Two Officials Conduct Study Of Local Dust

Mop-wielding housewives might well be appalled at the activities of two officials here last week. These men were actually setting out, with the latest in scientific equipment, to gather dust.

Orie Moore, a sanitarian with the Jackson county health department, and Ted Gerow, sanitary engineer with the state air pollution authority, were measuring the amount of dust floating in the local atmosphere as part of a statewide study.

Two measuring devices were installed, one atop City Hall and one at the airport. For one week, these devices sucked air through glass-fibre filters that winnowed out dust particles. Moore and Gerow checked them daily and installed new filters.

Total weight of the particles on the filter, along with the volume of air that bore them and the elapsed time, yields figures for the amount of dust per cubic foot.

Parts of the dust-choked filters are analyzed by various chemical means to determine the nature of the dust.

A report on the air-pollution situation here with recommendations for its improvement is expected by the end of the month, Gerow said. Such recommendations, he said, are helpful to communities interested in drawing up an ordinance to control pollution.

Gerow said that cities are encouraged to conduct long-term studies on their own to develop more accurate data. But, he said, such programs can be expensive.

Ike Answers Attack On Formosa Policy

Washington—UPI—President Eisenhower yesterday bluntly told Democratic opponents of his controversial Formosa Strait policy that their attacks might make a war "almost inevitable."

He took this stand in a blistering letter to Chairman Theodore Green (D-R. I.) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee. Green, in a letter to Eisenhower on Sept. 29, had voiced doubt that the American people or U. S. allies would support military action by this country to defend Quemoy island just off the Chinese mainland from Red Chinese attack.

"The President, obviously ranked by Green's criticism, replied in an 800-word letter that he 'deeply deplores the effect upon hostile forces of a statement that if we became engaged in battle, the United States would be defeated because of disunity at home.'"

"If that were believed, it would embolden our enemies and make almost inevitable the conflict which, I am sure, we both seek to avoid, provided it can be avoided consistently with the honor and security of our country," Eisenhower said.

British Jets Begin Service Across Atlantic

New York—UPI—Two sleek British airplanes blazed a new trail over the Atlantic yesterday with the first commercial jet passenger flights. One British Overseas Airways corporation Comet IV set an Eastbound passenger plane record of 6 hours and 12 minutes. It left New York at 7:01 a.m. EDT and landed in London at 1:13 p.m. EDT.

The other Comet made the trip from London to New York in the elapsed time of 10 hours and 20 minutes, including a refueling stop of 1 hour and 10 minutes at Gander, Nfld. The plane left London at 4:55 a.m. (EDT) and landed at New York's Idlewild International airport at 3:15 p.m. (EDT).

The actual flying time from London to New York was 9 hours and two minutes. This fell short of the mark of a Pan American World Airways 707 jet plane that arrived at Idlewild airport on a shakedown flight from London in a flying time of 7 hours and 58 minutes.

The Pan American plane left London at 6:42 a.m. (EDT) and landed here at 3:40 p.m. It made a fueling stop of 1 hour and 18 minutes at Keflavik, Iceland. The flights trimmed the average time of the conventional propeller-driven, piston-engine planes by about one third.

The Eastbound piston-engine flights usually take about 10 1/2 hours and the Westbound usually take about 13 hours. Democrats and Republicans will join forces with the league to present state, county, and city candidates to Jackson county voters on a face-to-face basis, Mrs. Rutter emphasized.

State and county candidates will have individual booths so voters can meet and question them. Judicial candidates will share a "nonpartisan" booth, and city candidates will also share a central booth. Set for 8 p.m., the fair will be held in the gymnasium of Hedrick Junior High school.

Three Fires Spread In California Brush

Medford Youth Killed By Bullet On Hunting Jaunt

Frankie Elmer Lane, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert H. Lane, 2984 Buckshot rd., Medford, was fatally injured in a hunting accident about 8 1/2 miles northeast of Medford about 1 p.m. Saturday, state police and sheriff's deputies said.

The accident happened between the Roxy Ann and Little Roxy Ann where a party of three boys were resting. The scene was uphill from the junction of Coker Butte and Foothills rds. Officers said young Lane was shot in the lower abdomen by Earl Thomas Dalton, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Dalton, of 1900 Spring st., Medford, who was checking the safety device when it discharged.

