

Dulles Appeals For Cease Fire

Right Reserved
To Bring Matter
To United Nations

'Equitable Conditions' Urged by Secretary

United Nations, N. Y.—(UPI)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called today for a prompt cease fire and "equitable conditions" to end the fighting in Formosa Strait.

In a major policy speech in the U. N. General Assembly, Dulles said this should "eliminate provocations" and leave for later peaceful solution the Nationalist and Red Chinese claims and counterclaims.

Reserves Right
If current U. S.-Red Chinese talks in Warsaw fail to lead to settlement of the Formosa crisis, Dulles said, "the United States reserves the right to bring this matter to the United Nations."

He said Communist Chinese aggressive moves toward the Quemoy and Matsu islands pose "a grave threat with ominous implications" which endanger world order.

Dulles said the Quemoy issue is "a simple one: Armed conquest."

"There are two indisputable and decisive facts," he said. "These are:

"1. The Chinese Communist regime has never during its nine years of existence exercised authority over Taiwan (Formosa), the Penghu (Pescadores) or the offshore islands.

Using Naked Force
"2. The Chinese Communist regime is now attempting to extend its authority to those areas by the use of naked force."

The United States, Dulles said, hopes that a peaceful solution be found.

"Talks are now going on between the United States and Chinese Communist ambassadors in Warsaw," he said. "We seek a prompt cease fire and equitable conditions which will eliminate provocations and leave for peaceful resolution the different claims and counterclaims that are involved."

Dulles said the U. S. did not ignore the argument that the Chinese conflict is "civil war" or that the offshore islands are physically close to the Chinese mainland.

"But we can scarcely accept the view that nations are entitled to seize territory by force just because it is near at hand," he said.

Three Hearings on Council's Agenda

Three public hearings are included on the city council's agenda for its meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall council chamber.

They concern assessment for the Black Oak dr. trunk water main extending from Country Club dr. to Walden pl., change of zone from single family to limited light industrial for the Lloyd Neilson property on North Pacific highway and the vacation of Priddy st. in the Jackson County Housing authority area.

The council is also scheduled to consider a purchase agreement for acquiring the Frank Humphrey property as a necessary right of way for the extension of Eighth st. across Bear creek.

Another major item on the agenda is financing repair to the floor of the Medford Public Library juvenile department, at a cost of $1,213. The Library's budget can reportedly provide only $1,200 of the total estimated cost of $2,413.

Brownlee Halt Requested Until Fish Gear Workable

Washington—(UPI)—The state of Oregon and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service asked today that no additional units be permitted to operate at Brownlee dam on the Snake river until new-type fish gear at the dam proves workable.

The state and the federal fish agency agreed to continued operations until Oct. 1 of the first generator unit at the dam which is now operating under a temporary permit expiring Friday.

Last Extension
Officials of Idaho Power company, builder of the dam, said the new extension should be the last one needed because installation of fish gear at the dam should be completed by Sept. 26.

"My Need Is Greater Than Yours"

Rogue Basin Study In Final Stages

The Rogue River basin study being conducted by the state water resources board is in its final stages, Malcolm H. Karr, investigations engineer, said yesterday.

Karr explained to a small group of sub-committee chairmen of the Rogue Basin Flood Control and Water Resources association that the investigation does not duplicate the work being done by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and is more comprehensive. The information will be presented as recommendations to the state legislature for basin development.

205 Expected at Gideon Conclave
Pat Zondervan, president of Gideons International, Chicago, will be the principal speaker at the Oregon state Gideons convention to be held in Medford Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Headquarters for the convention will be First Church of the Nazarene, 250 North Holly st., where the majority of the meetings will be held. Zondervan will speak at the Friday evening session which will be open to the public. A banquet will be held Saturday, Sept. 20, at 6:30 p.m. in the Pioneer room of the Jackson hotel.

Gideon Sunday will be observed Sunday at the various valley churches with members reporting to the congregations concerning the ministry of the Gideons and the placement of the Scriptures.

Approximately 250 delegates are expected. The Gideons, a non-denominational group of Christian businessmen, was started in 1898. Some 10 years later the group started distributing Scriptures in hotels. Today, 50 years later, more than 38,000,000 copies of Scriptures have been placed in hotels, motels, hospitals, jails, offices, and given to school children, servicemen and nurses throughout the world. More than 34,000 copies have been distributed in Jackson county.

Water Control
It will consider the water control problem, and reports have given the approximate amount and distribution of water in the basin.

The engineer presented a series of charts and diagrams covering the various phases of the study. One of these was a water yield diagram showing a profile of the basin stream system. It is based on profiles of the U. S. Geodetic Survey and in part by quadrant sheets provided by the corps of engineers.

