

Business to Increase, Credit Conference Told

Retail sales are on the increase with all signs pointing toward an increase in business volume, according to Vern R. Bacon, manager of the Credit Bureau of Medford, Inc.

Bacon attended the 44th annual International Consumer Credit conference in Los Angeles earlier this week.

He said there was a wave of optimism among the delegates. In a survey taken by John W. Lühring, vice president of the Union Bank, Los Angeles, delegates indicated they expected prices to remain fairly steady and no sharp change was predicted for the best of the year as far as retail inventories are concerned.

Improvement in Volume
"Improvement in the volume of retail sales and consumer credit buying was forecast by nearly 90 per cent of the conference delegates," Lühring said. "They also reported retail trade improved since May 1. Opinions were based on the assumption that no major international development would take place during the balance of the year."

Bacon reported Lühring as saying:

Those participating in the survey were divided as to whether or not the general easing of credit had had a stimulating effect on their sales, he said.

"Western delegates reported materially greater improvement in sales during recent months than did delegates from other parts of the nations. Westerners were likewise more optimistic about the outlook for both retailing

Man Who Helped MacArthur Escape Stricken at Sea

Honolulu —UPI— The man who helped Gen. Douglas MacArthur escape from the Philippines during World War II underwent emergency medical care today on a ship in the Pacific.

Capt. John D. Bulkeley, 47, now skipper of the fleet oiler Tolovana, suffered internal hemorrhages Tuesday while his ship was sailing northwest of Hawaii.

The Tolovana arranged a rendezvous at sea with the military transport Gaffey 467 miles southeast of Midway Island Wednesday morning to place Bulkeley under the care of the Gaffey's doctor.

To Be Transferred
Bulkeley was expected to be transferred to a small boat off the Midway channel marker sometime today for further treatment at Midway.

When World War II started, Bulkeley was in command of Motor Torpedo Boat Squadron 111 in the Philippines. He later wrote a book about his experiences, which he called "They Were Expensible."

It was one of his boats that carried MacArthur from Corregidor to Australia when it became apparent that the Philippines were lost.

Bulkeley received a Congressional Medal of Honor for his exploits during the early days of the war.

Woman Injured In Wilderness As Horse Rears

Denver —UPI— A 38-year-old woman, hand-carried out of rugged Wyoming wilderness after a horse reared and threw her in a painful pack trip accident, was recovering in St. Luke's hospital here today.

Doctors said Mrs. Mary Huffman, Bassett, Neb., suffered a broken hip and shock when she was thrown Tuesday while on a pack trip with her husband and another couple 25 miles southwest of Pinedale, Wyo.

In Good Condition
Hospital attendants said Mrs. Huffman was in "good" condition but that her hip would not be set until she had rested. They said she would be in the hospital about a week or 10 days.

She was brought out of the rough terrain on a stretcher late Wednesday after attempts to rescue her by helicopter failed.

A dozen men started up the mountain from Boulder Lake Ranch just before noon Wednesday and carried her on a litter of heavy canvas and tree limbs to a point three or four miles away, where they were met by a larger rescue party.

The first leg of the trip took five hours.

Three hours later, after Mrs. Huffman was transferred to a metal ambulance stretcher, the party arrived at a road where she was driven to Pinedale Airport and flown to Denver.

District Engineer, Successor Honored

Portland —UPI— Col. Jackson Graham, Portland district Army engineer who is being assigned to the National War College, and his successor, Col. Walter L. Winegar, were honored at a dinner Wednesday night. Col. Winegar formerly was in the office of the deputy chief of staff for military operations in Washington, D.C.

Walking Tourist Arrives in CJ

Cave Junction —John Stahl, a 76-year-old walking tourist, stopped for a two-day rest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jiggs Morris Monday.

Stahl left Sacramento, May 26 and has covered 600 miles on his current walking tour through the northern California counties, cutting from Dorris through Keno and crossing to Happy Camp. When he stopped at the Morris gate Monday evening, he had just come down about 25 miles from the Happy Camp guard station.

Mrs. Morris said she was startled to find an elderly, white haired, white bearded spotlessly clean gentleman at her gate asking for rest. Stahl produced his credentials signed by the Governor of California and an autograph book signed by all who had given him a resting place.

Stahl started his walking tours in 1939 and has covered more than 13,000 miles in this country and in South America. He makes his home with a brother at Redwood

Parade Entries Not Restricted

Cave Junction —Parade entries and concessions for the 21st annual three-day Jubilee celebration is not restricted to the Illinois valley merchants and organizations, according to parade chairman Art Kellert, and Dr. William Stem, concessions chairman.

Dr. Stem reports he has received requests for information from interested parties in Medford. Anyone desiring to participate in the events is to contact either of the men or write one of the local veterans organizations.

Ed Cook of Kerby was appointed chairman of the logging contests which will include bucking, log rolling and tree climbing. Mervyn Hogan is in charge of the tug-of-war to be staged between the loggers and the volunteer firemen.

The contest for Queen of the Jubilee is still open to entries, girls are to register at Hazel's Dress Shop. Karen Berkner, one of the contestants has withdrawn from the race since her family has moved. This leaves only four contestants.

Each Veterans organization has appointed two directors to form the Illinois Valley Jubilee association which will be a permanent board to plan and organize the Jubilee each year. It is the function of this board to elect officers for the association and to appoint all committees.

Too Many Talks Already Scheduled

London —UPI— Diplomatic sources said today a summit conference in New York next Monday appeared impossible. Too many high level diplomatic conferences are already scheduled.

One of the main diplomatic meetings which would make a quick summit meeting impossible was the meeting of the Baghdad Pact prime ministers — minus Iraq — in London Monday through Thursday.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is to arrive in London Sunday for talks with the British leaders and the premiers of Iran, Turkey and Pakistan, the remaining Baghdad Pact members.

NATO's foreign ministers also are expected to meet in Paris next week to align Western policy for the projected summit talks. And Dulles is expected to fly to Bonn sometime during the week for talks with West Germany.

Schrank Comments on City Jail Policy

Portland —UPI— Mayor Terry Schrank had this comment Wednesday on the new policy at the city jail which brought complaints from non-working prisoners because they got only soup for the noon meal: "It should be strictly understood that the city of Portland is not running a country club and . . . prisoners are not running our jails."

FALLEN PREMIER — Ex-Iraqi Premier Fadhil Jamali, who also served as his country's delegate to the UN, is shown under guard in prison at Baghdad. He was believed dead until he was shown on television in a press conference at the prison. Jamali is accused of stealing from the government and helping foreigners to exploit Iraq.
