Venezuela Police Revolt Fails To Oust Government

23 Killed; More Than 100 Injured

Caracas, Venezuela — (UP) — The second attempt in six weeks to overthrow the Venezuelan government killed 23 persons and wounded more than 100 in hours-long street fighting here Sunday.

A government communique said the revolt, led by a small group of officers of the military police, was brought quickly under "absolute control."

Refuse To Join
An aide to Provisional President Wolfgang Larrazabal said a "confused" situation and the anger of a loyal throng of civilians gathered outside the Presidential Palace contributed to the large number of casualties.

The army, navy and air force refused to join the revolt and it soon began to collapse. The police marched back into their barracks and the revolt was just about over when civilians, summoned into the streets by government officials, gathered in front of the palace.

Fire on Crowd

There they taunted the rebels and shouted "traitors" at the barricaded police. The rebels replied with gunfire, felling many. The angry civilians, some of whom had been armed with machetes, finally swarmed into the barracks and the police surrendered.

Rebel Leader Lt. Col. Juan de Dios Doncoda was granted asylum in the Mexican Embassy. Military Police Chief Maj. Vivar Ramirez and a third mutinous officer escaped to another foreign embassy. Junta member Arturo Sosa said the No. 2 rebel, Maj. Jose Hely Mendoza, had been arrested.

Rebels Displeased
The rebels were reported displeased with Larrazabal's recent moves granting more freedom to leftist political parties. He came to power in a military coup that overthrew dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez last January.

Vochatzer Cleared Of Charges Here

Frank Harrison Vochatzer, 72, of 349 Black Oak dr., was found innocent in circuit court last week of using a motor vehicle without permission of the owner.

The cleared man had been charged with taking a 1956 pickup truck belonging to Charles E. Bennett, 820 Marshall ave., without his permission, on June 19. Following a hearing in district court on June 23, he was ordered held to answer to the charge. He was freed after a jury trial before Judge Edward Kelly.

Phoenix — (UP) — Arizona Democrats will decide in Tuesday's primary election if Gov. Ernest McFarland will face Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) in the November general election.

State Interim Tax Committee Votes Benefits

Depoe Bay, Ore. — (UP) — The Legislative Interim Tax Committee said today it has voted to give some tax benefits to foreign corporations doing business in Oregon.

The committee is holding a three-day meeting here.

Lower Filing Fee

The committee voted 7-3 to recommend that the 1959 Legislature lower the filing fee from $200 to $100 for outside corporations doing business in the state. The filing fee for domestic corporations averages about $28.

It also agreed to authorize the State Tax Commission to advise the corporation commissioner which corporations pay income excise taxes. This is to check up on foreign corporations doing business which do not register.

The committee approved an ad valorem tax on special mobile equipment, or equipment which is moveable but does not use the highways regularly. Examples are cranes, concrete mixers which are moved from one place to another.

State Sen. Phil Lowry of Medford sought to get the tax set on a proportionate basis. He said he wanted some protection for people who kept their property in the state all year as against those who use it only part of the year and escape taxation.

A bill to defer property taxes on homesteads for older persons with small incomes was approved. The bill would not give direct tax relief, but would postpone taxes.

Another bill approved would strengthen the law requiring filing of personal property tax returns.

Crowd Expected For Rogue Flood Control Meeting

Tonight's meeting of the Rogue Basin Flood Control and Water Resources association is expected to have a large representation from both Jackson and Josephine counties, according to Bill Jess, Eagle Point, association president.

Cave Junction and Merlin will be represented also, Jess said.

All available details on proposed water resource development of the Rogue Basin are expected to be given during the meeting, which starts at 8 p.m. in the Jackson county courthouse auditorium.

Expected to attend are Ross Hatch, U. S. Army Corp of Engineers, Portland office, and O. M. Browne, regional project development engineer, bureau of reclamation, Boise, Idaho.

Hatch will answer questions sent to him earlier by Jess on development plans for the basin. Browne is expected to discuss the new study of the Lost Creek site by bureau of reclamation geologists.

The new study of the Lost Creek site started last week, Jess said. Following an earlier study, the bureau stated the Lost Creek site was capable of supporting a dam of only 50,000 acre feet of water.

