

NEAR-LYNCING TOLD BY AIRMAN

Earthquake Rips Alaska Coast

At Least Three Dead; Tidal Waves Nearly Erase Isle

Vessels, Plane Search Bays, Coves

United Press International. At least three persons lost their lives today when a five-hour earthquake ripped the rugged Alaska coastline north-west of Juneau with tidal waves which nearly obliterated a small island.

The three dead were reported to be picking wild strawberries on tiny Khantaak island in Yakutat bay when huge waves rolled over the island, crumpling much of it into the bay. The island was about five miles long.

Reports of the deaths came from Bob Welsh of Bellingham, Wash., who was in Yakutat, about 300 miles north-west of Juneau, for the salmon fishing season. Welsh telephoned Bellingham to report the death of his mother, Mrs. Jean Welsh Walton, and a man and his wife identified only as "Mr. and Mrs. Tibble," government employees living at Yakutat.

Two Coast Guard vessels and a Coast Guard amphibious search plane were searching the bays and coves between Lituya bay, about 150 miles west of Juneau, and Yakutat for a missing fishing boat, the Sumner. Coast Guard headquarters at Juneau reported two persons were rescued when a small fishing boat, the Badger, was swamped and sank in Lituya bay.

Mrs. Dean Goodwin, wife of the bush pilot who flew the two survivors to Juneau, identified them as Mr. and Mrs. William Swanson "from somewhere in the Seattle-Tacoma area." Mrs. Swanson was reported to be suffering from chest injuries and her husband was less seriously injured.

The Coast Guard found a swamped cabin cruiser near Yakutat bay and was checking out a report that four persons were aboard the small pleasure boat.

Frank Neumann, University of Washington seismologist, said the tremor was the strongest quake recorded at his station since the shock which caused a tidal wave in the Aleutian islands March 9, 1957.

This was a terrific earthquake," Neumann said, "It lasted for five hours and was so strong that it knocked out some of our equipment. The first shock was recorded at 10:19:14 p.m. PST July 9."

He said the center of the quake was in the Yakutat area.

The shock sent residents of the Hawaiian Islands scurrying from their homes in a tidal wave alert which later was called off when it became evident the force had dissipated itself in Alaskan waters.

Lebanon, Ore. — (UPI) — Leonard Gilliland, 27, missing from his Scio home since Tuesday, walked into a farmhouse near his home today.

Named on the picnic committee were Mrs. Christian, general chairman; Deatherage, park arrangements; Mrs. Straus, foods chairman assisted by Mrs. Roy Johnston, Jesse Wagner, Mrs. Scott Hamilton, Mrs. Robert Duncan, Mrs. Marcus Norton, Mrs. Ray Schumacher, Mrs. W. G. Werner, Mrs. Neva Clarke, Ray Schumacher, entertainment chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sheehan, registration, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Madden; Clyde Fichtner, prize chairman, assisted by Wermark, Mrs. Richard Kane, George Deckelmann and L. B. Nordwick; Gordon Hudson, Christian and William A. Fronhmayer, tables; Scott Hamilton and Gerald J. Scannell, co-chairmen of games; Tom Reeder, Karl Janouch and Marcus Norton, co-chairman of cleanup, and Mrs. George Rode and Mrs. Edward C. Kelly, publicity.

Two brush fires were mopped up by state department of forestry personnel yesterday.

Five fire fighting crewmen brought under control an 80-acre grass and brush fire near Ruch, department officials said. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Another crew was dispatched to a two-acre lightning strike near Brownsboro.

New York — (UPI) — The 94th Grand Lodge convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks ended today.

ODD EGG — It's not the commonest thing in the world to find a turtle nest in one's garden like Medford residents Mr. and Mrs. William Jeffery did Tuesday. Mrs. Turtle did a neat job of digging a hole, plastering it with mud before laying the egg (above) inside. The egg, soft and leathery, is about two inches long. After the mother engineers the nest according to specifications and lays the egg, she never returns during the incubation period, according to Mrs. Jeffery. The Jefferys, whose property lies along Bear creek, take a great deal of interest in the wide variety of birds, muskrats, porcupines, skunks, squirrels — and turtles — that visit their back yard from time to time.

Values on Timber Defended at Hearing

Salent — (UPI) — Lane County Assessor Winfred W. Smith today defended values placed on timber by the State Tax Commission as hearings into timber valuation in Oregon went into their third day here.

Smith accepted valuations placed on timber by the commission and also a 25-year depletion schedule recommended for Lane county timber.

