Two Accidents in Siskiyou Result In Two Injuries

Two persons were injured in two automobile accidents on the South Pacific highway yesterday, state police reported.

Slightly injured were Claire Marjorie Ladd, 49, of Hornbrook, Calif., and William Clifton Qualls, Tucson, Ariz. Claire Ladd was treated at Ashland General hospital and released and Qualls received a cut lip and stiff neck, police said.

The Ladd car was involved in an accident occurring near a railroad overpass in the Siskiyou. State police said she lost control of her car as it was rounding a curve, crossed the other traffic lane and struck the right front fender of a truck driven by David Melvyn Van Dusen, 41, of Soquel, Calif.

Extensive Damage
Extensive damage resulted to the Ladd car and the right front fender of the truck, police said. Claire Ladd was cited for failure to operate on the right side of the highway.

A second accident occurred on the South Pacific highway about 9:25 p.m. in front of Daily's motel in which Qualls was injured, state police said.

A car driven by Timann Grace Owen, 50, of Greenville, Calif., stopped on the highway to avoid hitting a dog. A car driven by Qualls stopped behind the first car, and a car driven by Lola Sarah Arney, 48, of San Mateo, Calif., failed to stop and struck the rear end of the Qualls car and forcing it into the rear of the Owen car. Officers said minor damage resulted to the Owen car, but extensive damage to both the Qualls' car and the Arney car. Lola Arney was cited for violation of the basic rule, police said.
