Swiss Capital City Said Hub of Red Spy Activities

Editor's Note: The following dispatch by Frank H. Bartholomew, president of United Press International, is based on a thorough investigation of Communist espionage activities in Switzerland. On a recent trip to Europe, Bartholomew spent days in Bern, Zurich and Geneva, talking with American diplomats and members of the U.S. counter-espionage services. After returning to this country he wrote the following dispatch and checked it again for factual content with his sources in Switzerland. Some of the statements made in this dispatch were contributed to Bartholomew in writing by his news sources, but because of the secret nature of their work those persons must remain anonymous. The startling fact that emerges is that Bern has become the international spy center for the Communists and that U.S. counter-intelligence agents believe the Iraqi revolt was "born in Bern."

The Iraqi revolt was "born in Bern," Western counter-intelligence agents indicated today.

A sudden increase in the movement of Communist agents by air from Moscow via Prague to Zurich and on to Bern, and of military and political representatives of the United Arab Republic was observed and in some instances secretly recorded in motion pictures made at airports, this correspondent was told.

Bern, because of the neutral position of Switzerland which is free from all blocs either Communist or Western, has been a regular meeting place for the Algerian rebels and their Communist supporters.

Here the Lebanon crisis was hatched, and many of the political action and propaganda plots which are tossed to the states, Indonesia, Red China and the Middle East.

Western intelligence agents have a label for these, "Born in Bern." It is now attached to the Iraqi revolt.

Switzerland has clearly become the Communist spy center for the Arab world as well as all of Europe.

Millions for Spies

Bern, the ancient capital, is again the hub of the wheel as it was in World War II, when Allen W. Dulles, now head of the Central Intelligence Agency in Washington, directed American counter-intelligence from that city.

The Soviet intelligence operations have largely moved from Prague and elsewhere to Bern, this reporter was told by responsible observers.

Left behind in Prague, beyond the reach of alert Swiss police, is the elaborate plant and equipment for manufacturing false passports and credentials.

"Although the total is hard to ascertain, there is reason to believe that the Communists send out an average of $1,000,000 per week from Switzerland to spies, provocateurs and contraband traders for their work in the eastern democracies," Henry J. Taylor, United States ambassador to Switzerland, told United Press International.

Taylor, a trained investigator from years of experience as a hard-headed journalist and foreign affairs expert, says that this is one of the basic reasons that the Western powers regard Switzerland with its 70 foreign missions from the worlds of Communism and democracy as "the No. 1 listening post for Europe and the Middle East."

Zurich, Switzerland's largest city, and Geneva, seat of many international conferences, have become with Bern the physical contact points for Red Agents operating in the Middle East, France, Western Germany, Britain, Spain, Portugal and Italy.

"Their target is the free world, and they load up their ammunition in Zurich, Geneva and Bern," Taylor said.

Here the agents come to make reports and to receive orders for future activities and faked credentials for implementing them.

Transfer of currencies from the issue of one nation to that of another is facilitated, since Switzerland has recognized not only the Western powers and Russia but also the latter's satellites including Red China and Bulgaria. The United States recognizes neither of the latter. Both are heavily represented in Bern.

A second reason the transfer of spy activities was advantageous to the Reds is because of Switzerland's central location as the hub of a complex of modern rail and airlines fanning out in all directions.

Zurich's Kloten airport has one of the heaviest year-round traffic loads in all Europe, with direct daily schedules to Moscow via a change of airlines in Prague.

Careful of Laws

The secondary route for Soviet exchange, equally fast regular, is via the Vienna gateway. No Russian airline or aircraft is permitted to fly into Switzerland itself, where national feeling appears to be solidly anti-Communist.

Switzerland is the apex of the triangle and equally accessible from all parts of the Arab world, which itself spreads over a distance equal to that from Hawaii to Bermuda. Many Arab capitals are closer to Bern than to each other.

"The Communists have operated with a careful eye to the strict Swiss laws against espionage," this reporter was told in Zurich, "even while they secretly abuse the fundamental laws protecting freedom of the individual."

"The gathering place for agents and principals, and the 'cashier's office' for payments is rotated among the various satellite embassies and missions in Bern."

"Important gatherings of Communist agents seldom are held in the large embassy of the U.S.S.R. itself. The Kremlin doesn't want to take a chance on an upset or arrest that will directly reflect on the U.S.S.R."

Big and Costly

"They plant their agents in their international conference delegations under all kinds of covers, palm them off as chauffeurs of the Red ambassador's cars in Bern, which gives them a good run of the country and in other ways rotates their contacts constantly."

This correspondent recalled that in the first atomic bomb testing at Bikini, which was opened to selected professional newspapermen from all nations of the world, the Russian "journalist" by his own admission turned out to be the commanding officer of the Bureau of Docks and Yards for the Red navy.

The Communist intelligence web centering in Bern is an enormous and expensive operation and calls for large-scale measures in counter-espionage by all the Western powers, Ambassador Taylor said.

None of this intensifying activity between the world's major opposing forces is visible to the nation's thousands of seasonal tourists. Yet the cold war is very hot here indeed and much which breaks from the four corners of the world has its real start in Bern.

Trim young Swiss soldiers everywhere — Switzerland's ready army of 604,000 is the largest in Western Europe — create a feeling that the nation's tranquillity and neutrality are not to be lightly challenged. None of the activity of spying and counter-spionage is allowed to touch Switzerland itself.

Growing Problem

Tourists through the lake excursion boats, the buses bound for the chalets at snow-line of the many Alpine peaks, take leisurely tea on the terraces of hotels or stroll the streets of the old cities, unaware of the growing army of secret agents among them.

But to Ambassador Taylor it is a "growing and relentless problem, for the security of the United States is at stake."

In Zurich I asked if the supply of fraudulent passports and documents from Prague was a serious menace to the Western nations. My informants said:

"They worried us for a while. The counterfeits are excellent; often only a laboratory test of the paper itself will show it to be imitation."

"We have evolved counter-measures of our own which are not ineffectual. Frequently, for reasons of our own, we permit known or suspected agents to enter Western nations and even expedite the work they are attempting."

"Often our own men travel with them. And in such counter-spy operations are the unsung heroes of the cold war."

"The Communist spy control has a great deal of ego, and we are not adverse to helping build it up."