Truck Driver Dies At Dam Work

Troy Johnson, 48, of 305 Portland ave., Medford, died at 9:15 a.m. today while driving a truck for the Ephrata Pre-mix company on the Howare Prairie dam construction job. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

The body was taken to Lilliker's Funeral home in Ashland.

Third V.D. Case Reported Locally

A third case of venereal disease resulting from sexual promiscuity in a local group apparently composed mostly of juveniles was reported today by Dr. A. Erin Merkel, Jackson county health officer.

But Dr. Merkel said most of the approximately 29 individuals on his list of possible exposures had been examined with no other cases turning up.

The third case was described as a girl under 21, who lives in Medford.

The two previous cases, a boy 19 and a girl 15, were reported to Medford police Aug. 24. They told authorities of parties involving liquor and sexual relations, and furnished lists implicating a number of local youths.

"Examination of the real contacts is almost completed," Dr. Merkel said. He explained that some of those on his list had apparently not been involved in sexual contact.

Dr. Merkel reported that a fourth case had been discovered, but he said it was not related.

Local authorities, meanwhile, continue their investigation of other aspects of the case.

Loyal McCay Winner of MT Photo Quiz Contest

The third winner in the Mail Tribune photo quiz was Loyal D. McCay, 3334 Forest st., Medford, who received his one year's free subscription to the Mail Tribune from carrier Hazel Jack.

McCay, co-owner of the Rogue Valley Construction co., has lived in Medford since 1915, when he moved with his parents from Idaho to the Central Point area.

He has always had an interest in the history of southern Oregon and reading articles and books on the area has become a hobby with him in recent years. To answer the questions in the quiz, he admits, he had to make several trips to the Jacksonville museum and to various towns to study the layout of the buildings.

McCay credits his success in the Mail Tribune quiz to the many books he has read on southern Oregon, which gave him a good background on the early-day history of the area. His other hobbies include hunting, fishing and

Red Chinese Artillery Resumes Bombing Quemoy

Planes Engage In Battle Over Formosa Strait

Peiping Irate Over Violation of Limits

Taipei, Formosa — (UP) — Communist artillery opened a massive bombardment of the Quemoy Islands today and destroyed a Nationalist ammunition ship which had reached the offshore islands under protection of the U. S. 7th Fleet.

The Defense Ministry said U. S. Navy escort ships conveyed the ammunition ship

Tokyo — (UP) — Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung said today he hoped renewed ambassadorial level talks on Formosa would bring "some results." Mao thus joined Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai in pushing for a negotiated settlement of the Formosa crisis.

and several others to the three-mile limit today but stood offshore and Communist artillery did not fire at them. U. S. convoy vessels also stood offshore Sunday when the Nationalists landed supplies. "Most Dangerous Act"

However, Peiping Radio reported eight more U. S. warships entered Chinese Communist territorial waters today and said "this is obviously a most dangerous act of deliberate provocation" and that the Red Chinese Foreign Ministry was issuing a second "serious warning."

An official spokesman for the Nationalist Defense Ministry said today's shelling might justify Nationalist retaliation against the mainland. The Nationalists warned this week end that bombers would attack Red artillery positions if the bombardment resumed.

Nationalist Sabre jets escorting supply vessels to Quemoy shot down seven Communist MIGs and damaged two others in the biggest aerial battle of the Formosa Strait "little war." Only three MIGs of a flight of 12 escaped undamaged.

A Nationalist announcement said 12 MIG-17s approached an equal number of Nationalist Sabres from the rear. The Sabre jet flight leader barked over his radio: "Let's turn around and get them," and the battle was on.

The jets fought a series of diving battles for eight minutes about 16 miles off the China coast.

Showers Forecast Through Tuesday

Weatherman Says
Light showers which covered much of state-protected and federal forest lands in the Rogue valley last night and this morning were not enough to end fire danger, according to spokesmen.

In the Rogue River National forest .31 inch of rain fell in the Applegate area and smaller amounts elsewhere. Rain covered most of the state forest area with an estimated .10 inch-falling, spokesmen said.

No lightning strikes were reported in either state or federal forest lands of the area.

At the Weather Bureau, only .15 of an inch of rain was recorded up to 11 a.m. today. The rain ended a warm spell which brought temperatures of 102 degrees Saturday and 95 degrees Sunday. Showers are forecast through Tuesday.

