Judge Millard officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Baskets and sprays of pink and white gladioli made a floral altar for the nuptials.

The bride, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Collman, Cave Junction, chose for her wedding gown a white lace sheath over white taffeta worn with a white satin hat. She carried an orchid.

Mrs. Donald McClure, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of blue taffeta with a pink rosebud corsage.

Best man was Gordon Clayton, brother of the bridegroom.

R. Cloyd Riffe, Roseburg, uncle of the bride, played and sang.

The reception for the immediate families of the couple was also held at the home of Judge and Mrs. Millard. The buffet table was decorated with arrangements of asters and pink tapers. The wedding cake, made by Mrs. Millard, was decorated with clusters of pink Cecile Brunner roses.

Mrs. Gordon Clayton, Ashland, sister-in-law of the bridegroom and Mrs. Riffe, Roseburg, aunt of the bride, served the cake and coffee.

After a short wedding trip, the newlyweds will be at home in Ashland.

Kate Smith Old-Fashioned When Cooking for Guests

By JEANNE LESEM
United Press International

New York—(UPI)—Singer Kate Smith is an old-fashioned hostess when "company's coming."

She likes to serve homemade hot breads and cakes that no packaged mix ever managed to duplicate.

But she's not above ringing in dishes made from canned, frozen or packaged products when time runs short, if the dish itself does not suffer from the short cuts.

The old-fashioned custom of guests dropping in at mealtime without notice—at either her summer home at Lake Placid, N.Y., or her New York apartment — doesn't upset Miss Smith.

"I have always welcomed guests and urged them to stay, because that is the way I was brought up," she said in an interview in connection with her book, "The Kate Smith 'Company's Coming' (Prentice Hall).

Lives on Island

"It is more difficult for guests to drop in on me at Camp Sunshine (her summer home) because I live on an island," she said.

However, a phone call from shore brings her speedboat to the mainland to pick up unexpected arrivals. Then modern devices like deep freezers and convenience foods come to her rescue.

Kate sometimes pitches in to help with the cooking, and she always plans menus, oversees the preparation and selects table settings.

This keeps her pretty busy in the summer, for her mother, sister, and two teen-aged nieces stay at Camp Sunshine, along with guests whose visits may range from a week to

County Rule Explained For Zonta

The contrast between up to date city and outmoded county governments in Oregon was forcefully demonstrated by a skit presented by Medford League of Women Voters for Zonta club Thursday noon.

Mrs. Ben Day then explained the need for a revision of county rule which was established 100 years ago for a rural economy and does not meet modern requirements.

Mrs. Frank Wilson, Mrs. Thomas Goff and Mrs. Fred Danielson appeared in the skit.

Mrs. Thomas Rutter, also of the League of Women Voters, gave the pros and cons for the other bills which will appear on the November ballot.

As is stated in the "Voters Information" pamphlet compiled by the League of Women Voters of Oregon, the group does not endorse or oppose candidates, but does take a stand on issues concerning which members have reached an agreement for desirable legislation. Zonta club members were informed that the league favors the "County Home Rule Amendment" and the bill to raise salaries of the state legislators.

Mrs. Bonnie Wilson, president of the Zonta club was elected delegate to the Zonta International District VIII conference to be held in Boise next month. Mrs. Ireen Grigsby was elected alternate delegate.

Serve canned green beans in orange-butter with baked ham. Heat the green beans and drain. Reheat a few minutes with 2 tablespoons each orange juice and butter and 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind.
