Stock Market Has Just About Everything It Has Been Wanting

By ELMER C. WALZER UPI Financial Editor

New York — (UPI) — The stock market community has before it on a silver platter just about everything it has been hoping for.

Apparently the automobile industry difficulties are out of the way. The street believes the Ford contract with the union will set the pattern for the whole automobile industry, leaving the way open for a spurt in automobile production which could boom many another industry.

The street has what the stock market apparently discounted, namely a swift recovery from the depths of the recession. The comeback has been announced so far to around 60 per cent of the decline that ended in April.

An auto spurt could lift the business statistics sharply in the final quarter.

The street has wanted and has up to now at least peace on all cold war fronts.

Things Too Good With all these things in favor of the stock market, it would seem to the novice that prices could soar and soar.

But Wall Street worries when things look too good. With everything discounted correctly, what is there left to boom the market?

Earnings and dividends will rise, but this has been anticipated. Employment will rise but this too has been discounted.

This would seem to many market experts as the time for a market decline — a period of profit-taking that could ease some of the recent gains.

Of course, the experts have been wrong on many occasions. Not a few of them made mistakes in guessing the extent of the recent advance that carried industrials to a new record high.

These experts right now are wondering if the Federal Reserve might not apply the pressure of margins a bit more.

Some even are talking about 100 per cent margins which means no margin at all. We had 100 per cent margins once before. They were raised to 100 per cent from 75 per cent on Jan. 21, 1946, and held at that high rate for a little more than a year to Feb. 1, 1947, when they were cut to 75 per cent.

After the margin rise of 1946 to 100 per cent the market had a momentary decline and then it rose again until the industrial average had set a new high since 1930 at 212.50.

Then the market turned down until it touched 161.60 on June 13, 1949. A new bull movement started there.

If one couldn't get margin from his broker because of a 100 per cent margin rule, he could theoretically at least go to a bank and borrow money against his stock and then take the loan and buy more stock.

Banks not long ago were looking around for new places to invest the credit they had available. But recently the Federal Reserve has been soaking up reserves and made this less desirable.

Even without bank borrowing, the market has available vast sums of cash awaiting investment.

The problem here is whether or not a margin hike would tend to keep this money out of the market in the belief that a decline would come to permit investment at more favorable prices.

Anyhow, as the market men view the situation these big sums would be steady influence on the future and prevent a wide-open break.

Then, again, the rise could go on merrily on its way. Wall Street insists it couldn't go on forever and repeats its old adage: "What goes up must come down."

Yank Jet Pilots Ordered To Shoot

Taipeh, Formosa — (UPI) — American jet fighters have been ordered to "attack and kill" Communist planes pouncing on Nationalist supply planes in the Quemoy area, a U.S. military spokesman disclosed Thursday.

Informed military sources said Nationalist and Communist Chinese warships fought a naval battle today. Confirmation of the sea engagement could not be obtained immediately from the ministry of National Defense.

"The U.S. might just follow the Migs to mainland China bases and bomb those bases," Marine Maj. R. G. Martin, spokesman for the U.S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command, said.

Nationalist Sabre jets shot down five Soviet-built MIG-17 jets and probably damaged another in two separate air battles near the off-shore Quemoy Islands, the Nationalist air force announced officially Thursday.

Eastern Oregon Agreement Reached

La Grande — (UPI) — M. Gayle Beals, general manager of Valsert Lumber operations in eastern Oregon, said here on Wednesday night that the firm and the local of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers union had reached agreement in wage negotiations, subject to ratification by members.

The settlement would provide for a 7 1/2-cent hourly pay increase retroactive to Sept. 1; six paid holidays effective June 1, 1959, and with contracts and wage negotiations closed until June 1, 1960.

Beals said "this is welcomed by both employees and the company as it removes any threat of work stoppages." The agreements involves Valsert plants in La Grande, Enterprise, Elgin, and Joseph.

Corvallis — (UPI) — Police have issued an all-points bulletin for Rickey Debus, 20, an Albany grocery clerk, feared drowned in the Willamette river. His bicycle has been found in Corvallis.