Halts Operations
Rain momentarily halted fruit harvest operations this morning in various orchards, according to Clifford B. Cordy, county horticulture agent.

Fruit growers of the area are uneasy over the possibility of continued rainy weather. Idleness of pickers due to weather conditions may cause them to leave for other areas, one peach shipper said.

The peach harvest is expected to continue through to the end of September, Cordy said. The few apples raised in this area will be picked into October, he added. The peach harvest is pretty well along with this week expected to see the windup. Crop estimates are medium to light.

The wet weather has further increased the blight problem in pear orchards, the county agent said. The hot humid weather this year has made it more serious than other years, he explained. Cordy urged growers to cut out all blight infection in trees as soon as harvesting operations permit.

Some Area Schools Start Up Today

A number of schools in the county opened their doors this morning for the 1958-59 year, and by next Monday all of the schools in the county will be in operation, according to the county school superintendent's office.

Griffin Creek, Talent, Applegate, Pinehurst, and Howard schools opened today, and Phoenix schools are set to open Thursday for all students except those working in the fruit. They will begin school Monday, Sept. 15, the same day that Medford and district 6C schools will open.

This Friday district 9C schools, including Eagle Point, Elk-Trail, and Shady Cove schools, will begin classes.

Schools already in operation include those at Ruch, Evans Valley, Butte Falls, Lone Pine, Jacksonville, Ashland, Rogue River, and Prospect.

Newport, R. I. — (UP) — The White House today called upon Russia to restrain Red China from invading the Nationalist-held islands off the Chinese mainland.

"You Look Absolutely Stunning"

Maine Voters Going To Polls for Last Of Early Elections

Portland, Maine — (UP) — Maine voters balloted today and gave the old saying "As Maine goes, so goes the Nation" one final fling.

This is the last of the early Maine elections. After this year Maine junks its famous early voting date, the second Monday in September, and votes with the other states in November.

No one who has studied the tables of Maine and national elections returns over the years takes the old adage seriously.

It has been discredited much too often.

However, national election observers are looking to the Maine voting for one principal clue—will light be shed upon voters' reactions to the charges of influence peddling in Washington?

GOP Sen. Frederick G. Payne is a candidate for reelection. His opponent is the popular two-term Democratic governor, Edmund S. Muskie.

Accepted Favors
Payne, like Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, has admitted accepting favors from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

Payne received a vicuna coat, hotel accommodations and a $3,500 interest free loan when he was buying a house in Washington.

Another question is whether the Democratic trend in normally Republican Maine will continue.

The key, again, is the Muskie-Payne contest. Muskie, 44, is the symbol of the Democratic resurgence. Payne, 58, is calling for party solidarity behind his candidacy.

Muskie became Maine's first Democratic governor in 20 years in 1954 with the largest vote ever given a candidate for governor in the state.

Seats at Stake
If Muskie wins today he will be the first Maine Democrat to sit in the U. S. Senate since 1911.

A Republican ex-governor and former ambassador to Pakistan, Horace A. Hildreth, is trying again for election as governor. His opponent is a former Internal Revenue collector for Maine, Democrat Clinton A. Clauson.

Main's three congressional seats are at stake, two held by Republicans, one by a Democrat. Any change in that alignment might be interpreted as a national trend.

Registration Booth To Operate Tonight
A mobile voter registration booth will operate in front of Mann's department store on Central ave. in Medford from 6 to 9 p.m. today, a spokesman for the Jackson County Democratic Central committee said.

The booth is operated on a non-partisan basis.

Virginia Delays Integration of Public Schools

By United Press International
The schedule of court-ordered integration in Virginia was delayed, at least temporarily, today by two federal judges and the NAACP asked another U. S. court to break up a protest strike of white pupils in Arkansas.

Four different federal court cases in Virginia, some involving a showdown between state and federal law, were in progress.

Order Refused
In Alexandria, District Judge Albert V. Bryan refused to issue an immediate order to admit 14 Negro pupils to all-white schools. Instead, he advised the Negroes to enroll at segregated Negro schools until their request for an order against the city school board can be tried in his court.

At Harrisonburg, Va., U. S. Judge John Paul asked NAACP attorneys to rewrite a desegregation injunction that, if granted, would order integration of schools there.

Paul's request was expected to delay things only briefly and he was expected to sign the order later today after technical points are cleared up in the rewrite.

