

Registrations Taken for Classes

Registrations for adult education classes sponsored by the Medford school district will continue this evening through Friday, Lindsay Vinsel, program director, said today.

Registrations may be made by telephoning SP 3-5341, by the education office at the school. Registrations will be taken between 8 and noon Saturday.

Classes include clothing, lampshade, millinery, cake decorating, sculpture, water color painting, public speaking, creative writing, beginning Spanish, leather craft, drawing and sketching, oil painting, general mathematics, slide rule, English, parliamentary procedures, blue print reading, mechanical drawing, art appreciation, upholstery, nurses aide, and preparation and butchering of wild game.

College extension courses, which will start the week of Oct. 6, include constructive accounting, methods and research materials, language arts, the maladjusted child, school law and organization, alcohol studies in school curriculum, fundamental body movement, posture and tumbling.

Preparation and butchering of wild game is scheduled for

Portland Zoo To Close Until April

Portland —(UPI)— The new Portland zoo will be closed to the public until next April because of lack of funds for policing.

Harry Buckley, superintendent of Portland parks, said funds are exhausted for policing the new zoological gardens, even on week ends. Since early summer the city has permitted visitors into the colorful park on week ends even though construction was still underway. Buckley reported that some visitors had damaged the plastic winter coating on the streamlined train Zooliner that is now out of operation for new track construction.

It was reported earlier that a 10-year-old girl, Dixie Allen of Portland, suffered a severe bite on her hand when she approached too near a chimpanzee housed in a portable cage in the center of the main zoo building. The chimp has since been moved.

POLISH EDITOR DIES

Chicago —(UPI)— John K. Mostubala, 58, executive editor of the Polish Daily News, died Tuesday.

READY FOR CLASSES—Negro students present a mass of smiling faces as they arrive at Booker T. Washington High School in Norfolk, Va., to attend classes as usual. During the present integration crisis, most hitherto segregated schools have been closed in an effort to stall integration in them, and most of the remaining schools that are still open are the Negro schools.

CENTRAL POINT Political Rally Planned

Central Point —(UPI)— A political rally will be held Oct. 16 at the Central Point Junior High school gymnasium.

Working together to put on the rally are PTA groups from the A. J. Hanby school and the Margaret E. Patrick school, Gold Hill, Sams Valley school, H. P. Jewett school at Central Point and the Central Point elementary and junior high schools.

From the candidates for governor on down, political candidates have been invited to take part. Each candidate is to limit his speech to two minutes with the Central Point Junior High school pep band acting as time keeper.

Following the program, candidates will be available for interviews. Bill Abbott will be master of ceremonies and Stanley Parrish will give the invocation.

The PTA units invite everyone interested to attend this public affair. Coffee and cookies will be served. Each PTA mother attending is asked to bring a dozen cookies to the rally.

The Crater High school Future Farmers of America held a meeting last Monday in the Agriculture department of the school. Allan Barnes, chapter president, led the meeting. Following a discussion period, the boys voted to purchase a new tractor and plow. Earlier this fall, a new mower had been purchased by the Crater FFA chapter. Don Denning reported that a motion was entertained to build an implement shed near the vocational agriculture department to house the farm equipment. At the present time the farm machinery is not housed during the winter.

The motion, which had not been investigated or proposed to the executive council, was reported to a committee of seven men appointed by the president. It was decided that the Crater chapter would send a delegate to the National FFA convention due to the fact that the treasury funds were not sufficient for the purchase of the new equipment. Mike Redmond, treasurer, reported that it would cost two hundred dollars to send two boys to Kansas City. The national FFA convention will be held there in early October.

The Crater High school FFA chapter now has an enrollment of 96 members, of which 47 are freshmen, making it the second largest in the state of Oregon. The Ag. I boys are studying a unit on "The Farm Tractor." Ag. II classes are working in farm shop, Ag. III boys are studying "soils and managements" and Ag. IV students are studying "ag. math, and farm management."

Charles A. Meyer, principal of Central Point elementary and junior High school, reported that all boys going out for football will be home by 5 p.m. Boys will not practice longer than one and one half hours and all state requirements will be met by the school.

The Central Point Junior High school football schedule for the month of October is as follows: Oct. 2, South Grants Pass Junior High school, there at 3:30 p.m.; Oct. 10, McLoughlin Junior High school there at 3:30 p.m.;

Two Drivers Cited Following Accident

Two people were cited by state police yesterday following an accident involving three cars on Highway 238 about two miles west of Medford.

Cars involved were operated by Dorothy Hollis, 28, Jacksonville; Richard G. White, 102 Fifth st., Jacksonville; and Harold LeRoy Larkin, route 1, box 314A, Medford, according to police.

They said the car operated by Larkin stopped quickly in front of the one operated by Dorothy Hollis. The latter, in stopping, swerved into the oncoming car driven by White, and struck the rear of Larkin's vehicle, police noted.

No one was injured, they said. Police cited Dorothy Hollis for having no operator's license, and Larkin was cited for improper signal.

Brownlee Fish Barrier Not Ready

Portland —(UPI)— A net barrier for downstream migrant fish at the Brownlee dam on the Snake river was not ready for use Tuesday afternoon but Dr. L. Edward Perry, federal coordinator of the middle Snake program for Northwest fisheries agencies, said it would be completed in "a short time."

The Federal Power commission waived a license requirement that fish protection facilities be completed and in operation before the starting of turbines at the Idaho Power company dam site. The waiver expires today.

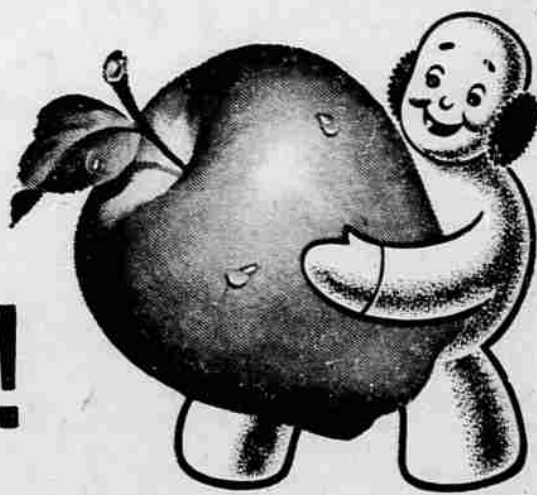

Dr. Perry, reporting to his Portland office from Brownlee, said indications were that Idaho Power was not planning to put a second Brownlee generator on line today.

Perry said the situation at the Oxbow dam site was much "improved" with 805 Chinook using an emergency fish ladder and trap. The salmon were caught and transported around the construction site to continue their spawning run up the Snake river.

A controversy over the Oxbow fish trap grew out of charges by Oregon Gov. Robert D. Holmes that the fish passage facilities provided by Idaho Power at the Oxbow site had been inadequate.

RIVER BOAT SINKS
Rio De Janeiro —(UPI)— Officials said today five persons drowned Tuesday when a river boat carrying 30 passengers sank in a sudden storm on the Madeira river.
