

DOLLAR A CARLOAD—It's tough these days to get much out of a dollar. However, a group of young people participating in the School District 6-City of Central Point summer recreational program managed to make a greenback go a long way on Wednesday evening. Valley drivers in theater on North Pacific highway advertised admission for $1 per carload. The group of youngsters arrived in a large school bus, paid their $1 and were admitted—all 89 of them for the single buck. Here Recreational Director Don Miller, driver of the bus, hands the money to Theater Manager Roy Carier. The bus was parked and the youngsters piled out with blankets, pillows and stools. They took over the entire front line of speakers at the drive-in. It should be mentioned that the visit had been arranged in advance with the theater.

Medical Officer Is Appointed at CW Domiciliary

Acting Manager Banks I. Paul announced today the appointment of Dr. Arthur S. Anderson as chief medical officer for the Camp White Domiciliary. The appointment becomes effective Aug. 11. Dr. Anderson is a graduate of the University of Kansas medical school, Lawrence, Kan. After graduation in 1931, he served as director of the Indian Service hospital, Lawrence, Kan., until 1933. He was chief of physical medicine and rehabilitation at the VA hospital in Roseburg from 1947 through 1957. At the time of his appointment to the Camp White post, Dr. Anderson was clinical director, Idaho State hospital at Orofino, Idaho.

Served in Wars
Anderson served in World War I in the infantry, field artillery and ammunition trains. During World War II he served with General Stillwell's Y force in the China-Burma-India area, entering active service in 1940. Later, he was chief of rehabilitation at Mitchell Convalescent hospital and Madigan General hospital.

He also commanded the Convalescent hospital at Ft. Lewis, Wash. Dr. Anderson was released to the Medical Corp Reserve in 1947 as a lieutenant colonel. He was awarded a Silver Star for gallantry in action while in Burma. He has one son, who is a pilot in the Navy.

Dr. Anderson is a member of the American Psychiatric association, the American Medical association and the Intermountain Psychiatric association.

He and his wife are expected to arrive at Camp White early in August.

Accident Victim Still Reported Unconscious
Donald Glenn Schrag, 27, of route 4, box 477B, Medford was reported still unconscious this morning by Rogue Valley hospital officials. Schrag, driver of car involved in an accident July 11, is in critical condition.

Four other persons were injured in the two car accident on Culyer rd., a half mile from Phoenix.

Iraq Revolt Declared To Be 25 Years in Planning

Baghdad—UPI—Brig. Abdul Karim Kassem dreamed of revolution for nearly a quarter of a century before triggering the plot that finally overthrew the monarchy in Iraq 11 days ago.

The soldier-premier smiled frequently as he told a news conference Thursday of his long wait to achieve his aims.

Too Many Spies
Kassem said he began preparing in earnest for the revolution three years ago, but too many spies appeared and he considered the "time was not ripe" then.

New Line of Action In Danielson Case Told by Attorney

A new line of attack involving state action to settle the disputed election for district court judge in favor of E. Roy Bashaw, Medford city attorney, was revealed yesterday by Stanley C. Jones. Jones, attorney and former city councilman, said such action would seek to disqualify Robert G. Danielson, Bashaw's opponents, for not being a legal resident of Jackson county at election time. In the May 16 non-partisan primaries, Danielson polled 7,526 votes to Bashaw's 7,273, even though he was then living and working in Klamath county. He has since claimed election.

The state action, according to Jones, could be brought "on the relation of a private party or information of the district attorney." He said Thomas J. Reeder, district attorney of Jackson county, "intends to file a statutory proceeding" to initiate such action.

Definite Action
"We are most likely going to take some definite action," Reeder said. "I feel quite strongly the matter should be cleared up." He described the action outlined by Jones as "rather feasible," but said his decision would not necessarily follow similar lines. He added that his decision could be expected "sometime next week."

"This office," Reeder said, "is working on it."

Special License for School Bus Drivers
Salem—UPI—Every school bus driver in Oregon will be required to have a special school bus driver's license by Nov. 1, the Department of Motor Vehicles said today.

Director James F. Johnson said the stepped-up school bus safety program is a result of the need for stricter regulations.

The program gained impetus when, near the end of the last school year, a school bus driver died of a heart attack and his bus careened off a mountain road shortly after unloading about 50 children.

