Eddie Fisher

by Norman Weiser

TOPS ON THE RECORD SHELVES: Versatility and showmanship feature a new two-disk Mercury package by Patti Page. It's "The East Side—The West Side," with the Singing Rage handling songs for sophisticates and the more bouncy crowd with equal dexterity. For classical collectors, Tchaikovsky's "Concerto No. 1" as played by the sensational young pianist, Van Cliburn, with Kiril Kondrashin conducting an augmented RCA symphony orchestra, is a must. And for jazz fans, "Ella Fitzgerald at the Opera House" is a delightful Autumn present from Verve.

MUSIC FOR FAMILY LISTENING: Vocalists are coming on strong again, and this month we have some excellent ones to listen to. "Girls I Have Known" spotlights RCA's Jim Reeves in a series of 12 old standards the whole family will enjoy. From Disneyland comes Jan Clayton singing the hits from "Carousel," just as she performed them at the Brussels World's Fair this Summer. "A Twist of Lemmon" features flicker star Jack Lemmon playing the piano and singing. It's an Epic release. Gogi Grant is most appealing in RCA's "Welcome to My Heart," and via the same label, dig Eddie Fisher's "As Long As There's Music," his best wax in ages.

COVERING THE CLASSICS: Wagner's "Die Meistersinger," as played by the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra and sung by a group of talented artists, is Angel's operatic gem this month. From Westminster comes a most happy package, "Prokofiev for Fun in Hi-Fi," played by the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra of London.

Two violin concertos, one by Tchaikovsky, the other by Mendelssohn, are played with feeling and brilliance by a newcomer to Angel, Christian Ferras who is accompanied by the Philharmonic Orchestra. Ferras is a tremendously improved craftsman, ready to take his place at the top.

JAZZOMANIA: Atlantic has coupled Milt Jackson and Ray Charles in an exciting adventure in jazz titled "Soul Brothers," a memorial to Charlie Parker. Verve's "Anita O'Day Sings the Winners" is one of those vocal delights from Lady O'Day.

For those who like the sound of the big band, dig "Chuck Gould Plays a la Fletcher Henderson" on Vik. This is an accurate reproduction of the Big Sound of the 1930s.

STEREO-SHOPPING: For those who already own stereophonic equipment, or are considering the new sound medium, here are two fine records with which you can start to build your multiple-sound collection. "A Journey into Stereo Sound" is a special London package which will show off your set and, at the same time, provide a great deal of personal enjoyment. "Fireworks" is an RCA stereo LP which features guitars, but in sounds you've never before heard.