Development of Basin
A plot of irrigation lands shows development of basin, what lands are adequately irrigated, what farm lands need additional water and what ones have a potential value as farm land. The diagram is based on a bureau of reclamation survey.

Streams in the basin cover a total of 5,200 miles or represent one mile of stream per square mile of basin area. Another chart shows the average rainfall in all years of record. Water and its relation to its economy also is shown.

Another map places boat-launching facilities and recreation sites. A transportation facilities map shows highways, secondary roads, railroad lines and airlines.

Other maps and charts show spawning areas in the basin and the number of fish using them, the flood plain and the area subject to erosion, all existing dams and reservoirs and potential sites for dams and reservoirs as suggested, future water needs, population growth, population forecast and practical power potential.

Specific Sections
The study report is designed to cover the basin generally, and seven specific sections. These include Bear Creek, Applegate, Illinois Valley, Upper Rogue, Little Butte Creek, Middle Rogue and the Lower Rogue river. This, Karr explained, is so a reader of the report will have knowledge of the Rogue basin and be given an over-all picture and

GM, CHRYSLER NEXT UAW TARGETS

Ford Contract Expected To Set Industry Pattern

Reuther, Company Official Pleaded

Detroit—(UPI)—The United Auto Workers, having gained a "non-inflationary" contract from Ford Motor Co., prepared today to turn its famed "whipsaw" on General Motors and Chrysler.

Ford and the UAW agreed to a three-year contract Wednesday about six hours after Ford workers at 86 plants and parts depots throughout the nation walked off their jobs when the negotiators were unable to agree before a strike deadline.

The settlement, expected to set a pattern for 600,000 auto industry workers, gave the union pay hikes totaling 24 cents an hour, improved unemployment benefits, pensions and job security—the matters UAW President Walter P. Reuther called "pressing human needs."

Chrysler Next
The average Ford auto worker's wage now will be more than $2.40 an hour, with night shift workers getting a 10 per cent differential instead of 5 per cent.

Immediately after reaching the agreement, Reuther announced he would show up at the bargaining table of another company, "probably Chrysler."

Top union officials were seeking to get Ford workers back on the job as soon as possible.

Reuther said he expected most of the workers to return today but "some have local problems which must be solved before the workers return."

Both Sides Pleased
The Ford workers will get bonuses of 10 cents an hour retroactive to July 1 under terms of the new contract and 7-cent pay hikes in both the second and third years of the pact.

Both Reuther and Ford Vice President John S. Bugas, chief company negotiator, appeared pleased with the new contract.

It contained unexpectedly generous improvements in supplemental unemployment benefits and pensions. Reuther indicated it was these provisions which caused him to overthrow a UAW convention mandate which banned agreements covering more than two years.

Gilman's, Union Controversy Said In Route Drivers

A controversy which has developed between Gilman's Dairy, Medford, and the Teamsters local union centers around provisions of an agreement concerning route truck drivers, those involved indicated today.

The issue was brought to public attention recently when Gilman's, in a paid advertisement, said "Teamsters' officials gave us an ultimatum to fire our present employees within five days or force them to join the union. We did not comply with this ultimatum."

The agreement is one signed by Robert A. Shaw, secretary of Teamsters Local 962, and Fred Morlan, secretary of the Southern Oregon Fluid Milk

Dairy Operators association. Morlan signed the agreement in behalf of the organization, which is a representative group formed under the framework of the Industry Council.

Represents Dairies
The Southern Oregon Fluid Milk Dairy Operators association represents seven dairies in Jackson, Josephine and Douglas counties, including Gilman's.

Sections of the agreement provide that no milk "will be supplied a peddler unless he is a member of the Union and conforms to the working rules of the local union," and that "No Employer shall sell or lease its routes to any of its employees." The latter section also provides that routes sold to persons other than employees be sold to a purchaser who "will employ routemen subject to the terms and conditions of this agreement."

Vincent N. Smith, manager of Gilman's, said that as far as he can determine "no one has been, at any time, authorized to enter into such an agreement" on behalf of Gilman's. He added that he has notified Teamster officials to that effect.

Claims Not Valid
Smith said the agreement is not a "valid contract." He said the routemen are independent businessmen and are not employees of Gilman's. The routemen, he said, purchase the milk and resell it on their home delivery routes. As independent businessmen, he said, "they are not subject to organization by labor unions."

Shaw said the union sent a letter to Gilman's last June 16 asking arbitration on the alleged violation of terms of the agreement concerning routemen. Shaw was named negotiator in the letter. A second letter, indicating circuit court action to enforce the agreement was sent July 1, he said, but no acknowledgement of either letter was received by the union. No court action has been taken.

Shaw said the union "bent over backwards to avoid any difficulty," and that Gilman's was invited to appear before the Central Labor Council to discuss the problem. The invitation was ignored, he said.

