Astoria — (UPI) — Dick Estey of Portland fired a 65 to equal the Astoria Golf and Country club course record Tuesday as he opened match play in the Oregon Amateur championships with a 6 and 5 win over Dr. Millard Rosenblatt, Tualatin.

Estey's 65 equaled the non-competitive course record which had been tied only Sunday by Bob Atkinson Jr., 1951 amateur king from Portland. Estey finished out the round after sewing up the victory over Dr. Rosenblatt.

His fine round came despite a windy rainstorm which swept the course.

Atkinson and Dr. Ed Palmrose of Astoria, who shot a 67 to tie the competitive course record Monday, also posted wins Tuesday. Atkinson defeated Elmer Hanegan, Vancouver, Wash., 4 and 3, and Dr. Palmrose won out over Bill Wilcox of Astoria, 6 and 5.

Atkinson met Estey in a feature match today.

Lady Favorites Win

The favorites came through in women's play:

Gracie DeMoss of Corvallis, defending champion, defeated Brenda Black of Portland 6 and 5. She was paired off today against June Robinson of Tillamook, the state junior girls' champ, who defeated Mrs. Clare Spurlock of Portland 5 and 4. Mrs. Maude Borst, the medalist, defeated

Millette currently is competing in the Oregon Golf association match play tourney at Astoria.

Only one of the club title championship flight tussles went extra holes, according to the list of results. Dave Burns edged Dr. William Miller on the 20th green.

At least two second round scraps already have been played. Ed Hall subdued Bill Blackledge 6 and 5 and Dr. Dave Boals won from Phil Mongram 4 and 3.

Man Preaches Own Funeral Service

Norwalk, Ohio — (UPI) — Former State Sen. William H. Herner, 89, is all set to preach his own funeral service.

Herner tape-recorded a 20-minute funeral sermon. In it, he preaches for 15 minutes and recites his own poetry for five more.

He decided to preach at his own service, Herner said, because he's "attending quite a few services and never was too impressed with some of the sermons." He limited the service to 20 minutes because "most services are too long."

Warmer Weather Seen for Oregon

Portland — (UPI) — The weather bureau today forecast a return to fair and warm conditions for Oregon.

Forecasters said the upper air disturbance which caused general rains throughout the Northwest Tuesday had drifted eastward into southwestern Idaho and was weakening.

Warmer surface temperatures were predicted today with highs to 76 in eastern Oregon and 80 in southern Oregon. Thursday highs up to 80 west of the Cascades and to 82 in eastern Oregon were forecast. A few clouds will persist.

Highest temperature in the Northwest Tuesday was 74 at Yakima, Wash., lowest high so far there this month.

West Virginia Law Troubles Personnel

Charleston, W. Va. — (UPI) — A new West Virginia law requires a motorist to show proof of payment of personal property taxes on his car before he can obtain a license plate. Sounds simple, but it has the State Motor Vehicles department tearing its collective hair.

Here are some of the things that have been received instead of a small card certifying payment of the tax: a $2 weekly offering obviously intended for a church, a dog license receipt, a capitation tax receipt and a marriage certificate.

Japanese Search For Missing Yacht

Tokyo — (UPI) — The Japanese coast guard today launched an air and sea search for the missing American yacht Thespian, overdue on a voyage from Formosa with 10 Americans.

The 112-foot motor yacht, captained by actor-producer John Calvert, was scheduled to arrive at Hakata in southern Japan last Friday.

The search operations, the first organized attempt to find the yacht, began amid increasing apprehension of the safety of those aboard.

A yacht resembling the Thespian was sighted off Shanghai last Friday by a Japanese fishing boat.

There was speculation the vessel may have been seized by the Chinese Communists.

SPORTS House Passes Sports Anti-Trust Measure; Bill Goes To Senate

Title Fight On at LA; Weill Out

Los Angeles — (UPI) — A quick shifting of the props today left the Floyd Patterson-Roy Harris heavyweight title fight in Los Angeles but Al Weill, who originally promoted the bout, no longer was a member of the cast.

A few hours after the State Athletic commission at Sacramento, Calif., announced that it had denied Weill, former manager of Rocky Marciano, a promoter's license, Gus D'Amato said in Houston, Tex., that the fight still would go on here under new auspices Aug. 18.

The Hollywood American Legion stadium, which had been associated with Weill in the promotion, will lend its good offices in staging the fight at Wrigley field, sources here said.

To Fight Blot

Weill, who said he would fight the blot on his reputation placed there by the athletic commission, commented that he withdrew only because the fight was remaining in Los Angeles, "where it belongs."

Gus D'Amato assured me he had a responsible man who will take over the promotion and I'm glad the fight is staying here," Weill said. "I've been working on this fight for several months and I spent $15,000 in arranging it. This is now my home and I withdrew from the promotion on the proviso that the fight stayed in Los Angeles."

But Weill was still bitter over his being termed "unfit" to stage the fight by the athletic commission. He said he had not given up his fight to clear his name, and his attorney, Jerry Giesler, was studying the commission's ruling.

1st National Bank Name Change Voted

Coos Bay — (UPI) — The board of directors of the First National Bank of Portland approved a proposal Tuesday to change the name of the statewide banking chain to the First National Bank of Oregon.

Members of the board met with President C. B. Stephenson and Charles T. Chandler, executive vice president, at Coquille earlier in the day and later voted here on the proposal. The vote is subject to approval of shareholders in Portland Friday.

Washington — (UPI) — The legal problems of U. S. professional sports landed today in the laps of 15 men more familiar with the bench as the habit of judges than of spare outfielders and halfbacks.

A bill exempting the playing conditions of organized baseball, football, basketball and hockey from federal anti-trust laws stale home to final passage in the House Tuesday. It goes now to the Senate judiciary committee, several of whose members have indicated that all they knew of the problem was what they had read on the sports pages.

The committee probably will refer the bill, approved on a vote in the House after less debate than expected, to its anti-trust and monopoly committee. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) heads the subcommittee.
