

Prohibition Return As National Issue Predicted by 1965

Loma Linda, Calif.—(UPI)—Return of prohibition as a national issue is predicted by Dr. Andrew C. Ivy of the University of Illinois.

In fact, he had these words of advice Monday for politicians who would like to win friends and get elected to office:

"If you want to be successful in 1965, campaign on a prohibition platform."

Based on Survey

Ivy, chairman of the National Committee for the Prevention of Alcoholism, based his conclusions on a survey of trends over a 73-year period. He said prohibition sentiment sweeps the nation about every 35 years.

"Waves of unparalleled drunkenness always precede the waves of prohibition sentiment," he told the ninth annual Institute of Scientific Studies for the Prevention of Alcoholism meeting on the campus of the College of Medical Evangelists.

"America has reached such a point of consumption of alcoholic beverages that the nation must choose between national ruin and prohibition," Ivy said.

He warned if present trends continue:

—There will be one or two severe alcoholics in every family by 1966.

—There will be nine to 10 million alcoholics in the United States by 1966.

Higher Crime Rate Seen

—America's crime rate, both juvenile and adult, will continue to reach appalling levels.

—California will continue to have the highest rate of alcoholism among the 48 states, with the figures rising from 597,450 in 1958 to nearly 700,000 by 1966.

A national education program on alcohol was seen by Ivy as a means of solving what he described as a growing menace.

Marilyn Monroe Back in Hollywood

Hollywood—(UPI)—Blonde temptress Marilyn Monroe came home to Hollywood today, still a torrid sex symbol dressed in a form-fitting silk blouse and skirt and wearing inch-long false eyelashes.

Displaying her famous wiggle-walk, the actress left her plane at International Airport 30 minutes after the other passengers had deplaned. Miss Monroe had been asleep when the plane landed and had to be awakened and helped into her clothes by her secretary, May Reize.

Her new picture will be "Some Like It Hot."

"It's wonderful to be back," Miss Monroe said on her first visit to the film capital in two years.

Labor Council Urges Laws for Disasters

Portland—(UPI)—The Multnomah County Central Labor council took a strong stand Monday night against crowds flocking to the scene of a disaster.

The Council passed a motion urging that laws be beefed up to prevent recurrences such as last Saturday morning when thousands of persons flocked to the scene of the fireworks explosion which killed a little girl here.

Fred Russell, a delegate of the Communication Workers of America who lives near the blast scene, said he believed 10,000 persons went to the blast site within an hour. He said "the curious were hampering those who were trying to save lives."

Brothers Meet After 22 Years

Portland—(UPI)—Two brothers who hadn't seen each other for 22 years although they live but 75 miles apart were reunited Monday.

Elmer Albee, 82, Albany, was reunited with his brother, Wesley, 77, Portland. Each had believed the other was dead.

Elmer, a retired gold miner, said he had written to a friend in Boise who told him his brother was still alive and was living in Portland. He checked and then came to Portland by but for the reunion.

Parents of the two men came to Oregon in 1854 by wagon train and settled in the Tualatin valley. The two are the last of six brothers.

Three Men Hold Up Bank in Fresno

Fresno, Calif.—(UPI)—Three men robbed the First Western bank in the Mayfair shopping district of an estimated $40,000 this morning while holding nine employees at bay with guns shortly before opening time.

The trio fled in a 1950 green Chevrolet panel truck. The robbers entered the bank at 7:20 a.m. (p.s.t.) by holding a gun on the bank's secretary, Miss Marilyn McKinney, when she arrived. They then waited while the rest of the employees arrived, putting them in seats until the persons in charge of opening the vault got to the bank.

Portland Police in High Speed Chases

Portland—(UPI)—County and city police took part in two high speed chases here early today, one of which was punctuated by gunfire. Speeds ranged up to 100 miles an hour, police said.

In one of the chases, two 16-year-old boys were taken into custody following a 12-mile chase near Gresham after the car rolled over in a field. Deputy Sheriff Gordon MacLaren fired five shots as the car sped east of the city. One of the boys was taken to the county hospital for observation and the other was taken to the juvenile home.

In the other chase, the driver of a car escaped into woods at the west end of the Rose City golf course after the car tore up lawns and damaged a hedge.

Capone Hoodlums in Chicago Area Unions Crime Director Says

Washington—(UPI)—Virgil Peterson, director of the Chicago Crime Commission, told the Senate Rackets Committee today that Capone gang hoodlums have infiltrated "innumerable" unions in the Chicago area.

Peterson specifically mentioned Local 593 of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union, one of the main groups now being investigated by the committee.

Gangsters also have had a hand in the operation of the taxi driver, juke box and electric workers unions, he testified.