However, the Lane County Board of Equalization, in a split vote, slashed tax commission recommendations an average of 68 per cent. This action was appealed by Assessor Smith.

Voting to sustain the assessor was Equalization Board Chairman Robert Straub, but board members L. H. Williams and Earl L. McNutt voted for the slash.

"The action of the board is unjustifiable," Smith told the State Tax Commission which is sitting as a board of equalization during the hearings.

Smith said that before the reappraisal program sponsored by the tax commission was completed in Lane county recently there were no accurate cruises of timber which could be used for tax purposes. He also said that before reappraisal there were many inaccuracies in cutting reports submitted by some companies.

The assessor said he based his disagreement with the Board of Equalization both on a knowledge of tax commission methods in arriving at the value of timber and his own personal experience in trying to buy timber land for his serviceman son.

He said tax commission values were "conservative" and in some cases amounted to only about half what the timber was actually worth on the market.

Smith favored tax commission procedure in using an average of five or six years to determine the value of timber, even though timber prices this year have fallen off badly.

"If the same number of years is used continuously to obtain an average value, the taxes will average themselves out and timber will be taxed uniformly with other classes of property," Smith told the hearing.

There was no mention of the mouse's fate, or of the landing place of the nose cone.

The mouse and the nose cone were sent into the heavens atop the second stage of a Vanguard rocket which in turn was mounted on the first stage of a Thor intercontinental ballistic missile.

There was no mention of the mouse's fate, or of the landing place of the nose cone.

The mouse and the nose cone were sent into the heavens atop the second stage of a Vanguard rocket which in turn was mounted on the first stage of a Thor intercontinental ballistic missile.

There was no mention of the mouse's fate, or of the landing place of the nose cone.

The mouse and the nose cone were sent into the heavens atop the second stage of a Vanguard rocket which in turn was mounted on the first stage of a Thor intercontinental ballistic missile.

There was no mention of the mouse's fate, or of the landing place of the nose cone.

The mouse and the nose cone were sent into the heavens atop the second stage of a Vanguard rocket which in turn was mounted on the first stage of a Thor intercontinental ballistic missile.

Yugoslav, Poland Policies Blasted At Berlin Meeting

Soviet Gern Backs East German Leader

Berlin — (UPI) — The East German Communists began a week-long congress today marked by the steady rise of iron-fisted Stalinism and bitter blasts against the West and the independent policies of Yugoslavia and Poland.

East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht opened the congress with a two-hour speech in which he attacked Yugoslavia for its "false anti-Marxist" doctrines. He said Yugoslavia "revisionism" was damaging to the international Communist movement and that revisionism led to the Hungarian revolt.

Ulbricht defended Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in a speech released today, placed himself squarely behind East Germany's Stalinist leaders and rebuked "national Communists" who attempted to depose them. He particularly defended Ulbricht.

Only one major satellite Communist leader was reported present at the congress — Hungarian Communist boss Janos Kadar, whose pro-Stalinist policies put him at the head of the government when Soviet troops crushed the 1956 rebellion.

Observers said they saw no particular significance in the absence of Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka since the other Communist satellites represented did not send their top leaders.

Khrushchev spoke Wednesday at Bitterfeld and the Communists released additional parts of his speech today. He called Ulbricht a friend and a true servant of the working class and said Russia would stand behind him and defend East Germany against the West.

Howard Prairie reservoir will be completed by the end of next summer, Callan said. However, it cannot be used for recreation for the next two years. Callan expects heavy useage of Howard Prairie reservoir water while the dam is being raised at Emigrant reservoir.

Heintz construction company, Portland, expects to start work on the dam next week. The dam will be raised 80 feet to a total of 190 feet and will more than double the area of the reservoir.

Budget committee members indicated they considered this a closed issue for the 1958-59 fiscal year budget.

"We spent eight days on this (job reclassification)," Committee Chairman Tom C. Wray said. "If you can get all the help you want at a certain salary why change it?"

Gerald T. Latham, chairman of the governmental operations committee, Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, presented a memorandum of the chamber's conclusions on the new budget.

It commended the budget committee and the county court "in implementing a personnel program to meet economic and social trends in employment." The memorandum also pointed out the civil service report is only a yard stick or tool for establishing an equitable salary schedule in relationship to responsibility and tenure. Productivity and efficiency also should be factors in using the classification and scale formulae for developing economical operation of county government.

The chamber committee suggested that estimates on receipts for the coming year would provide a means of reducing school district levies. An increase of $10 per centus child would reduce school district levies about 2 1/2 mills, it was pointed out. This would mean inclusion of $206,160 in the budget for this item.

