

Aubrey Evans Sings at Fair; Teacher on Trip
Aubrey Evans of Medford was one of the featured entertainers at the Oregon State fair Saturday in Salem. Mr. Evans, a baritone, sang on a program given in the Art Gallery auditorium Saturday at 4 o'clock. The singer was chosen to represent the Southern Oregon district of Oregon Music Teachers' association at the fair.

He was accompanied to Salem by his teacher, Mrs. Effie Kurtz, and Mrs. M. E. Olson continued to Hood River to visit friends, and Mrs. Kurtz visited a brother at The Dalles. Monday she left Portland for two weeks in Hawaii. She will return to Medford about September 25 to resume her music classes.

Potluck Luncheon Planned by Temple

Mrs. E. Ronald Rice, queen of Zulema temple, Daughters of the Nile, today reminded members of the order that the luncheon to be served Saturday at 12 noon in Grants Pass will be a covered dish meal. Grants Pass members will provide hot dishes, Medford and Ashland members are asked to take salads and those in the outlying districts are to take desserts.

Veteran Real Estate Man Says World Chasing the Sun

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
New York — (UPI)—Veteran realtor John C. Tysen is convinced the world is "chasing the sun."

"Take a look at the moving patterns of families in the last few years," said Tysen. "They're going from north to south... from New England to Florida... from Minnesota and Dakotas to California and Arizona... even to the Mediterranean coast and African. Industry is doing the same. It seems to me the whole world is chasing the sun."

Tysen, in the real estate business for 22 years, gives two basic reasons for the population shift: health and money.

"World War II put a lot of people in training," he explained. "Military men got used to sunshine... most camps were in warm climates. They went back when they got the war over with. Or wives joined their husbands and found how wonderful it is to have children go through a winter without wet feet and those ghastly snow suits..."

No Heating Bills
"Families found how much money is saved when they have no bills for heating, no basement in need, less clothing to buy."

"There has become an almost absolute worship of the god sun. And to think that 50

Models Announced For Show

Nine members of Medford Junior Service League and six children will model for the fall fashion show which the league will give Thursday and Friday at Rogue Valley country club. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. each day with the show following.

Models will be Mrs. Donald Herried, Mrs. C. H. Buffington, Mrs. John Lynch, Mrs. Gordon Hudson, Mrs. Carl Wimberly Jr., Mrs. Billy D. Blackstone, Mrs. Arlon Skinner, Mrs. Robert M. Turner and Mrs. James B. Shaw.

Children modeling will be Chip Buffington, Beverly Bush, Judy Wood, Sara Wood, Scott Taylor and Lynn Taylor. Reservations may be made by calling the Country club, Spring 2-5965.

Proceeds from the two-day event will be used to support the league's kindergarten for hard-of-hearing children, which will open this month with eight pupils.

League members have also announced another project to raise funds for the kindergarten. This will be a thrift shop which will be operated in one of the rooms at the school. Mrs. Donald Jackson, who is in charge of organizing the project, states that good quality used clothing, household articles, garden equipment, toys and other articles will be on sale at the shop.

Variations of Headache Band New This Fall
By United Press International
Trying to count the variations of the headache band is enough to give a girl a headache. A fitting adjunct to the tousled hair-dos, the bands come at flat organza bows, in wide bands of velvet or pique, in calf, patent leather, gros-grain ribbon, straw, and polka dot or striped silks.

They're shown jeweled, in gold mesh cinched with a narrow golden buckle, to go with tailored clothes; or in jewel and flower combinations, for the light summer cottons.

Designed Larry Aldrich told United Press International last spring that the low-set flounce on the straight-line dress would be one of this fall season's biggest hits. The silhouette he spoke of shows throughout the fall collections, even to the furs. Fredrica shows a flounced coat in black-dyed Russian broadtail, handled like cloth, and fitted very easily at the waistline.

New York's Fashion group resorts to circus terms to describe the trend in millinery for fall. "Under the Big Top," best describes the new hat styles, said the commentator at the Group's recent accessories show. The big hats come in fur, mohair and other pile fabrics.

The return of the Empire waistline for fall also means the revival of job jewelry—to be pinned, like the old-fashioned stomacher, just under the bosom.

This fall you'll be able to drink your champagne and wear it too, though unseen. The Corset and Brassiere council says that shades of the beige family, and primarily those with a champagne cast, are popular for foundation garments. All champagne, or champagne trim on white—both are featured.

