Eight Grand Champions in Dairy Division Listed During 4-H Fair

Eight grand champions were named in the 4-H dairy division in close competition at the annual 4-H, Future Farmers of America fair here last week.

Jerry Moore, Reese Creek, had the champion registered Jersey, and Lanny Parsons of Rogue River exhibited the champion grade Jersey. In the Guernsey division, Judy Nelson of Griffin Creek and David Carter of Rogue River had registered the grade champions, respectively.

Champion Holstein was exhibited by Georgia Hubbard of Antelope. Champion Brown Swiss cattle was shown by Marilyn Deckelman of Evans Valley and Gerald Reneau of Talent. A milking Shorthorn owned by Melvin Smith, Gold Hill, was named final champion.

Sheep Exhibit

The largest sheep exhibit ever held in Jackson county packed the 4-H sheep building at the fair. Top quality breeding stock was exhibited in all breeds.

Philip Krouse of Applegate, John Higginbotham of Phoenix, Sheila Franklin of Southwest Medford, Terry Gail of Gold Hill, Marsha Watson of Westside, Linda Gibson of Westside, Robert Machado of Evans Valley and Charles Badcock of Evans Valley all received champion ribbons in the expanded sheep show.

Terry Gail and his cousin, Donald Gail, both of Gold Hill competed for the championship in the market lamb division with Terry Winning with a 95-pound prime Southdown lamb. Terry also took the champion pen of three market lambs after close competition from Susan Wright of Oak Grove.

Milk Goat Show

The first complete milk goat show of its kind in the county found Gail Glidden of Phoenix and Allan Brooks of Central Point topping their divisions in the aged doe and yearling doe, respectively. Gail also took the champion showman in milk goats, with close competition from Martha Humphreys of Westside.

Carolyn Tiegs of Talent proved to be a versatile showman during the fair as she worked her way to the championship over-all dairy showman after having previously won the poultry showmanship. Competing for the championship were Gary Fossen of Ruch, David Carter of Rogue River, Steve Geren of Antelope, Marilyn Deckelman of Evans Valley, Nancy Johnston of Evans Valley and Lanny Parsons of Rogue River.
