Cosmeticians Promoting Green and Purple Look

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

New York—(UPI)—Around Manhattan:

Our language is sprinkled with clichés concerning people who turn green with envy or purple with rage. But I never thought I'd see the day when we women would turn either color with cosmetics.

Yet, a new group of make-up shades includes emerald, amethyst, and amber. They're all the brainchild of Charles of the Ritz cosmetics, who announce that we are in "for an age of adornment."

Recommended only for evening, and "for the girl with the camellia complexion and dark hair," the green make-up includes green-toned face powder, made a little paler by blending with buff if the wearer doesn't have the courage to look like a spring of mint; eyes shadowed with a shade called "fern"; lids outlined with green; a dash of black mascara for what the manufacturer called "the heavy lidded look"; and finally, a dusting of the green power applied in streaks through the hair to match the rest of the makeup.

Members Score Master Points

The monthly master point play was held by Medford Duplicate Bridge club Tuesday night at Girls Community club, with Mrs. George Rode serving as hostess.

Dr. Elliott Harlow and William Isaacs headed north-south winners with a score of 141 points. Second went to Mrs. W. W. Stevenson and Roy Pruitt for a score of 132 points and one point less won third for Mrs. George B. Dean and Mrs. Fred Purdin. Robert Dickey and Howard Boyd were fourth with 129½ points.

The Berg Martens scored 134½ points to lead east-west players. Second went to Mrs. Dolph Phipps and Mrs. Marris Gibbons with a score of 131, and third to Mrs. C. L. Howard and Mrs. A. W. Lingaas, who scored 114½ points. John Russell and Harley McMasters were fourth with 111½ points.

Neighbors Hold Rally

Phoenix — Ten circles of the Neighbors of Woodcraft lodge were represented at a district meeting held last Saturday in Phoenix Grange hall here. Representatives were from Klamath Falls, Ashland, Medford, Grants Pass, Cottage Grove, Creswell, Springfield, Coos Bay, Eugene and Phoenix. A total of 72 attended.

Mrs. John Cook, guardian neighbor of the Phoenix lodge, opened the session and the drill team of the Medford lodge escorted officers and special guests to their stations.

A program was given by the Misses Cynthia Owens and Judia Stewart, who presented accordion duets; Sidney Yarnell, a dance number and Mesdames Mary Esther Newton, Coos Bay, and Mrs. Martha Shipley, Ashland, who presented a skit.

Harry Allen, Springfield, district guardian neighbor, conducted the district session. He introduced Grand Representatives Silvia Stang, Klamath Falls, and Elmer Newton, Coos Bay; Mrs. George Drake, Phoenix; past member of the grand laws committee, Mrs. Mabel Matheny, Cottage Grove, district field manager and the guardian neighbors of the Ashland and Phoenix lodges, Mrs. Ada Jones and Mrs. Cook.

Corsages were presented to the district officers and drill team members. The rally closed with refreshments served by the host circle, with Mr. and Mrs. Chester Parker, chairman of the supper committee. The tables were decorated with daisies.

Footlighters Play Being Rehearsed

"Laura," a suspense-type three-act play by Vera Caspary and George Sklar, is now in rehearsal by the Medford Footlighters. It will be presented for a five-night run later this month, the dates to be announced in a few days.

The play, said to be "full of thrills and surprises from opening to final curtain," is being directed by Thayer Tarvin who has been actor, director and technician in many past Footlighter productions. The cast of eight is equally divided between newcomers and old timers in the local civic theater. They include Frank Buchter, Al Reiss, Bill Petty, Les Boardman, Miss Linda Smith, Mrs. Helen Ashley, Mrs. Dorothy Sloniger, John Wright and Mrs. Wright.

High Heels
The institute says that despite some domestic griping about narrow heels tangling with escalators and sidewalk grills, the slim heel will be a favorite for fall.

Couple Here
Mr. and Mrs. Y. S. Christianson, who divide their time between Oakland, Calif., and Medford, are spending several days at their home here on Valley View drive.

Rogue River Women Decorate Camp Chapel

Fruit Ring
Serve a spicy fruited gelatin ring filled with chicken salad for a ladies luncheon. Simmer the syrup from a number 2½ can fruit cocktail with 1½ tablespoons mixed pickling spices about 10 minutes. Strain, and use as part of the liquid in making the gelatin, adding enough fresh lemon juice or vinegar to make the mixture tart. Chill until slightly thickened, and fold in the colorful fruit cocktail.