To Review Applications
Paul also was expected to begin reviewing rejected Negro applications for white schools in Charlottesville, another Virginia city ordered to integrate.

A strike by white pupils over the continued integration of the Van Buren, Ark., High school appeared to be on the wane. More than half the strikers went back to class today, with only 28 boys remaining out.

None of the 13 Negroes who started classes at the Van Buren school last week were on hand today, however, and the NAACP entered the picture in an effort to break the strike entirely.

The NAACP filed suit asking U. S. District Judge John Miller to require the Van Buren School Board to show cause why it should not enforce the order and "help preserve the constitutional rights" of Negro pupils. The effect of such an injunction would be to end the white strike.

Nashville, Tenn., extended its gradual integration program to the second grade today and one teacher described as being "just like a Sunday school class." This was in marked contrast to disorders that greeted the beginning of mixed classes in 1957.

Portland — (UP) — An autopsy showed today that Dorothy Balfour, 48, Portland service station operator, died of suffocation last week.

Mrs. FDR Accuses Proposal Backers
Washington — (UP) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has accused California backers of "right-to-work" proposals with using "weasel words" to imply that her late husband favored such laws.

The former first lady described the action as a "staminal fraud on the public."

But she declared in a statement released Sunday that the American public "understands very well that Franklin Delano Roosevelt would never have supported such a reactionary doctrine."

Mrs. Roosevelt's statement was prepared before her departure for Moscow, where she arrived Sunday.

105 Students Pass Oregon State Bar Examinations
Salem — (UP) — A total of 105 students passed the Oregon State Bar examinations this year, the State Supreme court said today.

Some 55 students failed the examinations. Two attorneys also passed their examinations to practice law in Oregon while two failed.

Willamette university here had the best percentage record for successful passage with better than 85 per cent of its students making the grade.

Admission ceremonies for the new attorneys will be held in the Supreme court room here Friday at 11 a.m.

Those successful in their examinations included Robert Daniel Heffernan Jr., and Joel Bruce Reeder, both of Medford.

Attack on China Will Be Attack Against Soviets

Note of Warning Handed To Embassy

Moscow — (UP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned President Eisenhower today that an "attack" on Communist China would be considered "an attack on the Soviet Union."

Khrushchev issued the warning in a note handed to the U. S. Embassy here today.

The Soviet Premier called on Eisenhower, to whom the communication was personally addressed, to withdraw U. S. forces from the Formosa area in the interests of a "stable peace."

'Open Provocation'
He said the U. S. 7th Fleet and American forces on Formosa were committing an "open provocation" and indulging in "blackmail and intimidation."

Khrushchev declared in this regard that world powers should be "prohibited" from sending "fleets and air force units" to different parts of the world for such purposes.

"These armed forces must be kept within the national boundaries," the Russian leader asserted. He said "this question should be considered by the United Nations."

Stable Peace Unthinkable
Khrushchev's first message to Eisenhower since they exchanged a long series on a summit meeting and the Mid-East crisis declared that "U. S. actions in the Far East are an open provocation . . ."

"The Soviet Union will regard an attack on the People's Republic of China as an attack on the Soviet Union," Khrushchev said.

He said "a stable peace is unthinkable in the Far East until the American Navy is withdrawn from the Taiwan (Formosa) Strait and until the American soldiers are withdrawn from the Chinese island of Taiwan."

'Legitimate Question'
"The powers should be prohibited from rushing fleets and air force units from one end of the world to the other for purposes of blackmail and intimidation," Khrushchev said.

"These forces must be kept within national boundaries."

The Soviet Premier then suggested that the question be raised in the United Nations.

"There arises a legitimate question" he went on. "Should this not be discussed in the United Nations and a decision be adopted forbidding powers from employing the movements of naval and air forces for purposes of blackmail and intimidation?"

Mrs. FDR Accuses Proposal Backers

Washington — (UP) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has accused California backers of "right-to-work" proposals with using "weasel words" to imply that her late husband favored such laws.

The former first lady described the action as a "staminal fraud on the public."

But she declared in a statement released Sunday that the American public "understands very well that Franklin Delano Roosevelt would never have supported such a reactionary doctrine."

Mrs. Roosevelt's statement was prepared before her departure for Moscow, where she arrived Sunday.
