Housewives Travel On Lake To Shop

Mackinac Island, Mich. — (UPI) — Week end shopping for Mackinac Island housewives during the winter means a six-minute hop across Lake Huron to either Mackinac City or St. Ignace.

When ice locks in the islanders for the winter, most of the housewives shop on Saturday afternoon, taking a $3.50 aerial round trip to the state's mainland.

The airlift to the island is operated by John Sturgeon, one of the owners of the light planes that are equipped with skis to ferry freight and passengers.

Sturgeon's ferrying service also includes hauling back all the groceries the women can carry.