Floral prints, once primarily for spring and summer fashions, run throughout the fall collections. But they're of deep hot-house colors, instead of pastel.

Keep wet-mops clean and fresh by rinsing thoroughly after each use, squeezing out excess water and hanging them with the mop head up. Ueuer store mops wet in pails or on concrete floors.

A kitchen safety note: When you take off the lid of a roaster or saucepan, lift the far side of the cover first so that the steam escapes away from your face and hands.

Past Noble Grands' club of Olive Rebekah lodge will hold the first business meeting of the fall Thursday, September 11, at 8 p.m. at Girls' Community club.

Mrs. Clara Franklin, the club president, will preside and plans will be made for a rummage sale to be held jointly with the Ladies' auxiliary to the Patriarchs Militant. The sale is set for September 26-27 at the Fehl building.

Gardeners Plan October Show At Courthouse

Central Point—Plans for a showing of dried arrangements October 20 and 21 at the courthouse auditorium were made at the last meeting of Central Point Garden club, held September 3 at the home of Mrs. Donald E. Faber, 415 Hazel street. Purpose of the show is to acquaint people of the valley with the many uses of dried material for home decorations. The event will be open to the public, will be non-competitive and no charge will be made.

During the morning Mrs. A. C. Lewis, Phoenix, instructed in the use of dry materials for making plaques, and many were completed.

The workshop was followed by a sack lunch, with dessert served by the hostess.

Announcement was made of the annual fall meeting of Siskiyou district, Oregon Federation of Garden clubs, in Redwood Grange hall, Grants Pass, with registration at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Charles Jantzer spoke on the grosbeak, bird of the month, and Mrs. Leonard Fremantle about the flower of the month, the aster. Mrs. Wallace West gave a talk on an article in this month's Geographic magazine, "Preserving Wild Flowers."

Corrage of the month went to a guest, Mrs. E. C. Faber. Prizes were won by Mrs. Joseph Huffine and Mrs. Ivan Skyrman.

Mrs. C. W. Anhorn, chairman of the 4H Garden club, described the show which the group held at the county fair. She stated that the blue ribbon winner, Cheryl Swanson, also won a blue ribbon at the Oregon State fair.

Guests were Mrs. E. C. Faber, Mrs. Karl Janouch and Mrs. C. V. Bowers. Mrs. H. W. Sturgeon and Mrs. O. T. Wilson assisted the hostess in serving.

Vegetables Tasty When Butter Braised

New York—(UPI)—Fresh vegetables are especially tasty and nutritious when they're braised in butter and their own natural juices.

A good combination includes two cups each of carrots, zucchini and onions, all sliced, and snap beans cut in one-inch lengths. Put into a heavy skillet with three tablespoons melted butter or margarine and one-half teaspoon salt. Cover and cook 15-20 minutes, or until vegetables are tender but still crisp. Add salt and pepper. Serves six.

Hollow-handled pieces of silverware, such as knives, should not be washed or rinsed in excessively hot water because expansion of silver will cause the handles to pull away from the core inside. Never soak knives and forks with plastic, horn, ivory or wooden handles.

Singer Models Concert Clothes At Lively Show

New York—(UPI)—It's time to stop confusing Mary Martin with Peter Pan. She's out of bare feet and into a wardrobe that's strictly never-never land to a working girl's budget.

The fashion press got an eye-ful of Miss Martin in a handful of Mainbocher designs, which the star will wear for a concert tour this fall. The sneak preview was the liveliest fashion show this town has seen in a long time.

Miss Martin brought along her daughter, Heller, and her husband, Richard Halliday. She modeled the clothes herself, and she could have sold a plunging neckline to an Eskimo in a blizzard. She may get the chance, too—her show, "Music with Mary Martin," will tour 11 military bases in Alaska before playing in 60 cities in the United States and Canada.

She twirled and twinkled her way in and out of seven gowns. She tossed a grin here and a wink there, and bubbled and chattered so warmly that the audience hated to leave.

"Most of my shows have called for barefoot parts, so it's nice to have pretty clothes again," said the singer.

And the clothes were pretty—a "Cinderella" dress of water green chiffon, an "Alice Blue Gown" of pale blue chiffon and lace "like I had when I was young," a lime green ball gown over an enormous crinoline "I have to get into this in 45 seconds" and a black velvet cocktail dress with a pale blue lining on the skirt.

"This is something for the boys," she said, burlesquing a slink in the black number.

"It's so low I'm afraid I won't dare go to Alaska in this—well, it's cold up there."