The gun was a Winchester 30-30 caliber rifle. Police said the boys stopped to rest along a power line. Young Lane and Dalton were sitting across from each other. When they prepared to leave, and before Frankie Lane got up, young Dalton was going to check his gun. He pulled the hammer back, officers said, to see if it was on safety. Apparently the boy's hand slipped and the rifle discharged.

Officers said young Lane died soon after he was wounded. John Walter Stroup, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stroup, of 2924 Buckshot rd., Medford, the third member of the party, was a witness, officers said. Both Dalton and Stroup had guns, police said, but young Lane did not.

The incident was reported to police by Mrs. F. W. Nelson, who said there was a shooting to the rear of her place near the Coker Butte and Foothills rds. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Conger-Morris, funeral directors.

U. S. Supporting NAACP's Petition

Little Rock, Ark.—UPI—The Federal government joined the National Association for Colored People yesterday in an effort to have the Little Rock school board forbidden to let a corporation have four closed high schools for private, segregated operation.

The government went to the court in support of a petition for injunction by the National Association for Advancement of Colored People. More than 3,000 high school children in Little Rock were to begin their sixth week without classes Monday.

The school board is now under an Eighth Court of Appeals restraining order, which it handed down last Monday. The restraining order, expiring Monday, forbids the school board to turn the schools over to the Little Rock private school corporation.

The appeals court, meeting in St. Louis Monday, will hear the NAACP's and government's petitions to make the restraining order an injunction, which is a legal instrument of more forceful and lasting nature.

The decision of the court is the next landmark in the Little Rock integration crisis. It is generally expected to be in favor of the NAACP. The Little Rock private schools corporation, which is taking contributions to establish classes in private buildings and homes, is waiting until Monday to see what the court does before trying to put its new plan into operation.

The corporation leased the four high school buildings, hoping to use them. But the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals stopped transfer of the buildings with the restraining order to the school board.

Fire authorities estimated this blaze, which has destroyed eight homes and millions of dollars of precious watershed, had a perimeter of 66 miles, two-thirds of which is raging unchecked.

The other third was generally along the south side of the fire where homes, many of them expensive estates, have been built up into the mouths of numerous canyons which range parallel to each other along the San Gabriel foothills. This is the side which fire spokesmen said now was "pretty well contained" by the mass firefighting equipment concentrated there.

At Least A Thousand Men The uncontrolled sections were mainly to the north and east in unpopulated areas of the upper foothills and canyons about one-quarter of a mile from dwellings. At least a thousand men were on the lines.

Fire chiefs heading units which poured in here from throughout the state after the Governor declared this a "disaster" area Friday, declined after another day of heat-wave conditions to estimate when it might be controlled. Temperatures ranging into the 100s again yesterday in many areas, with Los Angeles, some 30 miles west, recording 99.