First Witnesses

Peterson and Detective Lt. George Butler of the Dallas, Tex., Police Department were the first witnesses as the committee opened a new hearing on mobster influence in labor-management relations in the restaurant business in Chicago.

Peterson testified that three of the present officers of Local 593 were closely linked with the Capone mob. He identified them as James Blakely, secretary-treasurer of the local and a vice president of the parent union; John Lardino, administrative director, and Daniel Lardino, a business agent.

Butler testified that Daniel Lardino was active in an attempt by Chicago racketeers to take over an $18 million rackets empire in Dallas in the 1940s.

Butler indicated the move failed because the Texans proved too tough for the Chicago crew. When a Chicagoan started making trouble, he said, "one of those Texas boys would peel his head."

Butler also advanced the theory that failure of the Texas venture led to the gangland slaying of Nick De John who was found dead in San Francisco with a wire around his neck.

Butler said De John at the time was a sort of "judge" of underworld disputes and arranged to underwrite the cost of the move into the Southwest. He said mobster Marcus Lipsky and his associates in Texas lost a good deal of money which De John was unable to make good.

"We knew a few weeks of time that he was going to get killed," Butler said.

Regardless of their respectable-appearing fronts in labor and business, Peterson said, "Hoodlums still remain hoodlums. They still know only one law and that's the law of the jungle."

HELPS BOTH SIDES

Geneva, Switzerland—(UPI)—The International Red Cross has been helping both government and rebel sides in the Lebanese rebellion by sending medical supplies and evacuating seriously wounded, it was disclosed today.

About 150,000 U.S. children are born out of wedlock each year. There are about 250,000 highway bridges in the United States.

Ike's Foreign Aid Supporters Begin Fight in Senate

Washington—(UPI)—Senate supporters of President Eisenhower's foreign aid program began a determined fight with administration backing today to restore at least part of House cuts in money for the program.

However, they faced firm opposition from many members of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The administration sent Under-Secretary of State C. Douglas Dillon, the State Department's top economic official, to open its plea before a closed door hearing of the committee.

Dillon will be followed Wednesday by Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The administration wants the Senate to restore the full $3,675,592,000 authorized by Congress last month.

In its original appropriation request—sent to the House before the authorization asked $3,950,092,500. The House cut this by $872 million to a total of $3,078,092,500 despite strong pleas by Eisenhower.

Sees 'Acceptable' Bill

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Texas) a member of the Appropriations Committee, predicted Monday the Senate would restore part of the House cut and Congress eventually would work out an "acceptable" bill.

However, such critics of the program as Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) also a committee member, remained outspoken in opposition.

Ellender said he felt there still was plenty of room in the bill for cutting. Also he said the administration must learn "that they cannot receive what they want by merely crying 'wolf'."

The committee, headed by Sen. Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.), expects to hold hearings for about 10 days.

Tests Scheduled In Mystery Death

Los Angeles—(UPI)—A coroner's autopsy surgeon planned today to make further microscopic and toxicological tests to determine what killed Budd Read, 34, Smithfield, Utah, reported to have been bitten by a tarantula.

More tests were planned Monday after a preliminary autopsy by Dr. Donald Mills failed to disclose the cause of death of the transient laborer.

Read's face and neck were horribly swollen Sunday when his body was found by a hotel manager. Read had told the manager a spider had bitten him while he was working near Bakersfield, Calif.

Mills said he found no marks which might have been made by the bite of a spider but that they might have been hidden by the extreme swelling.

Los Angeles Man Quizzed in Slaying

Reno—(UPI)—Sheriff's officers today questioned Edward E. Jameson, 55, Los Angeles, today about the fatal beating of a man whose body was found in the trunk of a car which was involved in a minor accident near here.

Under Sheriff Richard O'Boyle said the victim was Paul Gordon Chipman, 58, Visalia and Beaumont, Calif., a one-time kitchen worker at Stanford university. He was identified through papers found in a wallet in the car and the vehicle's registration. Jameson underwent a lie detector test early today. "It showed that he was lying," O'Boyle said. The suspect, arrested near the scene of the accident, claimed he had walked the 25 miles east from Reno Monday.

Minister Vouches for Marriage Certificate

Fort Worth, Tex.—(UPI)—County Clerk Mel Faulk was dubious but accepted a marriage certificate that the Rev. J. C. Brian brought in Monday.

The Rev. Mr. Brian told Faulk he was ordained by a Baptist church and he married Forest Pinkerton, 19, and Betty Ann George, 18, Saturday.

"I was as nervous as they were because it was my first wedding," the Rev. Mr. Brian said.

The Rev. Mr. Brian is 16.
