They'll Do It Every Time By Jimmy Hatlo

THE M.C. HAS TEN MINUTES TO INTERVIEW FOUR GUESTS. FOUR INTO TEN IS TWO AND A HALF MINUTES EACH... BUT HE DRONES ON AND ON WITH THE FIRST KID...
"JOHNNY, EH? WELL, THAT'S AN ODD NAME! HOW DID YOUR PARENTS MEET? DO YOU KNOW? TELL US ABOUT YOUR GRANDPA—DOES HE EVER TELL YOU IF YOUR DADDY WAS NAUGHTY? WHEN DID GRAND-MAW LOSE HER WISDOM TEETH?"
"UH...YUP...HUH-HUH...WHAT?"
THEN THE REST OF THE KIDS GET THE QUICK BRUSH TREATMENT AND FADE AWAY BEHIND THE COMMERCIAL...
"AND NOW FOR THESE LOVELY PILLS OF MINE... BUT I SEE WE'RE RUNNING OUT OF TIME, SO I SAY GOODBYE, KIDS... AND NOW A WORD FROM OUR SPONSOR..."
THANK AND A TIP OF THE HATLO HAT TO MRS. JIMMY SHREK, LANKIN, NO. DAKOTA

Truman Winds Up Western Swing; Raps Power Lack 14 County 4-H'ers In State Contest

Portland—(UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman left here by air Sunday morning for his Independence, Mo., home and said his reception in the City of Roses was one of the friendliest he had ever experienced.

He was escorted to Portland International Airport by Gov. Robert D. Holmes and C. Girard Davidson, Democratic National Committeeman.

Truman's plane was late from Seattle due to fog and he had a 30-minute wait at the airport.

More Talks Due
In Washington, D. C., the Democratic National Committee announced Sunday that Truman will visit six more states during the next two weeks. Now 74, the Democratic elder statesman's Portland visit ended a West Coast swing through California, Oregon and Washington.

He will be back on the road again Wednesday with a speech at Cheyenne, Wyo.

Truman spoke at a $25 per plate dinner to Oregon Democrats Saturday night and hailed Oregon, a former Republican stronghold, as "one of the leading Democratic states in the country."

He attacked the Republican's power policy and said that since the GOP has been in power it has not "recommended the construction of a single new federal dam in the Columbia valley."

Truman said "the Eisenhower administration's latest budget request for the Columbia power system was less than half the amount requested in the last budget I sent to Congress." He claimed Republican power policies already had set the northwest back 10 years.

Truman had breakfast with Holmes and other Democrats Sunday before boarding his plane.

An estimated 700 persons attended his speech at the Masonic Temple.

Fourteen outstanding club members' records will represent this county in the state contest for national 4-H awards, according to Marlou Garner, county 4-H economic agent.

These 14 members will be competing with 4-H'ers from other Oregon counties, Miss Garner explained. The top ones will be attending a national 4-H club congress this fall.

Patsy Charley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Charley, 2195 Beall lane, Medford, will represent Jackson county in the leadership phase of the state competition. Patsy has served as junior leader in foods and knitting and has assisted the local leader with record books and demonstrations. She is noted for her outstanding leadership during the last six years in such projects as foods, camp cookery, beef, clothing, and knitting.

Carolyn Tiegs, Talent, and Philip Krouse, Applegate, will represent Jackson county in the citizenship section of the awards program.

Carolyn, a 1957 4-H club congress winner in poultry, is completing her eighth year of club work in Jackson county. Her projects have included poultry, dairy, clothing, forestry, entomology, foods and junior leadership.

Philip has done work in such projects as beef, sheep, swine, electricity, tractor, forestry and junior leadership.

Both Carolyn and Philip have taken an active part in the Jackson county 4-H teenage council. Carolyn is president this year and Philip is vice president.

Susan Wright, Medford, and David Woolfolk, Eagle Point, are achievement candidates.

Susan is finishing her seventh year of 4-H work with achievements in foods, clothing, beef, horse, sheep, poultry, outdoor cookery clubs. David's projects over the past eight years have included beef, forestry, tractor, fishing and outdoor cookery.

Representing different projects divisions for state consideration are Jo Anna Mal-loroy in girls' home economics, Antelope, and eight-year club member; Romelle Fossen, Ruch, six-year member; Nyla Murray, Antelope, clothing, with nine years of 4-H experience; and Joan Dobrot, Central Point, home improvement projects. Joan has completed her ninth year in club work and was a participant at national 4-H club congress in Chicago in 1957.

Other project representatives are in boys' agriculture. Bill Hubbard, Antelope, primarily dairy project, a seven-year club member. Truman Elmore, Applegate, will be Jackson county's representative in the swine project with his nine years of club experience.

Jim Frink, Central Point, a seven-year member, will represent the county in the tractor project.

Bill Anhorn and Bob Kuest, both of Central Point, will represent the county in forestry and poultry projects, respectively. Bill has been active in 4-H work for six years and Bob is a five-year member.

"These 4-H club members may be considered for more than one of the aforementioned sections, but their highest degrees of excellence were in the designated areas," Miss Garner said.

Swift Dam Lake Formation To Start
Cougar, Wash.—(UPI)—A 270-ton concrete- and steel gate was to be lowered into place today, sealing of a diversion tunnel, to begin filling the reservoir area behind the Swift Dam with waters of the Lewis river.

The diversion portal has carried the river around the hydroelectric project for two years during construction.

Swift Dam, a Pacific Power and Light Co. project, will be the largest lake in southwest Washington.

Crews Seek To Save Lumber on Barge
Florence, Ore.—(UPI)—Salvage crews worked today to try to save 1,800,000 board feet of lumber aboard a grounded barge near the mouth of the Siuslaw river.

The barge was grounded Saturday after the tug Klihyam sank 300 feet off the jetty. The six crewmen were taken off and the Klihyam was given up as lost.

The tug Natonia tried but failed to pull the lumber barge free. The tug Salvage Chief from Astoria was called and was due on the scene today.