In addition, prospective school bus drivers must have a valid driver's license and current chauffeur's license.

As for the future, Kassem said, "everything will be done for the benefit of the nation."

He said the provisional constitution for the Iraqi republic proclaimed after the assassination of King Faisal will be announced soon and go into effect after a plebiscite.

Peace-Loving Country
The premier told newsmen that "regarding our foreign relations I believe that everyone knows we are a peace-loving country."

"We are building our foreign relations on the basis of mutual interests with other countries, and we consider ourselves bound by the United Nations Charter," he said.

But, he added, "If it appears Danielson will be the judge, the attorneys of this city will do everything they can to support him."

Governor Forms Nuclear Energy Advisory Group

Peacetime Uses Will Be Studied

Salem—UPI—Gov. Robert D. Holmes has announced formation of a technical advisory committee to assist his office in advancing development of nuclear energy research and industry in Oregon.

"The development of some of the atom's peacetime uses already has been well advanced in our state," the governor said. "However, the atomic age is in its early stages and our state should consciously strive to achieve a place of prominence as rapidly as possible."

The announcement came after an initial conference here with metallurgical experts.

Several Attend
Present at the first conference were Drs. Arthur Scott and Arthur H. Livermore of Reed College, Portland; Dr. Walter P. Dyke of the Linfield research institute in McMinnville; Dr. Earl Hayes, chief metallurgist of the U.S. Bureau of Mines from Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Mark Wright, regional director of the Bureau at Albany; Dr. Stephen Shelton, general engineer of Oregon Metallurgical Company, Albany; Julius Jensen, state director of Planning and Development; Ivan Block, consultant to the governor; and Harry Swanson, executive assistant to the governor.

Block was designated to coordinate the committee.

Preparations Being Made for Couplet
Stop signs will replace traffic signals for various downtown streets intersecting with Main st. during preparations for the Main st.-Eighth st. couplet, according to Vernon Thorpe, city public works director.

Thorpe explained that certain traffic signal heads are being switched from Main st. to Eighth st., and that Main st. traffic light controls between Oakdale and Riverside avenues must be shut down while this is accomplished.

He said a contractor would begin work next Wednesday on the signal at Oakdale ave. and would work east toward Riverside ave. He added that the intersections might be shut down for as long as a week or 10 days during the changeover, but that the stop signs halting side street traffic would provide temporary control.

Neuberger To Urge Hospital at CW
Washington—UPI—Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) said today he would appear Monday before the House Veterans Affairs Committee to urge that a new veterans hospital be established at Camp White, near Medford, Ore.

Rep. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore.) also is scheduled to appear before the committee to support a hospital.

Neuberger said he also would file a protest with the committee on plans to reduce the number of patients accommodated at the veterans hospital near Roseburg, Ore., from 650 to 570. He said 65 eligible applicants are on the waiting list for admission there.

"I regret that the ambassador has been embarrassed with the Swiss government over this incident," Bartholomew said, "but I cannot accept his statement that it is not in accord with the facts."

Last week U.P.I. carried two stories written by Bartholomew which reported that Communist agents used Switzerland as a center for their activities in Europe. Ambassador Taylor was named as the source of some of the information in these dispatches.

Switzerland Envoy Denies UPI Story
New York—UPI—Frank H. Bartholomew, President of United Press International, said today he was "sorry to learn" that Henry J. Taylor, U.S. ambassador to Switzerland, had disavowed information attributed to him about Communist espionage in Switzerland.

Bartholomew said, "I regret that the ambassador has been embarrassed with the Swiss government over this incident," Bartholomew said, "but I cannot accept his statement that it is not in accord with the facts."

School Budget in Evans Valley Is Defeated 3rd Time

Board Says It Will Seek Time Extension

Evans Valley school district voters turned out Thursday to defeat for the third time this year the proposed school budget for district 62.

Nearly two-thirds of the eligible voters in the district voted yesterday, with 119 rejecting the proposed budget, and 87 supporting it. The same proposal was defeated last month by a 76 to 75 vote.

James Martin, chairman of the school board, reported this morning that he plans to ask County Assessor Ray Schumacher for another extension of time so that the proposed budget can be revised and resubmitted to the voters for their approval.

