Colored Slides To Show Festival

Ashland—A history of the Ashland festival in colored slides will be given by Edmund Chavez as this Thursday's Gresham lecture scheduled for the Ashland library at 4 p.m., it was announced.

Chavez is master carpenter, director of swordplay and heraldic advisor for the festival.

Third in a series of Trinity Noons at Trinity Hall in Ashland today noon was a reading from the play "The Jew of Malta." The play was read by Robert Loper, director of "Much Ado About Nothing" and "King Lear."

The plays of the Shakespearean festival enter their fifth round with tonight's performance of "Much Ado About Nothing."

Portland E-R Group Postpones Bid Call

Portland—The Portland Exposition-Recreation commission announced Tuesday the construction strike-lockout has resulted in a postponement of call for bids to build the city's exposition-recreation center.

The commission voted to delay the bid call until Sept. 2 on recommendations of the project's architects, Skidmore, Owings and Merrill. The firm said so far completion of the center probably will not be delayed by the dispute.

Family Camping Planned by YMCA

A week end of family camping at Diamond Lake is planned by the Medford Young Men's Christian Association, according to Herb Partridge, youth director.

August 30 through Sept. 1 have been set aside at the YMCA camp for families, Partridge said. Charges will cover the wholesale cost of housing and meals, he added.

Activities will include boating, canoeing, sailing, swimming, hiking, campfires, mountain climbing, games and archery. Families may choose the activities in which they prefer to participate, Partridge said. Program directors will provide activities and supervision for youngsters. The YMCA tents and all other facilities will be made available.

This will be the last camping period at Diamond Lake this season, the youth director said.

Families do not have to be YMCA members. They may register at the YMCA, 522 West Sixth st., Medford, or may call SPing 2-6295.

Organ Builder Can't Play a Note

Gloucester, Mass.—(UPI)—Tolbert F. Cheek, 70, is a man well-regarded in his business, which is organs and pianos.

Since 1905, he's been building, designing and repairing some of the finest musical instruments in the Northeast and it's no fly-by-night job.

For instance, it took Cheek six years to construct the $300,000 organ at Gloucester's Trinity Congregational Church. When he finished, officials decided to grant him the honor of playing the first note. Cheek declined.

It seems that during his 53 years in the business, he's never learned to play a note on either organ or piano.

CENTRAL POINT Gilman Wins FFA Contest

By DORIS HUGHES
Central Point — George Gilman, 1958 graduate of Crater High school, won the District Future Farmers of America Better Farming contest held in Rogue valley recently.

Gilman has a project dairy animals valued at $20,000. He was a member of the Crater Chapter parliamentary team and treasurer of the Chapter for 1957-58.

During the 1957-58 term he was president of the Rogue Umpqua district. There were 11 boys in the contest — one boy from each school in the district. Gilman was selected because of his outstanding record in leadership. He plans to enter Oregon State college this fall to study animal husbandry. After graduating he plans to return to the dairy.

Winning second place in the contest was Bill Ross of Marshfield, who also entered with dairy animals, and Art Gardener of Eagle Point won third prize with his beef project. There was a $25 prize and other gifts for the first place winner.

Judges for the contest were Ed Griggs, district advisor; Ralph Morgan, State advisor and Allan Barnes, District president.

Gordon Gabraith, senior at Oregon State college, will teach Vocational Agriculture under the supervision of Ed Griggs and Bill McFarlane at Crater High school this term. Gabraith is a former resident of Madras, Ore. Mr. and Mrs. Gabraith are visiting in Central Point, making plans for the winter.

Don Denning, Crater Chapter reporter announced that the Crater FFA will present a television show Friday, Aug. 15, at 5:30 p.m. over KBES. The purpose of the show is to inform the public of the vocational agriculture courses in FFA work.

The Crater Grandmother's club will meet Aug. 18, at the home of Mrs. Marrea Gebhard. This will be a birthday party honoring those having birthdays in August.

The Royal Neighbors met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Adina Benson. There were 10 members and two visitors at the meeting.

A one o'clock dessert luncheon was served by the hostess and plans were made by the group to attend the Royal Neighbors picnic to be held Aug. 13 at the city park in Grants Pass.

Each guest was asked to take something for the picnic and personal table service. The next meeting will be Sept. 2 at the home of Mrs. Robert Hague.

Mrs. Wayne White of Central Point returned home on Friday, Aug. 8, from Dalton, Neb., where she was called by the sudden illness and death of her father, Henry Henke.

