Scout Executive To Visit Medford

Howard Brawn, deputy regional scout executive, of the Boy Scouts of America, will visit the Crater Lake Council this week, according to Judson W. Compton, scout executive of the three-county council.

Brawn, who has been on the regional executive staff for several years, was assigned last summer to serve the scout councils in Oregon following the transfer of Delbert R. Hanks to Dayton, Ohio, as scout executive.

As a member of the field staff of the national Boy Scout council, Brawn will meet with officers of the Crater Lake Council and several operating committee chairmen. He will also attend several regular and special meetings on council and district operation.

The Crater Lake Council is a member-agency of the United Medford Crusade, Ashland-Talent United Fund, and Josephine County United Fund, and holds independent scout campaigns in Siskiyou county and in Jackson county outside of the united fund areas.

Less than 1 per cent of the council's operating budget goes to the national organization as charter and quota fees. Regular service is given through the regional office of the Boy Scouts of America, and special service is given by members of the national council staff.

Brawn's schedule this week will cover the fields of camping, organization and extension, finance, commissioner service, office study and trust fund, according to Compton.
