

Portland, SF Push Fair Plans

Portland—UPI—Both Portland and San Francisco are going ahead with plans for their trade fairs in 1959 regardless of conflicting dates.

San Francisco's decision came in a letter to Portland Mayor Terry D. Schruk from the Bay city's mayor, George Christopher.

"I personally see no conflict between the two fairs because persons and exhibitors coming west can attend both," Christopher said.

The letter which reached Schruk's office Monday also bore the admission that Portland's fair "appears to be under civic sponsorship." The San Francisco fair will be privately sponsored.

Dates set for the San Francisco fair are June 4 to 14, which will overlap with the Portland fair which begins June 10.

Mayor Schruk sent Mayor Christopher a protest letter last week.

Schrunk said his chief concern was for exhibitors. He said the two fairs will work a hardship on foreign countries. "They may find it hard to choose," he said.

U. S. Marines Land Big Guns on Quemoy

Taipei, Formosa —UPI—United States Marines landed on Quemoy with eight-inch howitzers and turned them over to Nationalist Chinese artillerymen, informers sources in Taipei said Tuesday.

The sources said the Marines landed the self-propelled eight-inchers at night about 10 days ago and set them in position where Nationalist gunners could reply to Red artillery that has pounded the Quemays since Aug. 23.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry, without mentioning any new type of guns, reported today Nationalist artillery destroyed 13 Communist guns and four fortifications Monday.

The American-supplied weapons, described as deadly accurate and with a range sufficient to hit any of the Communist gun emplacements shelling Quemoy, were installed during a barrage by the radar-controlled Red artillery but there were no American casualties.

The U.S. Indian school in Phoenix, Ariz., has students from almost 20 tribes.

Georgia-Pacific Signs For 5-Cent Wage Boost

Portland—UPI—An agreement for a five-cent hourly pay increase for some 3000 members of the International Woodworkers of America employed by Georgia-Pacific Lumber company was announced Tuesday.

Portland Vetoes Driver Training

Portland—UPI—The Portland school board has refused to institute behind-the-wheel driver training in city high school curricula. Board members said they did not consider such training a proper function of the schools.

The state Legislature has provided a fund of $20 per child for driver training in the schools but Portland school authorities estimated the training would cost closer to $50 per child per year.

The board stood firm against the arguments of such organizations as the Highway Lifesavers committee which called the program a vital step in the direction of traffic safety.

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual report. The Family Council does not give advice; it merely reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Elsie R.—I don't want to repeat the mistake.
Bob G.—I don't want her to deceive my friend.

Elsie R.—I am engaged to be married in two months. My boy friend had to go to another part of the country in connection with a job-training program and I stayed home with my parents to wait for his return.

His friend took me out several times, and I appreciated his attentiveness. We forgot ourselves one night in his apartment, but I resisted all his efforts to repeat the occasion. Even though I slipped once, I do not want to be promiscuous and unfaithful to Ed.

Now his friend, evidently bitter at me because I will not continue the relationship with him, insists I am no good and I have no right to marry my boy friend. He threatens to tell about the illicit incident in order to prevent the marriage, but he still keeps calling me, asking me to go out with him and making demands on me. I am at a loss as to how to deal with this situation.

Bob G.—I want to break up this marriage before it takes place because I do not want my friend hurt. The night Elsie stayed with me was no accident. I contrived it because I suspected Elsie could not be faithful, and I proved my point.

I would have no further interest in Elsie if she did not insist that she still intends to go ahead with the marriage. I do not want her to deceive my friend.

The last thing in the world I want to do is to tell Ed that I had an affair with his girl, and I would not tell him anything about it if she would agree to break off with him. I feel she is being brazen because she thinks I am bluffing. In a way I am, but I may be forced to make good on my bluff.

I am convinced that if Elsie thought I just wanted to play around with her some more, she would have no scruples about going ahead with me.

The Council—Elsie has certainly gotten herself involved with a queer character.

Bob has enough things wrong with him for him to be far more concerned about himself than his friend.

He is obviously badly upset because Elsie puts her purple evening with him in the category of a dumb mistake. He would prefer that she attach more importance to his role in her life.

In addition to his extreme egotism, Bob suffers from a highly overdeveloped strain of hypocrisy. He cannot give up the pose of sacrificing his morals to save his friend from a bad marriage. We wonder how this do-gooder would feel if he knew someone else were obliging him in a similar manner.

Elsie has been too wishy-washy in her handling of this extremely difficult and mixed-up character. She must tell him off very plainly and refuse to talk to him further. She would be running a risk, but she has no alternative.

Elsie has made a stupid mistake and is now forced to take a bold risk. There is no way for her but to throw this man out of her life for good. (Copyright 1958, General Features Corp.)

John Day's Exploit Recounted in Paper

The latest exploit of John Day, Medford rancher, hunter and mountain-climber, was recounted in the Portland Oregonian's "B-Mike" column this week.

Day, who began mountain climbing less than two years ago, was visiting at Red's Horse Ranch near Cove in the Wallowa mountains last week, when he decided to hike to the back country near Steamboat lake, a trip which usually takes three days.

"B-Mike" reported that he was accompanied by "Red" Higgins, ranch proprietor, on horseback, and they left at 5 a.m., returning 17 hours later after Day had hiked 56 miles, 20 of it through snow.

Higgins said a horse had to be pushed hard to cover 20 miles in this mountainous area in a day.

Day has climbed 32 major mountain peaks in the last 14 months, most of them in the Cascades and Sierras.

Studebaker 'Lark' Auto Introduced

South Bend, Ind. — (UPI) — Studebaker — Packard Tuesday announced a new, smaller car and said it would be called the "Lark" by Studebaker.

Studebaker-Packard President Harold E. Churchill said the "Lark" would join the "Silver Hawk" as the company's offering for 1959.

The first of the "Larks", he said, began rolling off the assembly line Tuesday.