Letter Circulated
A letter to union members, approved by the Central Labor Council, was circulated about two weeks ago. The letter placed Gilman's Dairy on the "unfair list" of the Central Labor Council "because they refused to abide by the terms of the Teamsters Union agreement."

Shaw said the action was taken by the Council after Gilman's ignored another provision of the agreement, which provides for arbitration, and which the union had requested.

Smith said he had "no information from the union about discussions" on the matter. The union still is willing to sit down and arbitrate as provided in the agreement, Shaw said. Smith indicated he also was willing to arbitrate, but noted that he did not believe the agreement was valid.

Gilman's, Shaw said, never sought to terminate the agreement.

Believes It Unfair
Smith said Gilman's believes it is "unfair to fire employees who have served us faithfully for many years. We have never forced any of our employees to join, or not to join, a union."

Union officials noted that one term of the agreement provides that employees become members of the union within 30 days after starting employment.

Shaw said the Central Labor Council took the action it did because it felt obligated to do so since other dairies including Snider's and Jorgensen's in Medford, were abiding by the agreement.

Medford Stores To Close Nov. 11; Activities Slated

The Medford Merchants committee of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce yesterday agreed to close retail stores in Medford Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

Previously, most industries in the valley indicated they would cooperate with a request from the Jackson County Veterans Council and said they would be closed.

The Veterans Council spearheaded a move this year to have area industries and businesses close to observe Veterans Day. Several activities have been planned, including a parade, veterans' breakfasts, armed services displays and a dance.

Theme of Floats
Theme of the floats for the parade is "Comic incidents in the service," according to the Veterans Day committee of the Veterans Council. The parade will include floats and marching units from this area. Committee members said attempts are being made to obtain marching units from military installations along the west coast.

Floats may be entered in one of four divisions. They are veteran and military units, cities and schools of Jackson county, civic, fraternal and non-profit organizations, and commercial. They will be judged only on the humor of the incident portrayed in the float, committee members pointed out.

All cities in Jackson county have been invited to enter floats in the name of the city, committee members said.

The Camp White Domiciliary Color Guard and firing squad will lead the parade, which will form on Eighth st. west of Oakdale ave., proceed to Bartlett st., and go west on Main st.

Military equipment entered in the parade will be on display later in the day, and a reviewing stand will be erected on West Main st.

CASTLE BUILDER—About a load and a half of two-foot firewood, that ordinarily would have been stacked in the usual manner, was turned into a towering three-story castle by Bruce Barnett, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Barnett, 608 Stewart ave., Medford, this summer. Bruce and his friends have slept in the structure many nights and have used it as a spunk observation tower. Though no nails were used to hold the pieces together, the cone-shaped castle is quite sturdy. Bruce explained that the curved shape gives it strength. Bruce is shown above looking out the top story window while his sister, Barbara, looks out from the second story. A ladder inside connects the three levels.

15,098 Students Enrolled; County Gain Is Noted

Jackson county schools have a total enrollment to date of 15,098 students, an increase of 367 students, or a 2.5 per cent countywide gain in school population, according to Jim McDonald, director of public relations for the county school superintendent's office.

McDonald said the figures are an early indication of enrollment trends in the county schools, and no official gain or losses in enrollment can be made until the first quarterly attendance reports are received.

All indications are enrollments will rise during the next few weeks as summer work for students ends. Also, there are two schools yet to open in the Medford school district, the senior high school and the Hoover elementary school.

To date, school districts showing the largest increases in enrollment are Ashland, Griffin Creek, Phoenix, District 6C, which includes Central Point, Sams Valley and Gold Hill schools, Rogue River, Butte Falls, Howard, Medford, Talent and Eagle Point, which includes Shady Cove and Elk-Trail schools.

Other school districts in the county remained about the same as opening week last year, showing only small gains in enrollment.

Soon after the September quarterly reports are in, a more complete and accurate tabulation of enrollments can be made by this office, and at that time, enrollment figures will be released for each school, officials noted.

$170 Taken from Furniture Store

Approximately $170 in cash was stolen from a safe in Lucas and Howard Furniture store, 40 Bush st., Central Point, sometime between 1 p.m. Wednesday and 8:30 a.m. today, according to Jackson county sheriff's deputies.

The safe, weighing 1,600 pounds, was moved from one office to another where several attempts were made to open it. The door of the safe had been pried, authorities said. Nothing else in the safe was disturbed.

Deputies reported that entrance was gained to the building by forcing a rear door. Some of the tools used to open the safe were left at the store, officials said. Some of them belonged to the store.

Long-Haul Truckers Start Work in Area

Long-haul truck drivers here began going back to work today following settlement of the strike-lockout which idled them more than five weeks.

