Lightning Bolts, Cloudburst Hit West Washington

Seattle — (UPI) — Blistering heat, punctuated by lightning bolts and a freak cloudburst, had the weatherman ready to eat his barographs, forest rangers eating smoke, and highway crews eating mud Monday.

Lightning strikes started 25 fires in the Mount Baker National Forest during the week end.

At least seven fires were started by lightning in Snoqualmie National Forest.

Mud on Highway

A cloudburst in the Cascade Mountains southeast of Mt. Rainier sent mud and rocks sliding down in White Pass Highway near Trout Lodge early Monday, but the route was re-opened to one-way traffic a short time later.

The Naches Ranger Station also reported a slide had closed the Bumping Lake road in the Goose Prairie area marooning several carloads of fishermen and campers. Officials said the slide was seven feet deep and 50 yards wide and it was not expected to be cleared until Monday afternoon.

A freak lightning storm over Yakima got the Rex A. Hansen family out of bed earlier than usual Monday morning. A bolt struck the Hansen home at 6:25 a.m., blasting a hole about the size of a quarter in the roof and charring the shingles along the edge of the metal flashing on the roof. The bolt also appeared to have traveled a downslope, knocking out a piece of concrete foundation. The garage also was struck and the Hansen car seemed to have been moved.

House on Fire

"It sounded like a bomb," said Mrs. Hansen. She said she didn't realize what had happened until a neighbor called and said the Hansen house was on fire.

None of the forest fires were out of hand. Only one, in the Glacier District of the Mt. Baker forest, was of any consequential size, it being eight acres. Thirty men there had it under control.

Tito Carries Feud With Khrushchev To Middle East

Paris — (UPI) — Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia is preparing to carry his feud with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the Middle East, diplomatic dispatches reported today.

The diplomatic reports said this would play an important role in the talks today in Yugoslavia between Tito and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

May Support Greeks

Greek Foreign Minister Evangelos Averoff will fly to Yugoslavia Tuesday to join Yugoslav and U.A.R. diplomats and it was believed Tito would support the Greek position in the Cyprus dispute.

Diplomatic reports in Paris said Tito hoped to strike back at Soviet denunciation of Yugoslav revisionism by trying to woo Nasser away from Soviet enticement.

He also may ask Nasser to press Algerian nationalist rebels to "be reasonable" and arrive at some agreement with France to end the four-year-old rebellion in Algeria.

Meeting on Vanga

A Belgrade dispatch said Tito and Nasser were meeting on the isolated and postage-stamp sized islet of Vanga, two miles from Tito's summer home on Brioni. They landed at Brioni Sunday with their wives from Tito's yacht the "Galeb" (Seagull).

A Cairo dispatch said Tito and Nasser would reaffirm their support of positive neutrality and peaceful co-existence and that Nasser, who visited Moscow last May, would try to ward off any drastic Soviet action against Yugoslavia.

Oregon Drivers Get Praise From Holmes For Holiday Safety

Salem — (UPI) — Oregon's "safe and sane" drivers got a gubernatorial pat on the back from Gov. Robert D. Holmes today after the state had apparently completed a 78-hour Fourth of July week end without a single traffic fatality.

But the long list of drowning victims and an explosion in Portland prompted the governor to initiate action aimed at preventing recurrence of these tragedies.

"We are justly entitled to feel lucky and proud of the three-day death-free record on our highways and streets," Gov. Holmes said. "I would like to congratulate all Oregonians for the fine record, and commend the police and safety agencies which contributed so much to making it possible."

Best in U.S.

Oregon had the best highway record in the U. S. for the holidays, Gov. Holmes noted. Oregon was the largest by more than twice of eight states enjoying a deathless 4th.

The last death-free Independence Day was in 1951 when the holiday fell on a Wednesday, shortening the period to 30 hours.

Motor Vehicle Director James F. Johnson also congratulated motorists and police agencies for their fine work.

"It is our ultimate hope to make every day a death free day on Oregon highways," Johnson said.

New Laws Suggested

The governor said he was greatly concerned that such tragedies as the fireworks explosion in Portland should occur and said he was asking State Fire Marshal Hugh Earle to begin studies upon which new legislation could be based to prevent recurrence.

"It seems to me that we need laws which will prevent the storage of explosives in or near residential areas," Gov. Holmes said.

"It is a great tragedy, too, that our beaches, lakes and streams should cause so much grief from drownings," the governor added, making an appeal for water safety measures and education of the public to danger in the water.

Pair of Oxen Newest Attraction

Kansas City, Mo. — (UPI) — Rock and Roll, a pair of oxen, are Kansas City's newest attraction.

Straight from a logging camp in Biloxi, Miss., the beasts were bought by a stable and are being schooled for parades, hayrides and advertising schemes.

Howard Benjamin, 25, manager of Benjamin Riding Academy, said he believes Rock and Roll are the only oxen in the vicinity—a clear field for talented oxen.

Benjamin said the pair is "one of the best broke teams in the United States for gee and haw." That's right and left in oxen lingo. They're also brushing up on yea and whoa—stop and go.

The reddish-brown beasts had their big day Oct. 19 during the traditional American Royal parade through downtown Kansas City.

Benjamin said Rock and Roll are quite wise about crowds, sirens, horns and clapping. Not long ago he took them to the Country Club Plaza, an expensive shopping area, as an advertisement for a restaurant. They also had a parade trial run at the Olathe, Kan., centennial celebration and put on a creditable performance.

The team has been called into use for pulling hayrides, and Benjamin said the oxen are so "gentle that we let the kids get on them."

The animals are not controlled by reins and move only when given verbal directions. Although they already responded to voice commands when Benjamin bought them, they are worked 30 minutes to three hours each day to get them used to their new driver.

Pakistan Pushes Project Designed To Avoid Desert

Karachi — (UPI) — Aided by American and British resources, the Pakistan government is pushing ahead with its ambitious 150-million-dollar Mangla dam project designed to keep northwestern Pakistan from turning into a desert.

The proposed structure, 900 miles north of Karachi and in the heart of the bitterly disputed Azad Kashmir area will stretch almost two miles in length at its base and rise 350 feet at its highest point. The reservoir will hold three and a half million acre-feet of water in an irregular 100-square-mile mountain lake rimmed by forests.

Located on the turbulent and unpredictable Jhelum river, the dam will provide irrigation for a chunk of real estate the size of Northern Ireland or Connecticut.

But mainly, it will yield nine and a half million acre-feet of water for land reclamation in the Punjab area which is steadily being turned into a salt bed at the rate of 75,000 acres per year. Without the Mangla, the lush Punjab might become a Sahara within 50 years.

To Curb Floods

The dam will be a rolled filled earth embankment flanked by a power station and a spillway. The power house will have an installed capacity of 300,000 kilowatts. From the spillway, water will cascade 200 feet to the lower Jhelum river.

Additionally, the structure will harness the sometimes wild Jhelum and halt the excessive flood damage to the plains below. Its reservoir lake, stretching back 10 miles into the hills, will provide a semi-mountainous (1,200 feet above sea level) tourist resort complete with hotels, boating facilities, fishing and duck hunting.

The massive lake will submerge the city of Mirpur and affect an additional 122 villages in the area. The Pakistan government has set aside 50,000 acres for resettlement of the people and has proposed the construction of a new town near the dam site.

American and British funds will aid in financing the project which the government hesitatingly predicts will be completed within 10 years.

The government has signed an agreement with the London firm of Binnie, Beaton and Garley as consulting engineers for the project, aided by the Harza Engineering company of the United States for civil works, and Preece, Cardew and Rider of Britain for the electrical portion.
