

Congress Acting Like Reformed Housewife Set on Cleaning Up

Washington (CQ)—Congress these last few days before adjournment is acting like a reformed housewife bent on cleaning our Fibber McGee's closet.

Inside the Congressional closet are a mess of bills on everything from paint roller handles to dogfish sharks. One bill pertains exclusively to a literary club and another just to the Papago Indians.

Many of these bills have been lying around gathering dust since the 85th Congress reported for work Jan. 3, 1957. They were stowed away to make room for more important bills—like the ones on social security, civil rights, foreign aid and reciprocal trade.

Altogether, the 85th Congress has set a record in introducing more than 20,000 bills and resolutions during its 1957 and 1958 sessions. Less than 1,200 of these have become law.

Introduced Again
Any bill not voted on between now and adjournment time dies. It must be introduced all over again in 1959, referred to a committee and then await its turn to undergo hearings and finally a vote. Hence the feverish activity to clean out the Congressional closet.

These so-called minor bills are, of course, major ones to the people concerned. Take that one on the paint roller handles. It even covers Communism. The Senate Finance committee says there is no reason for import duties on paint brush handles and not on paint roller handles. So its bill would put the same duty on both types of handles—and the duty would be higher if the handles came from Communist countries. The bill naturally has the paint brush industry bristling with interest.

And as for the dogfish sharks, that bill's progress is being followed by the West Coast salmon and halibut industry with the intensity of a cat watching a goldfish.

Seems the dogfish sharks are eating up the salmon and halibut. So the bill says "the Secretary of the Interior shall pay a bounty of $10 a ton for unrivered dogfish sharks or ten cents a pound for dogfish shark livers."

Two Killed in Galice Accident

Grants Pass, Ore. — (UPI)—San Francisco businessman Irving Ernest Kesterson, 65, and an employee, Lydia Albrecht Briggs, were killed when their car careened down a 200-foot embankment and crashed on the bank of the Rogue river Wednesday.

Kesterson's grand daughter, Joanne Patricia Kesterson, 14, a passenger in the auto, was reported today in good condition in Josephine General hospital here. She was thrown clear from the car as it fell.

A member of the rescue party, Alvin Sphanle, Grants Pass, was injured when he fell down the craggy bluff, but he was also listed in good condition. The exact nature of injuries to Miss Kesterson and Sphanle was not revealed.

Kesterson, his wife and granddaughter were vacationing at his summer home near Galice, Ore., about 15 miles northwest of here. He, Joanne, and Mrs. Briggs, wife of the caretaker of the summer home, were returning from an outing on the river. State police speculated that Kesterson probably fell asleep at the wheel.

The accident occurred less than a quarter mile from the summer home.

Property Tax for Debt Unnecessary

Salem — (UPI)—Estimated revenues and surplus funds on hand will make the levy of a state property tax for debt service unnecessary, Carl W. Chambers, State Tax Commission chairman, announced today.

The special session of the State Legislature last October eliminated all state property tax obligations except for bonded indebtedness.

Tax revenues for the fiscal year 1958-59 are estimated by the Commission to be down nearly 16 million dollars from 1957-58. Chambers said receipts from personal and corporation income taxes were slightly over 105 million dollars for the past fiscal year, but were expected to drop to approximately $88,700,000 during the current year.

Eagle Point Schools To Open Sept. 12

Eagle Point—Glenn Hale, superintendent of Eagle Point schools, announced Friday that school opening in district 9 has been postponed from Sept. 8 to Sept. 12.

The postponement was made so students may continue work in the fruit harvest, which is expected to be mostly completed by that time. Several students from schools in the district annually work in the harvest.

The change will be for Eagle Point grade and high school, Elk-Trail and Shady Cove.

She should make it clear, without seeming to patronize him, that she respects her father for this and she is perfectly content to have them give him work or not, as they choose—no favors asked.