Local Man Recovers From Rescue Try

Sgt. Richard Grigsby, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Grigsby, 613 East Eighth st., Medford, was reported recovering from chill and shock in a Portland hospital today after he was tossed from a life raft in rescue attempts Tuesday at the Swift dam project about 60 miles northeast of Vancouver, Wash.

Sgt. Grigsby, a silver star award winner in Korea, was one of two airmen who manned a life raft which went into a diversion tunnel at the Pacific Power and Light company's project on the Lewis river. They were attempting to rescue Charles R. McGhee, Portland, who was thrown into the mouth of the tunnel when a cable supporting a steel beam he was riding slipped loose.

One man was killed in the mishap, and another was rescued.

Float Down River
Sgt. Grigsby and Lt. Arthur Bennett, 29, both of the Portland air base, floated down the river in the tunnel, but the rubber life raft was swamped and upended.

On his way out of the raft, Grigsby attempted to grab McGhee, but failed. He lost his hold on the raft, and was carried on down the tunnel with only his Mae West life jacket supporting him.

Sgt. Grigsby's parents reported that he was taken to the Portland hospital Tuesday, and was seriously ill Wednesday. He was placed in an oxygen tent, they said. He still was suffering mild shock last night, according to reports.

Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby went to Portland to visit their son. Sgt. Grigsby's wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schumacher, Medford. Sgt. Grigsby lived in Medford until he joined the service.

United Grocers Buy Local Firm

Northwest Grocery company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of United Grocers, Portland, today announced the purchase of the Mason-Ehrman company's Medford operations.

S. Mason Ehrman said his firm would continue its operations in Lewiston and Moscow, Idaho. The firm's Medford and Klamath Falls wholesale grocery operations will be transferred as of Sept. 30, he said.

Willard Durst, president of United Grocers, said the firm would transfer its southern Oregon-northern California operations from Ashland to Medford Oct. 1. Northwest Grocery company will take over the warehouse, merchandise inventory, trucks and all physical assets of Mason-Ehrman.

Durst said better facilities than the company's present warehouse in Ashland have been needed to serve the independent retailers in this area. United Grocers bought Friderger Grocery company in Ashland in 1956.

He said all delivery of merchandise will originate from the warehouse built by Mason-Ehrman less than five years ago. A cash and carry operation will be maintained in Klamath Falls if the necessity for such a service is evident, Durst said. United Grocers warehouse in Ashland will discontinue operation.

Registration Booths Scheduled in Ashland

Two voter registration mobile units will be in Ashland this evening, the Jackson County Democratic Central committee headquarters has announced.

Four Children, Mother Injured In Auto Crash

Four children and the wife of Harold Ottosen, city marshal of Eagle Point, were being treated in two Medford hospitals today following a collision yesterday afternoon involving the station wagon driven by Mrs. Ottosen and a logging truck.

Corla Lee Ottosen, 2, was reported in "poor" condition at Sacred Heart hospital, where she is being treated for multiple skull fractures and a fracture of the right leg.

The accident occurred as Mrs. Ottosen was driving five of her seven children home from a doctor's office in Shady Cove, where Robert Harvey Ottosen, 10, had been taken for an earache.

Robert was in Medford Osteopathic hospital today with a fractured right hand. Mrs. Marie Rittenhouse Ottosen, 40, was being treated there for a fractured right arm.

Charles Floyd Ottosen, 6, was reportedly suffering from a fractured collarbone and "other injuries."

Beverly Sue Ottosen, 1, was "under observation." State police said she had been cut on the head.

Only Elizabeth Ruth Ottosen, 4, escaped without injuries, police said.

The accident occurred about 4:30 p.m. on Highway 62 in front of Stan's market near the junction with Highway 234, state police reported. The logging tractor-truck, pulling a pole trailer with eight logs aboard, was driven by Lee Jasper Thompson, 54, of Route 1, Trail, police reported.

Police gave the following report of the accident: Both vehicles were southbound on Highway 62. Thompson had pulled his truck off the road onto the right shoulder with the intention of making a left turn across the highway into Stan's market.

He told investigating officers he had switched on his turning signals and had checked his rear-view mirror.

Bumper Struck Door
Mrs. Ottosen attempted to cut in front of the truck as Thompson started his left turn. The truck's bumper struck the right door of the station wagon.

The station wagon spun around, struck the truck's left front tire, spun several times and came to a stop 96 feet from the point of impact.

Mrs. Ottosen and her five children were thrown to the pavement along the path of their heavily-damaged vehicle.

Thompson, the truck driver, was unhurt. The truck, owned by Lloyd F. Silva, Grants Pass, received minor front-end damage.

Laura McFall, Mail Tribune correspondent, has begun taking up a collection to assist the Ottosens. She can be reached at the Eagle Point city hall or through P.O. box 164, Eagle Point.