Pacific T. & T. Plans Exhibit Of Center Here

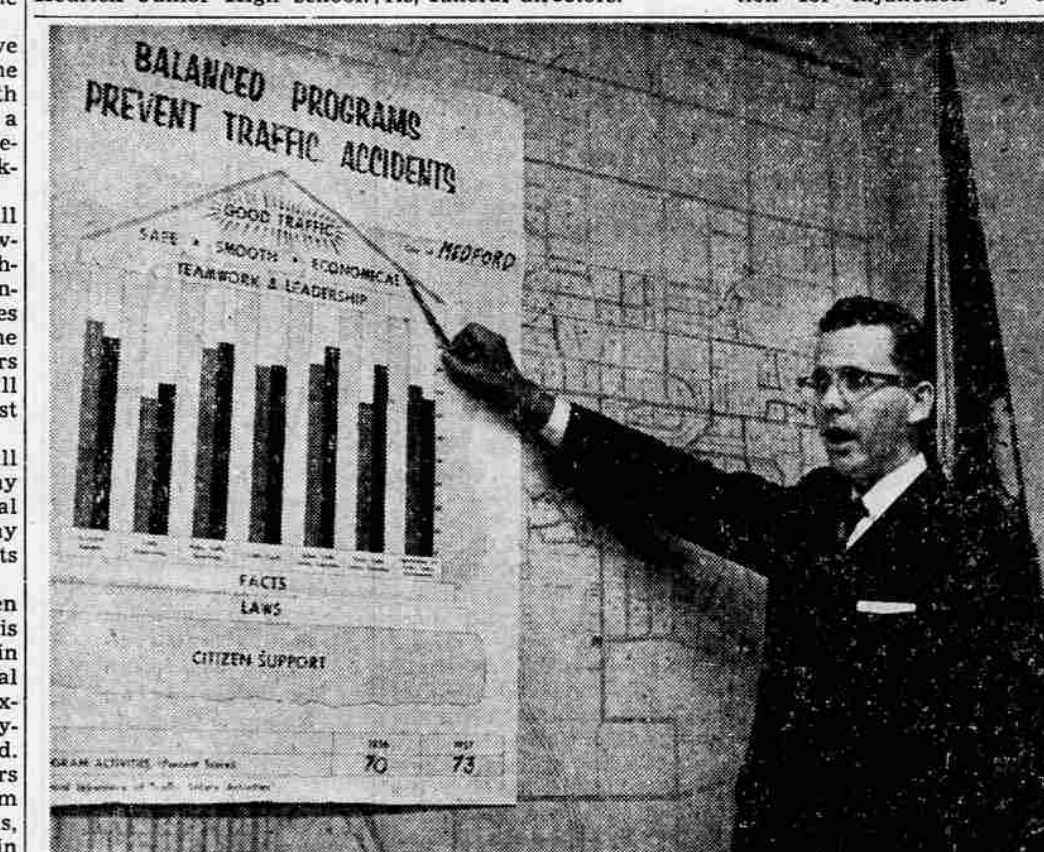

An open house and tent show at Pacific Telephone's Medford central office at 502 North Central street October 22, 23 and 24, has been announced by J. H. Creager, the company's manager here.

"It's the first time that we have been able to invite the general public into our North Central building to take a look behind scenes at the telephone nerve center for Jackson county," Creager said. Open house visitors will have the opportunity of viewing the complex dial switching equipment in the central office and hearing guides explain its operation.

The switchover where operators handle long distance calls will be another point of interest on the guided tours. In addition, a huge tent will be set up in the company parking lot next to the central office. It will hold an array of special telephone exhibits and demonstrations.

Invitations to the open house are in the mail this week to telephone users in Medford, Ashland, Central Point, Jacksonville, Phoenix-Talent and Gold Hill. Everyone is invited Creager added. He said open house hours on the three days will be from 4 p.m. in the afternoons, and from 6:30 to 9 p.m. in the evenings.

Traffic Safety Inventory Recommends Improvements

The "Annual Inventory of Traffic Safety Activities" for 1957 presented to Medford officials Thursday includes a series of recommendations for improvement of the local traffic safety program. The inventory, a study prepared by the National Safety Council and other national safety organizations, was discussed by Edward J. Warmoth, manager of the traffic safety division of the state department of motor vehicles.

Warmoth emphasized a number of the inventory's recommendations, including one for a pedestrian safety enforcement program accompanied by "intensive public safety education activity." Another recommendation of particular interest is for an increase in off-street parking facilities.

With respect to police traffic supervision, it is suggested that the total strength of the city police force be increased in proportion to population growth and that efforts be made to concentrate police control at critical locations and at critical times during the day. Three recommendations are submitted for public traffic safety education. These included maintaining a scoreboard on the current traffic toll, displaying traffic safety posters and devoting more time to planning in the light of local accident records. Three recommendations are made also for school programs, among them one that six hours of practice driving instruction be given in addition to 30 hours of classroom instruction for all eligible students.

Safety Award For Schools Here

A certificate of achievement for school traffic safety education in the Medford schools has been announced by the Medford Safety Council. The presentation of the award will be made at special ceremonies scheduled for October 17 in Medford.

Governor Robert D. Holmes is expected to make the presentation on behalf of the National Safety Council. The achievement award is made by the national council on the basis of the annual inventory of traffic safety activities for 1957.

The inventory was reviewed by a national committee of specialists in school safety education who rated the Medford report at 84 per cent of currently recommended performance. This is reportedly one of the highest ratings awarded for cities in its class.
