

Latest Vanguard Fails to Enter Projected Orbit

Washington—UPI—The Defense Department announced yesterday, after 24 hopeful hours, that the latest Vanguard rocket failed to achieve either the speed or altitude necessary to place a satellite in orbit.

There was no immediate statement of the cause of the failure. The 72 foot rocket, seventh in the Vanguard series, was blasted from its launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla., at 11:38 a.m. (EDT) yesterday, and apparently spent its 21½ pound payload sphere whirling erratically once or more around the earth.

The department said the satellite vehicle "failed to achieve an altitude or velocity adequate to place it in its projected orbit."

'Consumed by Friction'

The statement added: "After one or at most a limited number of passes around the earth at very low altitudes, the vehicle re-entered the earth's atmosphere and was consumed by friction."

The Navy, however, got definite radio signals in South Africa from this would-be satellite and believes the careening sphere was later picked up by radio stations in Fort Belvoir, Va., and Havana, Cuba, after its first pass around the earth.

No Instrument Reports

The target altitude was 300 miles, while the required speed for a stable orbit was 18,000 miles an hour. The 20-inch sphere carried electronic photographing equipment to determine cloud cover around the world, but in its brief life no actual reports from these instruments were received.

Only one of the seven Vanguard has been successful. Four more of the Vanguard rockets, costing about 10 million dollars each, remained to be fired.

GRANDVIEW Classes Take Field Trip

By LILLIAN KNIGHT

Grandview—For their first field day of the new school year, Lone Pine first graders, with their teachers, Mrs. Opel Guetzlaff and Mrs. Mabel Hundley, visited the home of Mrs. G. R. Crumley on Buckshot rd. to see her parakeets and goldfish. Mrs. Crumley has some 60 birds of different colors.

The trip was made on foot and on the way the two teachers explained the rules of safety while walking on a public road.

After arriving back at the school the children painted milkweed pods to resemble the birds they had seen, which were displayed on the cafeteria bulletin board.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Norris have painted their house, the former C. C. Hoover home, and have added a garage in addition to remodeling the interior. The new color of the house is white with red trim.

Mrs. Fred Stevens, mother of Mrs. William Underwood, Delta Waters rd., came home from the hospital Monday after surgery last week and is recuperating rapidly.

School Textbook Conferences End

Jackson county school teachers and administrators Friday completed a three-day series of meetings concerning the evaluation of educational textbooks.

Committees working on the evaluation will recommend to the state textbook commission mathematics textbooks for state adoption for grades 1 through 12. The adoption period will be for the next six years for use in Oregon public schools.

Two committees, one on elementary textbooks and another on secondary textbooks, have been working in Jackson county.

Committees examine textbooks and materials presented for adoption by publishing companies. Textbooks are checked closely with the Oregon guides and recommendations are made on how well the published materials fit the Oregon program of education.

Dulles Tells Nato Formosa Situation Affects West Too

Boston, Mass.—UPI—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told NATO allies yesterday that surrender to Red China's arrogant demand for the Quemoy and Matsu islands would have serious consequences for western Europe.

He said the islands just off the Red Chinese mainland are the geographic point where the Communists "judge surrender is most likely."

"But nonetheless the principles at stake there are the principles upon which NATO rests," he said. "If they are not valid and not sustained in Asia, it cannot be confidently assumed that they are valid and will be sustained in Europe."

Question of Will

"The strength of NATO and the immunity of the NATO area from aggression depend very largely upon what the Soviet leaders consider to be the will of the United States," he said. "Is the United States, in fact, willing to defend territory other than its own in support of collective security?"

Dulles discussed the Far East crisis in an address prepared for the Atlantic Treaty association, an organization of private groups supporting the North Atlantic treaty.

Collective Security

His theme was that the Far East crisis could not be divorced from the rest of the world. He noted that both Red China and Russia were trying to undermine the principle of collective security by forcing the United States to abandon Nationalist China and get out of the Formosa area.

"If the United States should give in to that arrogant demand in Asia, the consequences would be felt in western Europe," Dulles said.

He reemphasized that the United States wants a peaceful solution in the Formosa strait. But he said that if that principle is abandoned in the Far East "it is undermined everywhere."

He noted that America's NATO partners have a "natural concern" that the United States not become so entangled in Asia that its contribution to NATO's military shield would be damaged. He sought to reassure the NATO nations on that point with the words "we do not expect that to happen." He also assured them the United States "does not expect NATO military support in the Formosa area."

