

Off-Duty Police To Assist At Fair

Off-duty Medford city policemen and other qualified personnel will be retained by the Kiwanis club, sponsors of the County fair, to assist in traffic control, security patrol and other duties to assure a well-run event for the whole family.

Several acres of parking area are available near the Armory and in the adjacent fairgrounds property to accommodate the crowds which are anticipated. Attendants will assist in orderly parking on the Armory grounds with adequate direction markers indicating overflow parking areas.

Armory board officials have indicated that additional work has been done on the grounds surrounding the new building to permit easy access to and from the parking areas.

Special police details will be assigned to possible congestion areas if this is necessary. However, spokesmen for the Kiwanis event believe that the road work and signs completed recently by Jackson county road crews on entrances and exit roads will prevent such congestion.

City Parking Lot To Replace Lincoln's Home

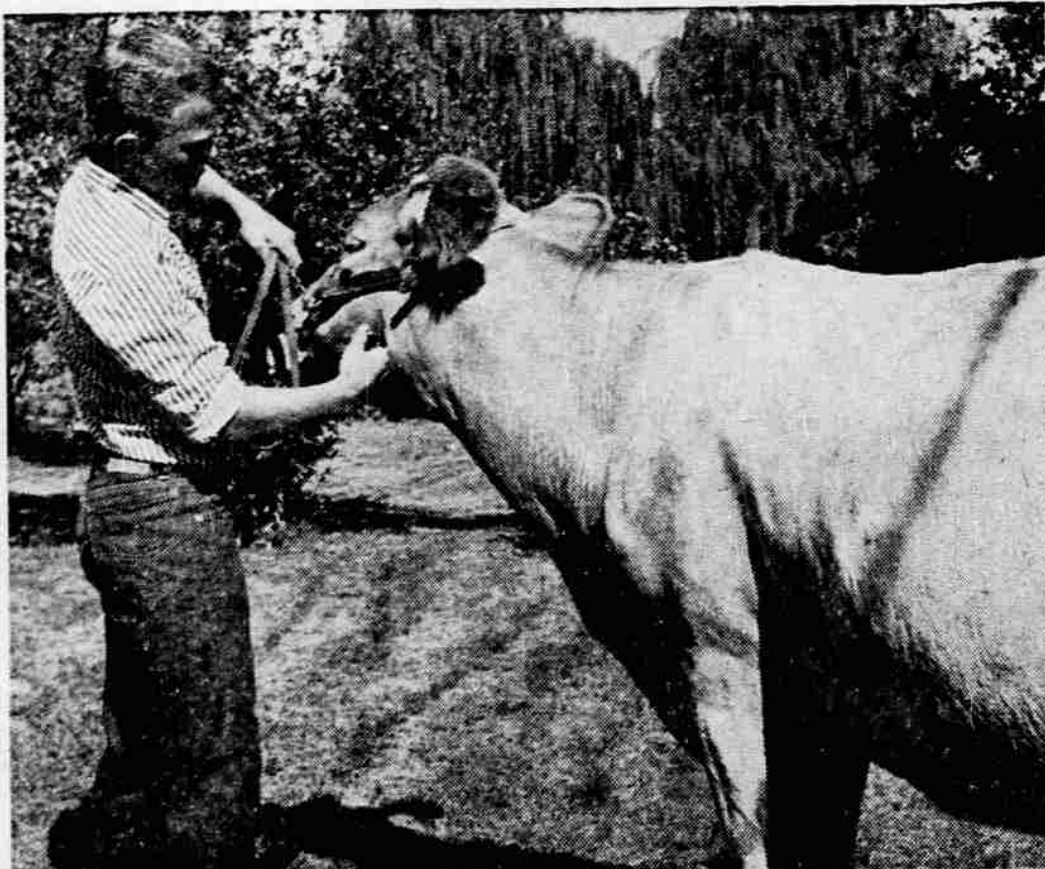

Ottawa, Ill. — (UP) — The house where Abraham Lincoln stayed after his debate with Stephen A. Douglas on Aug. 21, 1858, is being torn down to make way for a city parking lot.

The place probably will be gone by the time the city celebrates the 100th anniversary of the historic debate next month. The house was occupied in 1858 by Ottawa Mayor J. O. Glover, who was Lincoln's host.

Floral Exhibits in Fair Explained

An explanation of the requirements for entering floral arrangements in the County Fair has been issued by Mrs. A. C. Lewis, floral department chairman.

Mrs. Lewis noted that all classes in both amateur and professional (advanced) divisions are open to the public. She explained that "professional" was used to denote advanced exhibitors who had received three or more ribbons in previous competition.

Entrants should mail their applications in as soon as possible, Mrs. Lewis stated, but emphasized that no one would be turned away. Arrangements will be accepted at the Armory from 9 a.m. until noon, Thursday, Aug. 21. Judging will begin at 1 p.m. The show will open to the public at 5:30 p.m., Thursday.

Russ Renner, Kiwanis club representative, stated that exhibits in all departments would be received and registered Thursday morning. Those who were unable to mail their applications in advance would be welcome, he added.

Timber Owners Urged To Plan For Public Use

Private timber owners in the United States must consider other things besides getting only a single crop from their lands, according to an article in the recent issue of The Timberman, a forestry logging journal.

Timber owners must plan also so their lands deliver usable water and can be used for public recreation.

In his article, Arthur Carhart, Denver, Colo., pointed out that forestry practices designed for maximum timber production are, in many instances, identical with the best watershed management methods. However, there are exceptions, he admitted.

Objections have been raised to the recent practice of skinning much or all tree growth from watersheds to gain more runoff. All water will run off immediately to be trapped for future use if woody plants are removed, areas seeded with grass, or even asphalt surfaced, supporters of this action claim.

Plans Urged
Private owners must make plans so the public's use of timber land will be orderly with no damage to either the land or its timber crop, Carhart asserts in his article. Such an owner who incurs this expense of recreation development will have to receive some pay from the public.

Carhart suggests a "land-use planner." This man would plan the human use of the privately owned forest in coordination with timber and wood production.

House Approves Vaughan Medal

Washington — (UP) — The House without debate gave its permission Monday for Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, military aide to former President Truman, to wear a medal from former Argentine dictator Juan Peron.

The award list, which included 526 other retired government personnel, had been held up by Congress since 1949 because it included Vaughan's name.

The bill now goes back to the Senate for acceptance of House amendments.

The fuss over Vaughan's medal started in 1949 when newspaper columnist Drew Pearson suggested Vaughan should be fired for accepting the Order of General San Martin from Peron. Truman retorted that "no s-o-b" would tell him how to run his office.

This fanned a controversy which was enough to block consideration of all medals by the House because Vaughan's name was on the list.

The Constitution requires Congress to give its consent before a government official may accept any "present, emolument, office or title" from a foreign state.

San Diego, Calif. — (UP) — Lt. (j.g.) Wayne Snow McFarland, 23-year-old Navy pilot from Houston, Tex., pleaded guilty Monday to charges of being the "shoe bandit" who terrorized women in the San Diego-Coronado areas for 20 months.

The crack jet pilot of an all-weather squadron stationed at the San Diego Naval Air station was arrested last May. Officers said they found a pile of women's shoes in his apartment.

McFarland was accused of attacking women and making off with one shoe. He pleaded guilty to one count of armed robbery and one count of burglary.

Superior Judge John A. Hewicker ordered more mental examinations for the pilot, described by his commanding officer as one of the best flyers in his squadron.