However, Karl Janouch, county treasurer, said there is only enough money in the county treasury to tide the county over for the first three months of the new fiscal year in case sources of revenue are slow. He said it is hard to predict what future revenues might be. Next year, various receipts can be allocated to this purpose and the next budget be set up accordingly.

Latham said the committee had conferred with the tax commission, the Oregon tax research bureau, the district attorney and the county assessor. He said it could be done, he added. This is especially true considering the accelerated timber sales in O and C and federal forest lands, Latham commented.

Following a motion by Henry Conger, local farmer, that the budget be passed, C. Wermark, Central Point, protested that nobody had been given a chance to voice any objections. Wray replied he thought people had plenty of time to make their comments since the budget was explained department by department. Conger strongly objected to the petition from the elected county officials as coming from "a pressure group."

A reporter asked White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty if the agreement meant any relaxation of U.S. restrictions on trade with Red China. Hagerty gave a flat "no" answer.

Ottawa — (UPI) — President Eisenhower played golf at the Ottawa Hunt Club today.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

53rd year MEDFORD TRIBUNE Price 10 cents 26 Pages MEDFORD, OREGON, THURSDAY, JULY 10, 1958 No. 95

County Budget of $3 Million Passes After Hearing

Committee Refuses Request Petition

Jackson county will enter negotiations soon to assume administration of the proposed recreation sites in the Talent project, members of the county court announced yesterday afternoon.

The announcement followed meetings with the Ashland park commission and Talent Irrigation district representatives. Both organizations said that due to legal questions they would be unable to assume administration of any of the park sites, County Judge Rodney Keating explained.

The county court expects to sign a contract with the bureau of reclamation and the national park service in the near future. Members of the county court are now awaiting receipt of a sample contract from Neal Butterfield, Portland, chief of Columbia Recreation Survey branch, national park service.

Work will start next spring on the two recreation sites at Howard Prairie reservoir and on one site at Emigrant reservoir, according to James Callan, project engineer for the bureau of reclamation here.

First step will be to draw up of a master plan of the recreation layout. This will cover the access roads to be constructed in and around the camping areas and minimum facilities such as sewage and water.

Next step will be drafting of specifications by the bureau of reclamation office at Camp White. Then public notice will be given advertising bids.

Howard Prairie reservoir will be completed by the end of next summer, Callan said. However, it cannot be used for recreation for the next two years. Callan expects heavy useage of Howard Prairie reservoir water while the dam is being raised at Emigrant reservoir.

Heintz construction company, Portland, expects to start work on the dam next week. The dam will be raised 80 feet to a total of 190 feet and will more than double the area of the reservoir.

Budget committee members indicated they considered this a closed issue for the 1958-59 fiscal year budget.

"We spent eight days on this (job reclassification)," Committee Chairman Tom C. Wray said. "If you can get all the help you want at a certain salary why change it?"

Gerald T. Latham, chairman of the governmental operations committee, Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, presented a memorandum of the chamber's conclusions on the new budget.

It commended the budget committee and the county court "in implementing a personnel program to meet economic and social trends in employment." The memorandum also pointed out the civil service report is only a yard stick or tool for establishing an equitable salary schedule in relationship to responsibility and tenure. Productivity and efficiency also should be factors in using the classification and scale formulae for developing economical operation of county government.

The chamber committee suggested that estimates on receipts for the coming year would provide a means of reducing school district levies. An increase of $10 per centus child would reduce school district levies about 2 1/2 mills, it was pointed out. This would mean inclusion of $206,160 in the budget for this item.

However, Karl Janouch, county treasurer, said there is only enough money in the county treasury to tide the county over for the first three months of the new fiscal year in case sources of revenue are slow. He said it is hard to predict what future revenues might be. Next year, various receipts can be allocated to this purpose and the next budget be set up accordingly.

Latham said the committee had conferred with the tax commission, the Oregon tax research bureau, the district attorney and the county assessor. He said it could be done, he added. This is especially true considering the accelerated timber sales in O and C and federal forest lands, Latham commented.

Following a motion by Henry Conger, local farmer, that the budget be passed, C. Wermark, Central Point, protested that nobody had been given a chance to voice any objections. Wray replied he thought people had plenty of time to make their comments since the budget was explained department by department. Conger strongly objected to the petition from the elected county officials as coming from "a pressure group."

A reporter asked White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty if the agreement meant any relaxation of U.S. restrictions on trade with Red China. Hagerty gave a flat "no" answer.