Oregon Law
Oregon law provides that all tax levies be submitted to the assessor's office no later than July 15. However, the assessor has the power to extend the deadline if he feels circumstances warrant this action.

Schumacher had granted one extension to permit yesterday's election. This morning he had no comment on the outcome of the election. "The next move is up to the school board," he reported.

Superintendent of county schools Alf Mervold also declined comment on the situation at this time.

Flag Removed from Courthouse Pole
City firemen attracted a gathering to the county courthouse this morning when they removed a torn flag from the pole on top of the building, using the aerial ladder truck.

The county court requested assistance from Medford firemen after flag was torn and the rope was knocked from its pulley during a violent storm last week.

Fire Chief Gordon Barker and Firemen Bob Coash and Warren Ritchie manned the truck during the operation. Even when the ladder was extended to its full 85 feet, 4 1/4 inches it fell 10 feet short of reaching to the top of the pole.

Rather than have firemen replace the rope, the court decided to have the pole hinged at the base so that in the future it will be possible to service it without assistance from the fire department.

Morse Asks ICC For Oregon Hearing
Washington—UPI—Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to hold hearings in Oregon on a proposal to reduce lumber rail rates from Oregon to California and Arizona.

The ICC announced earlier this week it planned a hearing on the case in San Francisco on August 18.

Morse said hearings also should be held in Oregon to give more persons from that state a chance to be heard. He said an Oregon hearing in the case would not delay proceedings to any appreciable extent.

10-Acre Grass, Brush Fire Extinguished
A 10-acre grass and brush fire at Bridgeview near Cave Junction yesterday afternoon was reported by southwest district office here of the state department of forestry. The fire was under control. Its cause was not immediately determined.

Central Point rural district firemen stated that a boy playing with matches was responsible for a one-acre grass fire about noon yesterday at the end of Gebhard rd. north and east of Central Point.

Rural firemen also extinguished a small grass fire yesterday afternoon one-half mile north of Crater Lake highway Four Corners. Cause was not learned.

New Reduced Rates For Commercial Use Negotiated by Copco

Salem—UPI—Public Utility Commissioner Howard Morgan today announced the filing by the California Oregon Power Company of new reduced rates to small industrial and commercial users.

Morgan said the reduction was the result of studies made by his department. It will affect some 8,500 customers using between 150 and 2,100 kilowatt hours per month.

Commercial power rates of these customers will be reduced by more than $117,000 annually effective Aug. 15.

"The revision is applicable to commercial users such as service stations, stores, industries, offices, mills, motels and similar establishments," Morgan explained.

Governor Orders Forest Restrictions
Salem—UPI—Extreme forest fire danger forced Gov. Robert D. Holmes today to issue proclamations requiring entry permits for the 350,000-acre Tillamook burn as well as a 20-mile wide strip of forest land extending from the Colton area in Clackamas county to the Lane county line.

Next Monday morning, another proclamation will become effective which will apply to a large area of the Coast range in western Douglas and eastern Coos counties extending from the Umpqua river to the vicinity of the Rogue river.

Permit requirements apply to all individuals who intend to travel over other than the regular public roads, the governor said.

Marines May Soon Leave Lebanon
Washington—UPI—James J. Wadsworth, deputy U.S. representative to the United Nations, predicted today that U.S. troops in Lebanon may be withdrawn "quite soon."

Moreover, Wadsworth said, he believes that when the troops depart "the aftermath will be better than the present taste because we will have proved that we are people of our word."

Wadsworth made the observations during a House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee hearing on a resolution expressing the sense of Congress that a permanent U.N. police force should be established.

Troubleshooter Carrying Out Negotiations

Popular Figure For President Eyed

Beirut, Lebanon—UPI—The bloodiest fighting since a U.S. Marine peace force landed here nearly two weeks ago erupted tonight between opposition and government forces.

Beirut, Lebanon—UPI—Rebel snipers opened heavy fire in Beirut Thursday night but no major incident followed and there were growing indications Lebanon might solve its own crisis without further bloodshed.

State Department trouble shooter Robert Murphy was carrying out a non-stop program of negotiations in hopes the government supporters and the rebels who want to oust President Camille Chamoun could find a presidential candidate they both could support.

Popular Figure Expected
Observers believed the two sides eventually would settle on a leading and popular military figure before the 66-man Parliament meets next Thursday to elect the successor to Chamoun. Gen. Fuad Ohehab, chief of staff of the army, has been mentioned as a popular choice by both sides although he has not mixed in politics.