Chef's Salad
A chef's salad makes a wonderful dinner for a hot night. Start with a big bowl of crisp greens. Add wedges of tomatoes, drained, canned green beans, sliced cucumbers and green onions, slivers of cold meat and cheese, and toss with a sharp French dressing. Garnish with ripe olives and quartered hard-cooked eggs. Serve with crisp rolls or French bread. Add a bakery pie for dessert, along with iced tea or hot coffee.

Jim Smith's Asset: A Charming Wife

Everybody likes to visit the Smiths. Jim's a nice guy—and Nancy—well, she's tops. She's the kind of wife every man dreams of marrying and the kind of girl every woman wants to be.

In this day and age, a wife strives to make her home and herself charming to her husband and his friends. The friends - before - the - marriage, the business associates, the boss—all these she welcomes with a friendliness which will aid and strengthen her husband in his relationships with them. Her charm, which captivated her man before marriage, will continue to surround her partner, including his associates as well as hers.

There is never an age, a situation, nor a state where charm is not an asset, says John Robert Powers, director of a model agency. A friendly atmosphere, a gracious hostess—these are assets when a man entertains his business associates or clients.

Charm is a difficult quality to define. It is neatness, attractiveness of appearance, plus tact and courtesy, and above all of these things, it is "personality," as reflected in the face radiating friendship and happiness. It is warmth of thought and feeling, grace of thought and movement. It is clear thought, orderliness, logic, and honesty.

The wise wife cultivates as many of these qualities as possible, making them a part of her own thinking and feeling, until they become an integral part of herself.

The man with the charming wife is rich, with the wealth of happiness and friendship which is beyond purchase in any coin.

Classic Hollandaise Has Many Variations

New York — (UPI) — Try a variation on the classic hollandaise sauce with cooked asparagus, broccoli, cabbage or baked fish.

Tomato hollandaise is made by combining 2 egg yolks with 1 tablespoon tomato paste, 1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar, 1½ teaspoons ground black pepper in the top of a double boiler.

Cook over hot water until thickened, stirring constantly. Gradually beat in ¼ cup butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon at a time. Beat until thickened. Makes ½ cup.

Man Says Modeling Too Easy

By MARY PRIME
United Press International

New York — (UPI)—Lionel Wiggam is one of the highest paid models in the nation, but he doesn't relish the job. He's also a playwright, but he never goes to the theater.

"Modeling is a wonderful career for creative people because it gives us leisure time. As a means to an end, it's fine. But as an end, it leads to unhappiness. It requires no talent and it so short-lived," said Wiggam, who will have a serious play, "The Prime of Life," produced on Broadway in the fall.

"You make such easy, fast dough that people want to throw everything aside and go into modeling. Men write to me about giving up jobs like law practices for it. It's really sad. They don't stop to think that you don't last long in this business," said the tall, handsome model, who is known around New York as the "Wallachs man" because he has posed for so many of the firm's newspaper ads. He is 6 feet tall, looks like the man next door, measures a "perfect size 40," and doesn't gain weight "except martini fat" he said, as he dug into a gooey dessert.

Wiggam has had stories published in every magazine in which he's appeared.

"I can make more money in one day by modeling than I can in a month by writing. But the minute I have a hit play, I'll retire and become a full-time writer," said author Wiggam.

A native of Indianapolis, a studied drama at Northwestern University, quit school temporarily to work his way around the world, and was graduated from Princeton in 1943.

He went to Hollywood, where he landed an acting-writing directing contract and spent five years doing movie scripts. He wrote the screen plays of "Tap Roots" and "Smash-up." He has been a model for five years.

Scouts to Leave For Camp Sunday

Girls attending the first session of Girl Scout Camp Low Echo will leave from the Medford Greyhound bus garage, Fourth and Apple streets, at 12:30 p.m. on Sunday, July 6. Campers should be at the garage, with their luggage marked, not later than 12 noon.

If camp fees have not been paid, it and the health card can be turned in at the bus garage. It is stated that no camper will be allowed to go without a health card.