Ottawa — (UPI) — President Eisenhower played golf at the Ottawa Hunt Club today.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Ike, Diefenbaker Agree To Establish Joint Committee on Defense

County to Negotiate On Recreation Sites

The Jackson county budget for fiscal year 1958-59 was adopted last night following a public hearing in the county courthouse auditorium.

The new budget totals $3,435,887.09, which is $323,191.37 larger than the budget for fiscal year 1957-58, which was $3,112,695.72.

The county budget committee refused a petition from county department heads to create a budget item to make adjustments in job reclassifications. The item was proposed to handle "adjustments in equity" for employees requesting reclassification and granted by a review board.

Any adjustments made would have been retroactive for the 1958-59 budget.

Budget committee members indicated they considered this a closed issue for the 1958-59 fiscal year budget.

"We spent eight days on this (job reclassification)," Committee Chairman Tom C. Wray said. "If you can get all the help you want at a certain salary why change it?"

Gerald T. Latham, chairman of the governmental operations committee, Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, presented a memorandum of the chamber's conclusions on the new budget.

It commended the budget committee and the county court "in implementing a personnel program to meet economic and social trends in employment." The memorandum also pointed out the civil service report is only a yard stick or tool for establishing an equitable salary schedule in relationship to responsibility and tenure. Productivity and efficiency also should be factors in using the classification and scale formulae for developing economical operation of county government.

The chamber committee suggested that estimates on receipts for the coming year would provide a means of reducing school district levies. An increase of $10 per centus child would reduce school district levies about 2 1/2 mills, it was pointed out. This would mean inclusion of $206,160 in the budget for this item.

However, Karl Janouch, county treasurer, said there is only enough money in the county treasury to tide the county over for the first three months of the new fiscal year in case sources of revenue are slow. He said it is hard to predict what future revenues might be. Next year, various receipts can be allocated to this purpose and the next budget be set up accordingly.

Latham said the committee had conferred with the tax commission, the Oregon tax research bureau, the district attorney and the county assessor. He said it could be done, he added. This is especially true considering the accelerated timber sales in O and C and federal forest lands, Latham commented.

Following a motion by Henry Conger, local farmer, that the budget be passed, C. Wermark, Central Point, protested that nobody had been given a chance to voice any objections. Wray replied he thought people had plenty of time to make their comments since the budget was explained department by department. Conger strongly objected to the petition from the elected county officials as coming from "a pressure group."

A reporter asked White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty if the agreement meant any relaxation of U.S. restrictions on trade with Red China. Hagerty gave a flat "no" answer.

Ottawa — (UPI) — President Eisenhower played golf at the Ottawa Hunt Club today.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Red China Trade, Russian Economic Issues Discussed

Recommendations On Defense Planned

Ottawa — (UPI) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister John Diefenbaker agreed today on establishment of a joint cabinet committee on defense.

It will make recommendations to the President and Prime Minister on joint defense of the North American Continent. It also will supervise the three existing joint military committees which have been in existence for some time.

Members of the new top joint defense committee will be the secretaries of state, defense, and treasury on the American side and the external affairs, finance and defense ministers for Canada.

Meeting Date Undecided. It was not immediately decided when the committee would hold its first meeting or how often it would meet.

Creation of the committee was agreed upon at an 80-minute meeting this morning between Eisenhower and Diefenbaker. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Canadian External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith and staff aides also attended the conference.

At the meeting, there also was further discussion of trade with Red China and ways to meet Russia's growing economic offensive.

An agreement reached on Wednesday between the President and the Prime Minister opened the way for possible limited sale to Red China of goods produced in American-owned plants in Canada.

It provided for full consultation between the two governments on an individual basis when Red China makes a firm offer to make a purchase.

A reporter asked White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty if the agreement meant any relaxation of U.S. restrictions on trade with Red China. Hagerty gave a flat "no" answer.

Ottawa — (UPI) — President Eisenhower played golf at the Ottawa Hunt Club today.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Peasants Spared Life on Learning Of Nationality

Noose Around Neck, Freed Flier Says

Wiesbaden, Germany — (UPI) — One of nine U.S. airmen shot down over Soviet Armenia by Russian jet fighters disclosed today that Armenian peasants almost lynched him but spared his life when they discovered he was an American.

Maj. Bennie A. Shupe told a packed news conference the peasants had a noose around his neck and the other end of the rope tied to a telephone pole when he finally made them understand he was an American.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) agreed with Morse that the need for a timber sales policy protecting small operators was pointed up by hearings held in Oregon and here in recent years by the Senate Interior committee. This new policy was an outgrowth of those hearings.