

Warren Spahn Holds Giants To Five Hits, Takes 241st

San Francisco —UPI— The San Francisco Giants had trouble with Milwaukee's Warren Spahn Monday night and this afternoon they take on his roommate — a guy named Lew Burdette.

Burdette, the Yankee-killer of the 1957 World Series, has an 8-2 record since the All-Star game and has finished the last five games he started, giving up a total of nine runs. Today it will be the task of Ruben Gomez to keep the voluble righthander from becoming a Giant-killer.

Spahn was just that Monday night as he limited the San Franciscans to five hits, won 6-1, and recorded his 241st major league victory—but the first one he ever notched on the Pacific Coast.

The crafty southpaw, weakened by a strep throat over the weekend, showed no sign of being ill. He was in trouble only twice and had it easy after the Braves got him a five-run cushion in the top of the second inning on six hits, a hit batsman and a costly San Francisco error.

Good Pitches

Both Mike McCormick, who was tagged with the loss, and his manager, Bill Rigney, agreed that the Braves were hitting "good pitches" during the uprising.

"They should have had one run instead of five," said Rigney glumly. He referred to an outfield bobbie by Leon Wagner and a close play at the plate that was ruled as a fielder's choice in the big second.

The defeat dropped the Giants eight games behind the pace setters and they maintained their bulge of one percentage point over the third place Pittsburgh Pirates.

Willie Mays drove in the only San Francisco run with an infield single in the fifth inning with the bases loaded.

First Appearance

Giant outfielder Jackie Brandt, making his first appearance after an Army stint, came close to changing the complexion of the game earlier in the frame. Brandt hit for pitcher Gordon Jones with two on and none out and ripped a pitch deep to right center that Felix Mantilla brought down after a great run. Later Brandt, who stayed in the game, walked and singled.

"How about that Brandt?" muttered Spahn after the game. "He comes out of the Army and really slugs his first pitch."

The 21,433 fans got their first look at Frank Torre this series when he took over at first base for Joe Adcock in the fifth.

Adcock, a big, talkative performer, was reduced to something less than a whisper by a sore throat and laryngitis that struck during the game.

The Giants could not be blamed for hoping the malady would sweep quickly through the entire Milwaukee team.

Pitching Duel Shapes Up Between Redlegs, Dodgers

United Press International
Los Angeles —UPI— Big Don Newcombe, who traded a Dodger uniform for one of the Redlegs' earlier in the season, tonight faces his former teammates with the avowed intent of beating them if he can.

Facing Newcombe will be Sandy Koufax 9-7, seeking to victory. Newcombe is only 3-11 for the season and has lost twice to the Dodgers since being traded to Cincinnati.

Johnny Podres, Monday night won his 12th victory of the season and 11th in the Coliseum in defeating the Redlegs 4-2. Although he was in trouble repeatedly as he gave up eight hits including a homer to Pete Whisenant in the first for all the Redleg's runs, Podres managed to work himself out of his difficulties each time.

Serious Trouble

His most serious trouble came in the fifth when he loaded the bases with one away but he settled down to retire the next two batters.

"I thought my curve was working especially well," said Podres after the game. "It was the best stuff I had on the ball all season, even though I was hit some."

Striking out six men, Podres passed the 500 mark in strike outs in his major league career.

But he had Carl Furillo and Gino Cimoli to thank for helping him achieve the victory in which he equalled his best mark in the majors, 12 wins.

final appearance at the plate. The veteran outfielder has been hitting about .360 for the month and now is .292 for the season.

Furillo drove in the first Dodger run with a single after Jim Gilliam doubled in the first inning and drove in another in the third when the Dodgers pushed over two runs on four singles. Cimoli then closed out the scoring by hitting his seventh homer of the season with none on base in the eighth inning.

Whisenant's first inning homer came with Jerry Lynch on base to account for all the Redleg's runs.

KISSING CUP his team just won for the second time is Ricardo Trevino, captain of the Monterrey, Mex., squad. The Little League champs repeated last year's effort, downing the nine from Kankakee, Ill., 10-1.

Giants Trounced 6-1 By Milwaukee

United Press International
Strep throat and all, Warren Spahn of Milwaukee just about put the final chill on San Francisco's pennant fever.

Spahn was confined to his hotel room Sunday with an inflamed throat and there was some question whether he would be able to pitch against the Giants Monday night.

The 37-year-old southpaw promptly eliminated all question when he went out and held the Giants to five hits in a 6-1 victory that stretched Milwaukee's first-place margin to eight games over San Francisco.

It was Spahn's 17th victory of the season and the Braves made his job easy by knocking out Mike McCormick with a five-run burst in the second inning. Six hits, an error and a hit batsman did the damage.

