Jackson Unit of Cancer Society Hopes to Work With Local Fund

The Jackson county unit of the Oregon division of the American Cancer society hopes to work in cooperation with the United Medford Crusade, despite a recent national directive forbidding local units to participate in united fund drives, it was reported Saturday.

John Dellenback, chairman of the local cancer unit, and Dr. Earl Lawson, a member of the state ASC board, are going to Portland tomorrow to present to the state cancer society officials a resolution adopted recently by the local unit, in which are expressed the hopes of continued cooperation.

The Cancer unit here has been a beneficiary of the UMC for some years, but the national society adopted a policy of withdrawal from united drives, some months ago, and the state organization followed last month.

To Cooperate If Approved
If the state office of the Cancer society approves the resolution it will mean the local unit can cooperate with the UMC, "particularly in the field of in-plant and governmental unit solicitations."

If it is disapproved, the Cancer unit here will have two choices, to follow the national directive to work alone or to disband and perhaps form an autonomous organization devoted to anti-cancer activities.

(Last week, the Spokane, county, Washington, chapter of the ASC quit the national organization, formed their own group, and will join the Spokane United Crusade drive. Eighteen of the 19 members of its advisory council resigned. Other chapters have shown dissatisfaction with the ACS directive.)

Resolution Quoted
The resolution adopted by the local Cancer society last week, said:

"Whereas, the board of directors of the Jackson county unit of the Oregon division of the American Cancer society has been directed to discontinue its affiliation with the United Medford Crusade pursuant to state and national policy directives, and

"Whereas, said board of directors anticipates that if such policy should be carried to the point of no cooperation or pooling of efforts with the United Medford Crusade it would result in irreparable damage to both the work of the American Cancer society and of numerous other charitable causes in Jackson county, and thereby be detrimental to the community as a whole, and

"Whereas, the said board of directors desires to follow the state and national policy of the American Cancer society without damage to other worthy causes and without damage to our community, now, therefore, it is hereby

"Resolved, that the Jackson county unit of the Oregon division of the American cancer society work in close harmony and cooperation with the United Medford Crusade in the collection of funds and all matters pertaining thereto, particularly in the field of plant and governmental unit solicitations, and that the executive committee of said Jackson county unit be, and it is hereby, directed to work out with the duly authorized officers of the United Medford Crusade all necessary details pertaining to such cooperation in the collection of funds."

Grand Opening in Progress at Station

A grand opening is being celebrated this week end by Bob and Elva Christean at their grocery store, lunch counter, and Flying "A" service station in Ruch.

The Christeans have resided in Jackson county since 1922. Before entering the present field they were engaged in the lumber business. Prizes, coffee and donuts are being offered during the celebration, which ends today.

Well Registration Deadline Is Aug. 1

Salem—Well registration will not be permitted after Aug. 1, according to Lewis A. Stanley, state engineer.

That will be the end of the three-year period provided by the 1955 legislature for well owners to register wells. Failure to register by the deadline will deprive the owner of his right to continue use of ground water from his well.

Certain uses of ground water are exempted from registration, Stanley pointed out.

Exempted Uses
The exempted uses are (1) ground water used for stock water, (2) ground water used for watering any lawn or non-commercial garden not exceeding one-half acre, (3) ground water used for single or group domestic purposes in an amount not exceeding 15,000 gallons per day, and (4) ground water used for any single industrial or commercial purpose in an amount not exceeding 5,000 gallons per day.

To be subject to registration, a well in western Oregon must have been constructed on or before Aug. 3, 1955, and a well in eastern Oregon must have been constructed
