

TABLE ROCK Kansas Family Arrives

By E. K. NEALON
Table Rock—Mrs. William Bishop and five children arrived here Sunday evening from Kansas City, Kan., on the heels of what came nearer to being a Kansas tornado, or cyclone, than anything ever seen here, according to those who have seen tornadoes in the midwest.

During its short duration, trees were twisted and torn apart, shingles were lifted from roofs, grain fields were flattened, some in one direction, while some close by in the opposite.

Winds of tornado velocity, which raised clouds of dust, were followed by a downpour of rain which flooded and beat down garden plants, but did only slight damage to the pear crop.

The Bishops will spend quite some time visiting friends and relatives here, and other parts of Oregon, the state where they have spent most of their young lives.

The June meeting of the Table Rock Ladies club was held Wednesday, June 18, at TouValle park with Mrs. Don Wheeler, Mrs. Bert Pierce, Mrs. Harold Sharp and Mrs. Norman Matteson as hostesses. The attendance was somewhat lighter than usual.

Mrs. Ernest Smith has fully recovered from injuries suffered in an automobile accident near Camp White recently when her car was demolished.

Among local folks attending the Rose Festival in Portland were Miss Grace Bigham, who was accompanied by relatives from Beagle, and Miss Linda Doran, who went with her sister-in-law, Mrs. David Doran, of Medford.

Much of this year's crop of alfalfa hay has been damaged to some extent here on account of adverse weather conditions. Farmers hereabouts claim that the wages of mechanics and service men working on farm equipment are way out of line with what a farmer gets for his time.

A local farmer remarked that when a dealer sells you a piece of equipment he expects to live off it as long as it lasts.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Julia Myers, our oldest citizen, has suffered a heart attack and is in a serious condition.

The Abe Halfhills are now living in the dwelling recently vacated by the Dick Reum family, who are now living in Medford.

The Ben Peeks family, formerly of Central Point, are now living in the former Half-hill home.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Parsons of Escondido, Calif., aunt and uncle of Mrs. Ray Doran, were visitors at the Doran home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Pleasant left June 19 for San Jose, Calif., to attend the funeral of a grandchild.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hamilton treated themselves to a few days vacation and motored to Ely, Nev., where they visited at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Russ. Mrs. Russ and Mrs. Hamilton are sister.

The daily Vacation Bible school held at the Forest Acres church for the local, and Forest Acres Sunday schools, was concluded Wednesday with a program in the evening. During the eight-day session there were some 90 children in attendance, and

About 50 members of the Retired Teachers Association held their June meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. J. S. Richardson. Much of the time of the afternoon session was taken up by promoters describing the Rogue Valley Manor, and endeavor to get application for memberships, all of which was a waste of time, according to some of the ex-teachers present, who claim retired teachers don't have that kind of money.

Local farmers are almost daily having to turn away persons seeking work, and according to Bob Crenshaw of the Salvation Army Shelter, the calls for help coming to them have increased 50 per cent in the last two years.

To tell a man without a job, and no income about the big bank deposits, and the large sums in savings accounts, doesn't take many wrinkles out of his stomach. Some claim that our so-called recession is worse than the depression, in that the cost of living is at an all time high.

The Rev. Jean Shelley, the Irish minister of the Central Point Church of Christ, loaded his wife and six young hopefuls into his station wagon and drove out this way Tuesday on a cherry picking tour. They proved stiff competition for the robins, who had gotten the idea that the cherries were to go to them as pay for their singing. Rev. Shelley uses his "35 miles to the gallon" midget car for most of his traveling, to save enough to be able to use his big car for special occasions.

Dr. Inskeep and wife of Medford were brief callers here one evening last week, while the Doctor was gazing at the wonderful colored cloud effects, a jet mosquito discovered his hatless dome, and dove in for a belly landing. This caused the Doctor to hot foot it to his car, and start for home, as a mosquito bite to him is worse than the sting of a bee.

Local Firm Donates To Model Railroad

A Medford manufacturing firm has contributed its product to the Morehead Planetarium in Chapel Hill, N. C., for the installation of a permanent model railroad exhibit, according to Planetarium manager A. F. Jenzano.

Kadee Metal Products company, the contributor, was established here three years ago by brothers, Keith and Dale Edwards. The firm's primary product, couplers, is noted throughout the world for its quality.

The Edwards moved here from Los Angeles where they operated a tool and die and plastic mold business.

Construction of the exhibit at the University of North Carolina is expected to be complete in the fall. It will include an authentic "HO-scale" model railroad complete with landscaping, towns and streams.

Pretty Freshman Wins Medley Relay

Mitchell, S. D. — (UPI) — Maurine Oversteth, a pretty freshman at Augustana Academy at Canton, S. D., teamed with three male students to win the sprint medley relay here. The win provided the margin of victory for the Academy in the Interstate Academy Conference meet.
