The June issue of the Trail Blazer, official organ of the Medford Pathfinder organization has been dedicated to Elder Walter D. Blehm, Oregon Conference youth leader for the past 12 years.

Elder Blehm and his family left Oregon this week to accept a position with the Southeastern California Missionary Volunteer department.

Elder Blehm was instrumental in the beginning of the Pathfinder club work in this area, and in encouraging its growth to its present status of over 60 members in addition to 15 or 20 adult leaders.

He was also instrumental in establishing the annual summer camp for church youth on the Umpqua river at Milo, Ore., and has worked with them there each summer since its inception.

To show their appreciation for his years of devotion to the young people's work, a gift was presented to him at the recent Fall River Camporee from some 500 Oregon Pathfinders.

Miss Agnes White, Medford club counselor, composed the words to a song for the occasion. Miss White is editorial advisor to the Trail Blazer staff, which includes Tommy Tucker, editor; Linda Archer, Larry Snyder and Sue Budovic, associate editors; and reporters from each of the nine club units.

Elder Richard Schwartz, who has been closely associated with Elder Blehm through the past year, will assume the position of conference youth leader.

Film Scheduled At Friends Church

For the opening assembly of Sunday school at the Friends church Sunday, a film will be shown at 9:45 and 11 a.m. to those of the junior, young people and adult departments. Title of the film is "The Silver Shield," featuring Cliff Barrows, song leader for the Billy Graham crusades, in a dramatization of the story of David and Goliath.

Pastor Clynton Crisman will speak at the worship services, 9:45 and 11 a.m., continuing the series of messages from Ephesians.

Christian Endeavor will be held at 7 p.m., with Bayard Stone leading the senior group. Evening praise and worship is at 8 p.m., and "Quaker Hour" will be broadcast over KMED at 9:30 p.m.

The Rev. M. C. Bidwell and his family are conducting a mission of evangelism at the Free Methodist church, 1294 South Peach st. The meetings are held nightly at 7:30 o'clock.

Accompanying them here are their two daughters and a son. Recently the Bidwells and a nephew toured Haiti. They still send weekly recordings back to the missionary radio station on the island for broadcast.

The entire family will participate in the mission program at the local church.

Strawberry plants can now be tested for invisible virus diseases that have previously gone undetected. By grafting leaflets from the plant to be tested to a virus sensitive "indicator plant" of the strawberry species, scientists can determine whether the indicator plant is diseased. If no symptoms appear in the indicator plant within four to six weeks the plant under test is considered virus free.

Christian Workers Schedule Events

Miss Nancy Conroy will lead the Gospel Inquiry session at the meeting tonight of the Young Christian Workers of Medford at 8 o'clock in the St. Mary's annex.

William Donovan is in charge of social inquiry with topics to be discussed including world needs.

At the meeting last week Neal Murphy was elected vice president. Miss Noreen Kelly and Miss Frances Thrum reported on the study week end held at Springfield June 7 and 8.

The group has been invited to attend the West Coast conventions in Carmel, Calif., July 27 through Aug. 1 Plans are being made to send two members of the local group.

The Rev. John Ilg discussed charity and Christian living with the members.

Saturday evening the group attended a spaghetti dinner at the home of Miss Frances Thrum and then attended the Phoenix festival.

The public is invited to attend the weekly meetings.

The youth choir will sing at the 9:30 a.m. service, "Praise to the Lord." The chancel choir will sing at the 11 a.m. service, "How Beautiful Upon the Mountain," with solos by Mrs. George Sloniger and Mrs. Gregory MacDougall. The solo for both services will be, "The Lord's Prayer" by Dr. Milton Snow.

Dr. George Roseberry and lay leaders, O. P. Taylor and Ben Schmidt, are attending the Oregon Annual Conference at the First Methodist church in Portland this week.

At this meeting, the annual program for the Oregon Methodist conference will be worked out for next year and every individual will have a part in making the program. After these men return from annual conference, they will give a report on what was done at the meeting.

Family Campfire Planned Sunday

Sunday evening a family campfire is planned on the grounds of the Congregational church starting at 6:45 p.m. Each family is to take their own wieners and buns. Cold drinks will be furnished.

There will be singing around the campfire led by Mrs. Gene Chamberlain. The event is planned by the staff of the church school as one in which whole family groups can participate.

At the 10 a.m. service Sunday the Rev. Thomas McCament will preach on the question, "Why Is the World So Beautiful?"

Irrigation can either help or hinder the growth of tomatoes. Recent tests have shown that while irrigation increases the yield and quality of some varieties of tomatoes it actually interferes with others. In cases of poor response it was found that irrigation stimulated vegetable growth at the expense of development of good red color in tomatoes.