Murphy conferred Thursday with Chamoun, the first time he has seen him since he opened talks with the rebel leaders early this week. The firing was heard near the presidential palace soon after Murphy left the area Thursday night.

To Avoid Incidents
The rebel opposition's responsible leaders actually have ordered the rebel marksmen to avoid incidents, but the question was how long their men would remain under control. Murphy himself was racing against time, hoping to mediate the dispute before a new shooting war breaks out.

While Murphy went from one side to the other, there were intense behind the scenes electioneering by members of the Lebanese Parliament. The opposition was boosting Beshara El Khoury for president—a man totally unacceptable to the government.

The Chamoun supporters are backing Deputy Salim Lahoud but Lahoud is unpopular with the opposition. Other possibilities were former President Alfred Naccache, scholar-lawyer Joseph Hitti and neutralist newspaper editor Charles Helou.

Salem—UPI—Two persons were injured here today in a two-car accident.

Eisenhower Withdraws Flanagan's Nomination
Washington—UPI—President Eisenhower today withdrew the controversial nomination of Bernard L. Flanagan, St. Albans, Vt., to be a member of the Civil Service Commission.

The President acted at Flanagan's request.

The withdrawal came after Flanagan, a Republican and former Capitol Hill policeman, had come under heavy Democratic fire at public hearings for inaccuracies in his civil service application blanks for past jobs.

In a letter to the President requesting that the nomination be withdrawn, Flanagan said he thought "far too much" of the administration

Soviet Plan for Lebanon, Jordan Limit Rejected

Up To UN To State Conditions

Washington—UPI—President Eisenhower made it plain to the Soviet Union today that if a summit meeting is held this country will examine the Soviet role in fomenting strife in the Middle East.

In a letter to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, Eisenhower rejected his earlier proposal to limit the summit meeting to U.S. and British troop action in Lebanon and Jordan.

The President also told Khrushchev it would be up to the U.N. Security Council to say who may participate in the proposed conference and when and under what conditions it should be held.

Would Participate
The permanent members of the Security Council who would make such decisions are Britain, Nationalist China, France, Russia and the United States.

Eisenhower recalled he had told Khrushchev July 22 this country would participate in a summit conference at the U.N. in New York "if such a meeting were generally desired." Khrushchev replied that he would like to start the meeting next Monday, with India and the Arab states participating.

Monday Too Early
Today the President told Khrushchev "It is . . . not yet certain that such a meeting is in fact 'generally desired,' although that may prove to be the case."

The President suggested that the Security Council itself canvass its members and find out whether "a meeting of the kind and under the conditions I suggest is generally acceptable."

"If so," the President said, "they should also agree upon a date which would be generally satisfactory."

The Monday date proposed by Khrushchev, he said, "would be too early for us."

Refuses Limitation
The President sharply refused to limit any summit meeting to consideration of Lebanon and Jordan.

Without actually accusing Russia of stirring up the strife which long has plagued the Middle East, he recalled a 1950 resolution of the U.N. General Assembly.

The resolution, the President said, condemns the "fomenting of civil strife in the interest of a foreign power" as one of "the gravest of all crimes."

The President has said the troubles in the Middle East were the result of "indirect aggression." In today's note he said:

"I would . . . be lacking in candor if I did not make clear that to put peace and security on a more stable basis in the Middle East requires far more than merely a consideration of Lebanon and Jordan."

Isolated Manifestations
"These situations are but isolated manifestations of far broader problems."

"In my opinion the instability of peace and security is in large measure due to the jeopardy in which small nations are placed."

"It would be the purpose of the United States to deal with the specific incidents you raise within that broad context. To do otherwise would be to blind to the teaching of history."

Too Allow Myself to Be Used for Its Political Harassment
He conceded that he "made some mistakes in filling out" the job applications. But he said they "were entirely immaterial to the jobs held."

Intern Appointment
"But they have been seized upon and magnified out of all proportion to the question of my ability and fitness to be a civil service commissioner," Flanagan said.

Eisenhower advised Flanagan in a terse three-sentence letter that the nomination was being withdrawn.

The White House did not immediately nominate a successor to Flanagan on the three-man commission.
