Analyst Has Simple Answer For Questions on Stock Market

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

New York - (UPI) - Questions are flying thick and fast these days in market circles, concentrating on whether the market is going up, whether it is too high, whether one ought to sell stocks here, and whether one ought to buy stocks here.

D. Moreau Barringer, chairman of the Delaware Fund and Delaware Income Fund, has come up with the answer to all four of these most asked questions with a simple "yes."

He explained in a recent address before the financial analysts of Philadelphia that some stocks will go up, some are too high, some ought to be sold here and some ought to be bought here.

Here are his conclusions:

1. Do you think the market's going up? "The market for those issues particularly identified in the public's mind with inflation protection or with growth, will probably go up from here."
2. Do you think the market's awfully high? "Yes. The Dow-Jones Industrial Average looks to be earning no more than $28 this year, and is currently selling for more than 18 times that figure. "In 1957, it averaged 13 times earnings for that year. And in the years preceding 1957 it averaged 15, 12, 12, and 10 times its then current rate of earnings. "There isn't any law that says a ratio of 18 is out of bounds, but I think most people will agree it's pretty high."
3. Don't you think I ought to sell stocks? "Yes. I would sell stocks of stagnant industries or unimaginatively managed companies."
4. Shouldn't I buy more stocks here? "Yes. I would buy stocks the public will want. I think they would include the extractive and basic industries in general - starting with steel - and those manufacturing industries dealing with modern and developing arts and sciences - data processing, electronics, the perennial chemicals, and so on."

Barringer says, he's not bearish on the market and he's bullish on certain categories.

Indexes Linked
"This figure which has risen from about 20 cents in 1953 to about 26 cents in 1955, dropped a little in 1956, rose again to 25 cents in 1957, and then slumped to under 19 cents in the first half of 1958. "It may be worth noting that 18 times $37.50 is 675."

Korean Vets May Change Insurance Policies Soon

More than 685,000 Korean conflict veterans will soon be able to convert their previously non-convertible term GI insurance to permanent GI policies, S. T. Brannock, officer in charge, Medford, Veterans administration office, said today.

The affected term GI policies, Brannock explained, are identifiable by the letters "RS" which precede the policy numbers.

Beginning next January, a new statute will provide the thousands of "RS" policyholders with three options:

1. To convert their "RS" term policies to permanent plans of GI insurance.
2. To exchange their "RS" term policies for a "limited convertible" term policy carrying a lower premium rate, but which after Sept. 1, 1960 - can not be renewed by persons who have passed their 50th birthday.
3. To keep their "RS" term policies at the currently established premium rates, which increase every five years.

Maximum Amount
The maximum amount of the new-type insurance will be limited in each case by the face amount of the veteran's present "RS" policy.

Brannock listed the types of permanent insurance to be available under the new law as ordinary life, 20-pay life, 30-pay life, 20-year endowment, endowment at age 60, and endowment at age 65.

The new type policies-like the "RS" policies they will replace-will not yield dividends. However, cash surrender, and loan values will apply. Only "RS" policyholders will be affected by the new law. It does not reopen GI insurance, Brannock warned.

Complete information about the conversion or exchange of "RS" insurance will be available at all VA offices by Dec. 1, 1958, Brannock stated.
