

Beavers Whip Mounties 7-5; Padres Win, 8-5

Portland —UPI— The Portland Beavers homered twice and fashioned a flurry of singles into a 7-5 Pacific Coast league baseball victory over the Vancouver Mounties here in Multnomah stadium Saturday.

Frank Kellert homered in the second inning for the Beavers but it was a six-run spurge in the fourth that gave them the win.

George Freese hit a home run to open the frame. The other runs were scored in a barrage that included singles by Kellert, Ed Winceniak and Nini Tornay, a sacrifice fly by Jack Littrell and a double by Bob Dipietro.

Relieves Judson Ed Mayer, who relieved Howie Judson in the second inning, was credited with the victory, his second against five losses. Vancouver starter Mel Heid was the loser. He has a 7-7 record now.

The Mounties started off with a bang in the third inning picking up three runs and an early lead on doubles by Joe Durham, Tom Patton and Buddy Peterson. Patton homered in the fourth to give the Mounties a 4-1 edge erased by the Portland rally later in the inning.

The Vancouver scoring was capped with one run in the ninth when Peterson singled to send Owen Friend home.

Grand-Slam Homer San Diego —UPI— A grand-slam home run by Dave Pope in the first inning helped San Diego trim Spokane, 8-5, Saturday for the Padres' seventh straight Pacific Coast league win.

The Padres scored six runs in the first inning, enough for the decision. Bill Glynn's single scored Hal Haragon with the fifth run and another single by Dick Smith brought home Carroll Hardy with the final tally of the inning.

Bob Alexander won his ninth game against four losses for San Diego, although he got help from Dick Brodowski in the eighth.

Spokane made the score 6-3 in the third when Jim Gentile and veteran Jim Baxes clubbed successive homers, but San Diego added single to insure victory. Rod Graber helped the Padre cause with his ninth homer in the fourth.

Dr. Buck Entered Dr. Robert Buck, Medford, men's 1957 medalist, has signed for the 1958 event. He had a 66 on the RVCC layout recently. Among other contenders from Rogue Valley will be Bill Catey, club senior title for the past two years, and Jim Sheldon, men's division player, who was laid up this spring for a time because of auto accident injuries. Sheldon had a back nine 32, three under par, despite a bogey, in a tour of the course last week.

Eddie Simmons, Medford, six times men's champ in the SO, reportedly has not recovered sufficiently from back surgery, to play in the tournament. He will head the starting committee for the meet.

Men and women of RVCC are to qualify from Aug. 23 through 26. Senior rounds are set for Aug. 26 and out-of-town men and women have their qualification play on Aug. 27. Matches open on Thursday, Aug. 28, with finals on the following Monday.

TURF EXPERT DUE Bill Benneyfield, San Francisco, turf expert for the United States Golf association, will arrive here Monday on one of his semi-annual visits and will make recommendations on means to keep the RVCC greens and fairways in the best possible shape for the big holiday week end tourney.

Hot, humid weather this summer has allowed disease to make headway in grasses of Northwest courses but Rogue Valley has suffered less than the majority of the links. A regular greens at the Medford layout are in play and except for a few spotty conditions are considered to be in excellent shape.

Bob Hulen and Hal Laman, golf writers for the Portland Oregonian and the Oregon Journal, have agreed to officiate for the Southern Oregon qualifying part of the National Amateur rounds in Portland.

Complete field in the 1958 tourney could come close to last year's record total of 325.

With the top team finishers already determined the individual races for batting and pitching honors will highlight action today as Rogue Valley league baseball nines have their final scraps of the regular schedule.

UO Tutors Map Defenses Against Potent Elevens

University of Oregon, Eugene —UPI— Oregon's football coaching staff returns home from a series of clinics and all-star games Monday and begins work on final planning for the rugged 10-game schedule ahead this fall.

One of the major features in the Webfoot plans for their defense of the Pacific Coast conference championship will be designing means of stopping some of the more potent offensive teams in the country.

Oregon has been noted for its defense in the last five years, having compiled the best record in the conference, and the Webfoots will have their work cut out for them against such teams as Oklahoma, Miami, Washington State, Oregon State and Stanford.

Oklahoma, always a national power, ranked fifth nationally in rushing last year while Miami was 10th. In passing Washington State was second in the nation and the ace Cougar quarterback, Bob Newman, not only was the leading total offense leader, but also ranked second in individual passing. The Indians and the Beavers ranked one-two in the conference in offense and are rated serious threats again this fall.

In the last five years Oregon has been first in total defense twice, second another two years and slipped to fourth only once. The UCLA Bruins are the closest challengers to the Webfoots, having wound up first twice, and second, third and fourth one years each in the last five.

The Webfoot pass defense has been particularly tough, with the Oregon totals being best in the league three of the seasons since 1952 and this will be particularly important against the Cougars and the Indians.

The importance of the defense to the Webfoot success last fall was typified by the fact that only two teams, WSC and Stanford, scored more than two touchdowns in the 11 games played. It was much the same in 1956, too, as the opposition averaged only 10.2 points per game.

Dodgers Eye Fourth Spot In League

Los Angeles —UPI— The partially-crippled Los Angeles Dodgers, out of the second division for the first time since April hope to take over undisputed possession of fourth place in a doubleheader with the St. Louis Cards today.

The Dodgers earned a tie for fourth Friday night with a twin-killing over the same Cards — 4-3 in 11 innings and 5-3.