Guests, recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Stephenson were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Caylor and Stanley and Sandra of Fresno, Calif. The Stephenson's son, Billy, accompanied the Caylor's, who were going on to visit in Salem and Oceanside then to Idaho before returning.

Mrs. Oscar Minnick gave a party Friday afternoon in honor of her niece, Miss Coral Hale, on her eighth birthday. Guests were Doris, Bobby, Buddy Caldwell and Mrs. Vernon Caldwell of Gold Hill and from Central Point were Joan Branden, Pat Hughes, Mrs. Harold R. Hughes, Dick Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Minnick and the honored guest, Coral Hale.

Miss Joyce Cook returned home recently from a five week's vacation in the San Francisco area.

Mrs. Richard Wyatt gave a lawn supper Sunday night in honor of her husband's birthday. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Schafter and children, Donna, Dixie and Keith of Medford, and Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt and three children.

Visiting this week at the home of Mrs. Millie Johnson of Snowy Butte rd. were Mr. Mollie Phillips of Seattle and Mrs. Herb Combs and daughters of Talent. Mrs. Phillips is Mrs. Johnson's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Conklin and children of Alameda, Calif., visited a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cook. The Conklins were en route to Massachusetts, where they plan to make their home.

A guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Minnick of Central Point is Mrs. Will Erwin of Thousand Oaks, Calif. Mrs. Minnick entertained on Friday night, in honor of her guest who is a former resident, by having over for the evening Mrs. Erwin's former neighbors, Mrs. Madeline Muller and Mrs. Ingrid Kurz.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Linker and young son of 333 North Holly st., Medford, returned to their home Sunday after spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Linker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Britton.

Registration Set For Jacksonville

Registration of all pupils of the Jacksonville schools will be held Friday, Sept. 5, according to Supt. John J. Crabb.

Buses will run the same time as last year, he added. School will be dismissed at 2 p.m. The cafeteria will serve lunches both for the grade school and high school pupils, Crabb said.

Pupils entering the first grade must bring birth certificates and health certificates if they did not attend the pre-school clinic, the superintendent said.

Entering first graders must be six years old by Nov. 15. Those pupils whose sixth birthday falls between Nov. 15 and Jan. 1 are required to take an entrance test. Appointment should be made with Francis Guidry, TWin-oaks 9-1198 or TWin-oaks 9-1361.

California Man to Get Citizenship

Glendora, Calif.—(UPI)—Leslie Colin Jabara was well on his way to undisputed U.S. citizenship today more than 180 years after his great, great grandfather signed the Declaration of Independence.

The U.S. Senate passed a bill Tuesday making the 30-year-old "man without a country" a citizen. The measure now awaits the President's signature.

For Jabara, passage of the bill, sponsored by Rep. Pat Hillings R-Calif., meant victory after a struggle of more than 10 years to gain American citizenship.

Immigration officials ordered Jabara's deportation last April 28 on a ruling that he was ineligible for U.S. citizenship because he came to this country on a visitor's visa from Australia.

Jabara insisted he came to the U.S. on the visa to wage his fight for citizenship in person. He appealed the decision and won a stay of the deportation order, pending action by Congress.

During his fight, Jabara insisted his father, Leslie M. Jabara, was born in Oklahoma Territory and that an ancestor, Richard Stockton of New Jersey signed the Declaration of Independence.

He now lives in Southern California with his wife, Beverly, 28, daughter, Lauren, 5, and son, Leslie, 2.

Meatcutters Receive Increase in Wages

Portland—(UPI)—The Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butchers union, local 656 here, said Tuesday that butchers in four packing plants in Oregon have received a 7 1/2-cent hourly wage increase in a Settlement made for workers in Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

The increase will be effective Sept. 1, the union said. The boost will go to workers at both the Swift and Armour companies in Portland, the Valley Pack in Salem and the Nebergaul company in Albany.

Patrice Munsel's Son Said Doing Well

Palma de Mallorca, Spain—(UPI)—The tiny prematurely born son of American opera star Patrice Munsel was reported "doing well" at the Maternity hospital here today.

The three-pound baby boy had gained about 18 ounces since his birth 23 days ago to Miss Munsel and her husband, American theatrical producer Robert Schuler.

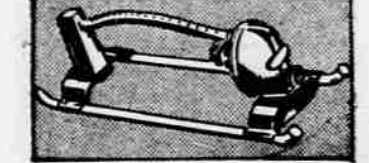

Lisieux, France—(UPI)—Officials said today Mrs. Marie Langlois, who died Tuesday at the age of 107, may have set a longevity record for modern-day France.