Slash Fire Rages Near Gold Beach

Gold Beach—UPI—A slash fire raged out of control here Friday and burned through some 1500 acres of slash and timber along the south bank of the Rogue river. Protective association for the area, V. V. Young, said about 40 men, four bulldozers and three tankers were battling the blaze late Friday.

Strong east winds that started the flames out of control had begun to diminish by late evening, and Young said that the fire would probably be under control soon.

The fire was about five miles from the city of Gold Beach and burning toward the community, but Young said it posed no immediate threat to the coastal city.

Humidities of 25 per cent aided the flames.

Truck Overtakes, Hospitalizing 36

Woodland, Calif.—UPI—A farm labor truck overturned near here yesterday afternoon, hospitalizing 36 Mexican nationals, the California Highway patrol reported.

Investigating officers said the truck swung onto a soft shoulder and went out of control, throwing the men out on the pavement.

Twenty-four of the nationals were taken to emergency hospital, and 10 of them were transferred to Sacramento County hospital for x-rays.

The driver was identified by CHP as Baltasar Lira Mora, 58, of Broderick. They had been contracted to David Sosa of Clarksburg. Officers said the men had just gotten paid and were on their way into Sacramento when the accident occurred.

The first Soviet vertical take-off jet plane—one without wings or propellers—has been successfully tested, the Russians claim.

Rep. Ullman Praises Klamath Indian Bill

Klamath Falls—UPI—Rep. Al Ullman (D-Ore.), said in a luncheon address here Friday that a "solution to the Klamath Indian termination problem in the 85th Congress was a major accomplishment for Oregon."

Ullman, a member of the Indian Affairs subcommittee and the Interior committee which worked on the legislation, said failure to do so "would have been disastrous to the lumber economy of the region."

He said the compromise measure was "equitable to the Indians, the Klamath Basin, and the American citizens who have a stake in the resources."

Nasser Proclaims Emergency in UAR

Cairo—UPI—President Gamal Abdel Nasser last night proclaimed a state of emergency in the United Arab Republic.

No reason was given for the decree. It was announced by the semi-official Middle East News agency and later confirmed by the government information department.

Nasser also extended his land reform scheme, which takes from the rich and gives to the poor, to the Syrian region of the U.A.R. It was Nasser's most far-reaching project in Syria since Syria joined with Egypt in February to establish the U.A.R.

Monopoly in Merger Will Be Explored

Washington—UPI—Federal Power commission hearings on the proposed merger of the two western natural gas giants, El Paso Natural Gas Co. and Pacific Northwest Pipe Corp. recessed Friday until Nov. 12.

Commission Attorney Alvin Kurtz served notice that he would "explore fully" the monopoly aspects of the merger in cross-examination later.

FPC Examiner Daniel J. Kelly agreed that it would be "impossible to avoid the monopoly question" in the case.

El Paso is the subject of a government anti-trust suit due to go in trial in Salt Lake City Nov. 27. The combining of the two companies would create a huge gas supplier covering the West from Texas to Canada.

ENEMY CAMP

Livermore Falls, Maine—UPI—Ernest Mollicone, 55, almost dropped his pipe when he saw who had joined his two kittens in eating catfood out of a dish on his porch. It was a gray mouse.

SOME PUMPKINS

Columbia, Tenn.—UPI—Pumpkins grow high at the W. S. Fleming home near here—as high as 20-25 feet. One pumpkin fell from its vine and broke the windshield of an auto.

Private Game Lands 'Strongly Opposed'

Salem—UPI—The State Game and Conservation, Inc., the group that initiated the plan, was set up by the son of John Hudspeth, Prineville. The game management corporation claims more than 900,000 acres of private ranch and forested land in central Oregon.

The game commission in listing their reasons for condemning the plan, include the fact that some of the private lands in question make up the winter range for deer. The commission said that winter food is the primary limiting factor of the deer herds, and a balanced harvest of deer from both private and public land is essential for proper management of the game and forage resources.

Ullman, a member of the Indian Affairs subcommittee and the Interior committee which worked on the legislation, said failure to do so "would have been disastrous to the lumber economy of the region."

In detailing the opposition, the state agency said it recognized the right of landowners to protect their property, but added that all citizens have the right to share equally in wildlife resources of Oregon.

INELIGIBLE

Boston—UPI—One of the names stricken from nomination papers by the Massachusetts Ballot Law Commission was "Winston Churchill, 10 Downing St." Chairman Joseph Alecks pointed out that Churchill had left that address.

There is no evidence that the Himalayas and other mountains are still growing.
