ILLINOIS VALLEY Bolan Lake Road Open

By RUTH RAUSCH
Cave Junction — Clifford Fink, head ranger of the Illinois Valley Ranger station, said the road to Bolan lake is open. Sunday there were 10 boats sighted on the lake, but no one reported any sizeable catch.

The lake has a good population of Eastern brook trout, but they are only about five inches long, according to reports. This week the roads through Grayback camp are being improved with crushed gravel. Beginning July 1 a "no smoking while traveling" ruling will take effect. Overnight campers are also to be reminded to carry with them an axe, shovel and water bucket.

A timber sale of 2,700 million board feet along Four Mile creek was made Monday by the forest service to S H & W timber of Grants Pass.

Illinois Valley ranger station has manned three of their four lookout stations this week. Al Gravat is stationed on Bolan, and Dave Lukert on Piersal, both going up on Monday, and Bob Buhler left for Sanger Tuesday. A man has been appointed to Canyon Peak, but has not been sent to his position.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Woller and son Gary, of Merrill, Wis., were guests here last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Sukow. Woller is Mrs. Sukow's cousin. Other guests at the August Sukow home recently were Lt. and Mrs. Norman Ernerich. The Ernerichs were en route to the Naval base at Alameda, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wyatt and children Teresa, Paul and Steve, spent Sunday visiting in Hornbrook, Calif., at the home of Mrs. Wyatt's mother, Mrs. Fred Bloomingcamp. Mrs. Bloomingcamp was hostess for a birthday dinner honoring Mrs. Wyatt and her sister, Mrs. Marge Snider of Medford.

Melvin Wyatt of San Francisco spent last week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wyatt of Table Rock, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wyatt of Seven Oaks rd. and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wyatt of Alder st., Central Point. Sunday evening, the family met at the Ray Wyatt home for a birthday dinner honoring Melvin Wyatt.

Reports were given on the "Meeting of Instruction" by the six members attending the Grants Pass chapter June 9. Plans for the annual Daisy sale to be sometime in August were discussed.

The W. A. Saffers had two of their daughters and families from California, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Howard of Hughson and Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Nutter of Livingston as house guests last week.

Jim and Pat London had Pat's cousin, Sandra Edwards, of Medford, as a guest last week at their home in Kerby.

The Rev. and Mrs. George Gray left Saturday for a six weeks vacation in Alberta, Canada, where they will be guests of Mrs. Gray's brothers and sisters.

Terry Roberts, formerly of Cave Junction and now operating a service station in Riddle was in the valley Monday to bring his three children for a stay with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rossiter.

The city of Cave Junction has a new police car, a cream colored Ford. Phil Keller, former police chief, took his post Monday this week until the city can find a replacement for Ross Turpin.

Jack Green, son of the Les Henrys is visiting his sister, Mrs. William Burk, in Crescent City this week.