Los Angeles, with four straight home wins, sends Sandy Koufax (9-5) and Danny McDevitt (1-5) or Fred Kipp (5-4) against Nelson Chittum (0-0) and Sam Jones (10-8) of the Cards.

It will be the final appearance of the year for the Cards in the Coliseum.

A crowd of 27,738 saw the Friday twin-tie, in which Carl Furillo suffered a pulled leg muscle, but not before he contributed a two-run homer in the first game. Elmer Valo won that one with a pinchhit single in the 11th.

Don Zimmer also is sidelined with rib and knee injuries, so Manager Walt Alston has reshuffled his infield, sending Charlie Neal to short, and Jim Gilliam to second, with Norm Larker at first base and Gil Hodges — another home run hitter Friday — to third.

Cancer Teaching Gains Recognition

Portland —UPI— The University of Oregon Medical school announced here yesterday that a teaching program it inaugurated 12 years ago has been granted certification by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists and the College of American Pathologists.

The program for the training of cytotechnologists deals with the science of exfoliative cytology, the study of cells sloughed off by the human body.

Pathologists claim the technique could result in the elimination of cervical cancer as a major disease. There has been a critical shortage of technicians in the specialty.

Youth Arrested for Ordering Syrup

Portland —UPI— A 19-year-old youth was arrested here Thursday for representing himself as a doctor and ordering a cough syrup containing a barbiturate.

Barry Lee Barnum of Portland was held on $1000 bail pending hearing for violation of the state uniform narcotics act.

Police said Barnum called a drugstore and ordered the cough medicine in a doctor's name. The druggist checked back with the name given him and then called agents of the state board of Pharmacy and police.

Secretary of the Oregon Board of Pharmacy said the youth's actions were indicative of a teen-age fad of drinking the cough medicine for a narcotics "kick" similar to that derived from stronger drugs like heroin and opium.

UCLA Grid Responsibility May Be Placed in Hands Of Sanders' Assistants

Los Angeles —UPI— UCLA officials showed supreme confidence today in Henry (Red) Sanders' ability as an organizer as well as a coach when they put the responsibility for one of the nation's major football teams in the hands of his assistants for 1958.

Sanders, 53, a master of the single wing, died of a heart attack in a Los Angeles hotel room Thursday. An autopsy showed he had an enlarged, "athlete's" heart and that the immediate cause of death was a small hemorrhage in a diseased segment of a coronary artery.

Services Monday Sanders' body lay in state today with funeral services here on Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. His body will be returned to Nashville, Tenn., for services and burial Tuesday.

UCLA Athletic Director Wilbur Johns said in Chicago that he would recommend the present coaching staff direct the Bruins this season, without hiring a new head coach to succeed Sanders.

Johns said one of the things that made Sanders a great coach was "his ability to gather capable assistants on his staff and his development of a spirit of loyalty and working unity among the staff working for the best interests of the individual team members." Since George Dickerson is senior assistant, it is presumed that he will assume the leadership of the well-organized staff which Sanders had used to build one of the nation's finest football teams.

Inside Track If successful, Dickerson would have the inside track when a new head coach is chosen for 1959, sources close to the scene here said.

Sanders' UCLA teams won 66, lost 19 and tied one over nine years.

Active pallbearers for the services here Monday will be members of his staff—Dickerson, William Barnes, John Johnson, Herbert B. Brackett, Sam Boghosian and Robert Bergdahl. Honorary bearers will include Tom Prothro, Oregon State coach; Jim Myers, head coach at Texas A & M, and Ray Nagel, new Utah head coach. All formerly were Sanders' assistants.

268 Entries on File To Date for Annual SO Golf Tournament

Playing field for the 30th annual Southern Oregon Golf championships may approximate 300, it was indicated yesterday.

Rogue Valley Country club management and tournament officials reported that 268 entries already were on file. Entry deadline is still four days away—Aug. 21. Tabulation Saturday showed 170 registered in the men's division, 43 in the senior men's and 55 in the women's. About one-third of the entries are from the home links.

The tourney is scheduled Aug. 27 through Sept. 1, Labor day, at the Medford links. A popular holiday week end event, the Southern Oregon has become one of the biggest golf competitions annually in the Pacific Northwest.

Two Defenders Championships this year will be defended in at least two divisions. Two 1957 runners-up are due back and at least one medalist from last year's competition is scheduled to participate. Two former ladies' titlists and one past men's victor are in the field and it is hoped that at least one other ex-champion will be among those contending for men's division laurels.

Entries are in for Phil Getchell, Medford, reigning men's champion, and Lynn Cresson, Harrisburg, Pa., runner up in the past two tournaments. Registrations are on file for Marvin Clark, Grants Pass, 1957 senior champ, and his final foe, Dr. Robert Fox, Portland.

Neuberger Urges Siskiyou Log Sales

Washington —UPI— Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) announced yesterday that he has urged the regional federal forester in Oregon to develop an emergency sales program for the Siskiyou National forest to meet previously announced timber sale goals.

The Senator said the recommendation came as a result of a conference with a delegation of southern Oregon lumbermen and officials of the Western Forest Industries association.

He said some southern Oregon lumber operations face closure this winter due to a lack of logs and have suggested a series of sales in the category of five million board feet or less on an emergency basis to help alleviate the situation.
