

Lions Present Park To City of Gold Hill

Gold Hill — The new Gold Hill city park, a Lion's club project, was formally presented to the city at a recent installation and dinner meeting of the Gold Hill Lions club.

Retiring club president Neal P. Smith presented the park to the city through Mayor Ernie Cooper.

Honored guests were Mayor and Mrs. Cooper; Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Jones, city recorder; and H. D. (Bud) Force, Gold Hill postmaster. It was through Force's efforts that the club was able to secure a lease for the park from the Southern Pacific Railroad company.

Other Members

Other members of the club who were active in promoting and developing the park were Smith, Delos Walker, Donald Morrow, and Virgil Gribble.

Club officials said several projects, including erecting a flagpole, construction of gravelled walks, and seeding part of the area, remain to be done.

Also, several other Gold Hill clubs and organizations are reported planning to donate trees and shrubs for the park.

Members of the club expressed their thanks to all persons who helped make the park a reality and club officials singled out the following groups and persons for special recognition for donating time, money, labor and equipment: Ideal Cement company; city of Gold Hill, Ogdan Kellogg, the Boy Scouts, Carl Routh and the Agricultural Line Distributing company; Virgil Gribble, Les Graffis, Jim Estramado, H. S. (Hob) Deuel, and the Boy Nursery.

Help Appreciated

Others whose help was equally appreciated were Vern Salmon and the Timber Products company, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph com-

RAYMOND M. SORENSON
 Employed by Bank

Sorenson Named To Bank Position

Raymond M. Sorenson on Tuesday will become assistant manager of the Medford branch of the U. S. National bank, according to a bank official.

Sorenson was recently general manager of the Oregon Veneer company in Medford. He has had 25 years of banking experience in Minnesota and Oregon.

The new assistant manager has lived in Medford for 11 years. During that time he has been active in civic affairs. He is now director and treasurer of the United Medford Crusade, of the Rogue Valley hospital and the American Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Sorenson and their children, Richard and David, live at 16 North Barneburg rd.

APPOINTMENT

Salem — (UPI) — A Baker woman has been appointed to the state public welfare commission by Gov. Robert D. Holmes. Mrs. Nellie M. Irby replaces Ira D. Staggs, also of Baker. Reappointed to the commission was Mrs. Lee Patterson, Portland.

Resolution on Code of Ethics Passes Senate

Washington — (UPI) — Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) said Saturday a code of ethics spelled out by Congress should be "the beginning and not the finish" of Congressional action to tighten up standards of conduct in office.

The Oregon Democrat, author of a bill to write such a code into a law with "teeth" in it, said the resolution passed by the Senate Friday was "fine as far as it goes."

However, Neuberger told United Press International it should be reinforced by actual legislation, particularly in the line of strengthening conflict-of-interest laws and better regulation of political campaign contributions.

Voice Vote

The Senate late Friday dusted off the old House-approved resolution and passed it by voice vote with no debate, no advance warning and very few members on the floor.

The proposal, originally introduced by Rep. Charles E. Bennett (D-Fla.), was approved by the House last Aug. 28 and had been gathering dust in the Senate Civil Service committee until the recent Sherman Adams-Bernard Goldfine disclosures.

A key point in the Congressional resolution says a federal official or employee should:

"Never discriminate unfairly by the dispensing of special favors or privileges to anyone, whether for remuneration or not; and never accept, for himself or his family, favors or benefits under circumstances which might be construed by reasonable persons as influencing the performance of his governmental duties."

The great natural forces that formed the gigantic Carlsbad Caverns of southern New Mexico began their work some 60 million years ago, according to geologists.

Experiment Contract Extended at SOC

Ashland — The department of Health, Education and Welfare has extended a block-teaching experiment contract with Southern Oregon college for another year, according to Dr. Elmo Stevenson, president of the college.

The government agency has made a $10,290 supplement grant to continue the experiment, stating:

"In a period of rising enrollments, rising costs, and faculty shortages, this research is of special significance, promising as it does material aid in all three of these key areas."

Initial Findings

The project, if further experiment bears out the initial findings, would justify saving the time of one instructor for every 100 students. It consists of correlating various subjects and doubling the size of classes.

Four New Buildings At SOC To Be Ready

Ashland — Four new buildings at Southern Oregon college are scheduled to be in use for the first time this fall.

A science hall and a 144-man dormitory, each said to cost approximately $450,000, are the two most valuable. A commons providing meals for both men and women and a central heating plant are each costing about $250,000.

Dr. Elmo Stevenson, president of the college, recently announced the appropriation of state funds to construct a social science building in the next two years. It is expected to cost $740,000.

Stevenson has predicted that several additional men's and women's dormitories will be built in the next decade, allowing the college enrollment to increase to between 3,500 and 5,000 students. Enrollment for the fall semester this year was estimated at between 1,000 and 1,200.

Man Arrested for Killing Policemen

Baton Rouge, La. — (UPI) — A wounded Negro clutching two pistols, was arrested here Saturday and officers said he confessed killing two police officers at Mandeville, La., a few hours earlier.

The alleged double killer was not identified at once. The gunman, still clutching the two .38-caliber pistols he apparently took from the Mandeville officers he left sprawled in a quiet street in the Lake Pontchartrain resort town, was rushed to the Baton Rouge General hospital.

Officers theorized one of the dying policemen shot the Negro before he died.

The Negro stole a car and abandoned it at Sorrento, La., and apparently caught a bus bound for Baton Rouge. Officers questioned the driver upon arrival here and found a man answering the killer's description had left the bus southeast of her.

Officers converged on the scene and within a few minutes found the Negro fleeing on foot. He offered no resistance and admitted the shooting.

Sheriff's deputies said there was no apparent reason for the killing of patrolmen Gus Gill and Jake Galloway.

Festival Gets Play On Billboards

Ashland — The Ashland Shakespearean Festival is being publicized in several cities throughout the country this summer by the Blitz-Weinhard company, according to W. W. Wessinger, president of the firm.

The promotion is part of a long-range plan to publicize Oregon prior to next year's Centennial.

Space on billboards in Los Angeles, New York, Chicago, and Dallas will carry the dates and location of the Festival, according to the official.