Pirates Also Lose

Los Angeles defeated Cincinnati 4-2, and St. Louis beat third-place Pittsburgh, 7-1, in the other National League games scheduled.

Baltimore topped Chicago, 6-5, and Washington nipped Cleveland, 5-4, in the two American League games played.

The Dodgers' victory over the Redlegs was essentially a two-man job by southpaw Johnny Podres and outfielder Carl Furillo. Podres yielded a two-run homer to Pete Whisenant in the first inning but blanked Cincinnati thereafter to gain his 12th victory, 11 of which have been registered at the Los Angeles coliseum. Furillo rapped out three of the Dodgers' nine hits off loser Harvey Haddix and drove in two runs.

Hits Three-Run Homer

Wally Moon's three-run homer off loser Ronnie Kline was the blow that assured the Cards their triumph over the Pirates. Larry Jackson held the Pirates to eight hits in boosting his season mark to 11-10.

The Orioles tightened their hold on fourth place in the American League with their victory over the White Sox. Pinch hitter Al Pilarcik drove in the winning run with a sixth-inning single that scored Brooks Robinson from second base.

Ray Narleski's eighth-inning wild pitch with the bases loaded enabled Clint Courtney to score the run that

1958 Interior Line Could Be Oregon's Finest

University of Oregon, Eugene—Oregon's interior line could easily be the finest in the school's history this fall. Certainly, it is the most promising line in recent years and four veterans at guard, Bob Grottkau, Joe Schaffel, Will Reeve and Bob Heard, make this position one of the strongholds of the forward wall.

Grottkau, one of the best of last year's sterling work, is the key performer on the right side of the line with end Ron Stover and tackle Jim Linden. On the left side, Schaffel and Reeve should compete in fall drills for the starting berth vacated by all-coast Harry Mondale.

No Surprises

It came as no surprise that Grottkau would handle the guard spot with ease, even though he had played fullback in high school, end as an Oregon freshman, and tackle with the varsity as a soph. His development at the position was one key to the success of the first team line last season. Schaffel played behind Mondale last year and his great work in the Rose Bowl, after Mondale was injured early in the opening quarter, has stamped him as an outstanding contender for the other starting berth.

Reeve, a big two-year veteran, moved to guard last fall after a sophomore season at fullback and came along rapidly, including a fine spring practice. Heard will probably back up Grottkau on the right side after seeing considerable action at left guard last year.

Coach Len Cacanava will also get help from letterman John Willener, a tackle last year, while senior LeRoy Todd and junior Jack Stone will compete with soph Dave Urell for the other top spot.

Emily's Pride will run as an entry with Gang Aw. Both are owned by Walnut Hall and Castleton Farm, Lexington, Ky. Sandalwood also was part of an entry, with Baron Colby. Both are owned by Two Gait farm, Carmel, Ind.

Indian Shift Frowned on By Veck

Veck called a news conference here late Monday to air his views on reports one or both of the American league teams would show up at a new city when next season opens.

He said the Cleveland fans have been too good to the Indians for them to leave. He also said that he thought "the national game of baseball should be represented in the nation's capital."

Veck said there was no reason why the National and American leagues could not expand because "there are several cities, both here and in Canada, that are able and willing to support major league baseball."

Bees Down Phoenix 7-0 in Windup Game

United Press International
An inside-the-park grand slam homer and one bad pitch tightened up the Pacific Coast league pennant race Monday night as the leaders were beaten and the third-place squad downed the No. 2 squad.

Carlos Bernier got the grand slammer for Salt Lake City in the fifth inning as the Bees downed league-leading Phoenix, 7-0. The bad pitch was served up by San Diego's Dick Brodowski as Vancouver defeated the Padres, 8-7.

Only the four teams saw action and as a result, Vancouver moved to within four and a half games of Phoenix and San Diego remained two games behind the Giants.

Salt Lake's Jim Hardison shared the glory with Bernier. He allowed the powerful Giants only six hits in shutting them out.

Brodowski got only one pitch off Vancouver. He came in with the score tied, two out in the ninth, the bases loaded and three balls on the batter. Brodowski served up the fourth ball and the game was over.

New Ruling Established By IAAF

Stockholm, Sweden —UPI— Athletes who accept athletic scholarships to colleges in a foreign country would be barred from competing in that country but wouldn't lose their amateur status, under a recommendation made today by the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

The IAAF, ruling body of world track and field, looked into the question of athletic scholarships Monday at the request of Australian officials.

The Australians, irritated at the fact several top-notch Aussie track athletes as well as swimmers are attending United States colleges, asked the IAAF to deny amateur status to athletic scholarship students. But the federation rejected that proposal and instead made its no-competition recommendation.
