Ferry Riders Misplace Practically Everything

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
New York — (UPI)—Miss Mary A. E. Morris, 71, is convinced that people would forget their heads if they weren't attached.

"She has found in 14 years of boating the lost and found offices of the Staten Island ferries that just about everything else gets misplaced."

"Skele tons, automobiles, children, pets . . . well, you just name it," said the sprightly Miss Morris, who this week retires from the job.

"I guess the most unusual thing that ever showed up was the bombs," she said.

"The bombs, four of them," she answered. "It was during World War II when a deckhand brought in a brown carton. Inside was something wrapped in rags."

"I began to investigate and noticed it was some kind of ammunition. I didn't know what I'm not used to dealing with such things. But I did have sense enough to call the police department bomb squad."

stated clerk of The United Presbyterian church, who spoke in Medford last October, will speak daily on the theme of the quadrennial. Others addressing the meeting will include Dr. Anna Arnold Hedgeman, assistant to the mayor of New York City; Mrs. Mildred Jeffrey, director of community relations, United Automobile Workers; and Dr. Kathleen Bliss, missionary, educator and editor from Great Britain.

At the close of the meeting July 1, Mrs. Oiser will travel to Moline, Ill., where she will visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Poquet, and their children, Sharon and Gregory. From there she will visit in Oxford, Nebr. where her mother, Mrs. Dorcas Burton, will celebrate her 90th birthday. Prior to returning to Medford she will visit two aunts in Denver,

Cottage Cheese Recommended for Summer Menus

Cottage cheese is a fine summertime food according to food specialists of Oregon State college.

A budget buy, there's no waste, no fuss and few calories.

"Shoppers can be assured that the cottage cheese they buy in Oregon surpasses standards required by state and federal law." OSC home economists say. Whether cottage cheese is purchased in Albany, Oregon, or Albany, New York, the shopper is assured of cheese that has goodness and purity.

Body building qualities of cottage cheese compare very favorably with red meats at less than a third of the cost, food specialists say. Families who are trying to stretch the food budget will want to use cottage cheese in many ways. Use cottage cheese instead of bacon in scrambled eggs. Serve cottage cheese in main dish salads with fruits or vegetables; or combine it with hamburger patties or meat loaf.

Appetites for cottage cheese are increasing right along with milk production according to home economists. Ten years ago most persons ate, on the average, about 2 1/2 pounds a year, as compared with five pounds per person in 1956, the latest year for which figures are available.

Oregon stores feature cottage cheese in different forms. Partially creamed or low fat cottage cheese contains about half as much fat as creamed cottage cheese. However, the total amount of fat in each is so small that neither type can be considered calorie laden. Cottage cheese with fruit, or with chives, is also available in some stores.

Suggestions for using cottage cheese that fit in especially well with patio meals are given by home economists. Add 1/4 cup cottage cheese to each pound of ground beef for a new hamburger flavor. Make burgers moister. Combine sliced strawberries and oranges with sugar and serve with cottage cheese for salad or dessert. Whip cottage and blue cheese as an appetizer to go with crackers, potato chips and crisp relishes.

Children frequently get lost from a sight-seeing group, she said. When this occurs, a call goes out to deckhands to watch for strays.

Miss Morris, who will celebrate her 72nd birthday in August, said she has no intention of quitting work altogether. "I just thought I'd take a good rest and then look for a job with shorter hours and not so hard on my feet," she said.

Secretary Begins Conference Plans

Washington, D.C.—Marion B. Folsom, secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare has invited state governors to appoint special committees and begin preparations for a national and state-by-state stocktaking on problems of children and youth.

This is the second major step in starting the machinery for the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth. President Eisenhower on May 27 announced that the conference would be held in March, 1960, and asked Secretary Folsom to make the necessary preparations.

Such a conference has been held every 10 years since President Theodore Roosevelt convened the first one in 1909. Secretary Folsom, in a letter to governors of each state and territory, invited them to appoint committees to participate in planning for the 1960 conferences. These committees also would serve as liaison groups between the States and an overall national advisory committee to be appointed by the President.

"Judging from the interest which already has been expressed in this conference," Mr. Folsom said, "I am sure the states will want to move forward rapidly in organizing their own preparations."

"I believe many states will want to use this pre-conference planning to see how far they have come in the last decade and where they should go in meeting the needs of their children."
