Pontiff Remains 'Gravely Ill,' Vatican Advises

Paralysis Gone, Bulletin Claims

Castel Gandolfo, Italy — (UPI) — A Vatican spokesman reported "concern" over the condition of Pope Pius XII tonight following a slight increase in his temperature, blood pressure and pulse rate.

Castel Gandolfo, Italy — (UPI) — Pope Pius XII regained his full mental powers and his power of speech today in another surprising comeback from the brink of death but a high Vatican official cautioned that the frail 82-year-old pontiff remained "gravely ill."

A medical bulletin this morning said the Pope passed a generally good night, despite a brief recurrence of hiccups, regained use of his senses, took some food and continued to improve. It added there were no signs of paralysis.

Unpredictable Battle
But it still was an unpredictable battle between life and death for the spiritual leader of the world's 450 million Roman Catholics. He suffered a stroke and a "kidney crisis" Monday morning.

Four doctors who have attended him at the papal summer villa here in the Alban Hills south of Rome since Monday appeared to be waiting cautiously to see if the Pope's remarkable recovery was a genuine improvement or the result of the pontiff's own formidable stamina and will power.

Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini, one of the doctors attending the Pope, said no prognosis (forecast of the course of a disease and the outlook afforded by this) could be made for another two or three days. Medical experts feared a second stroke might be fatal.

Millions of persons around the world, praying for the Pope's recovery, drew encouragement from the wording of this morning's medical bulletin.

It said that his condition "on the whole continues to improve," that he was lucid following periods of unconsciousness Monday, and that his temperature, pulse and respiration were normal.

Church sources added that the Pope received holy communion this morning following a mass said in the chapel adjoining his second floor bedroom.

State Veterinarian Expected to Quit

Portland — (UPI) — Dr. Kermit J. Peterson, state veterinarian since 1953, was reported today to be resigning as an outgrowth of a controversy over administration of the state livestock disease control and meat inspection programs.

In Salem State Agriculture Director Robert Stewart said he has had no official word that Peterson was resigning but that "if he has I will accept."

Off Street Parking Topic for Meeting

Off street parking will be discussed at a special meeting sponsored by the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Jackson hotel, Otto J. Frohnmayer, president, has announced.

Warren Spahn Named To Go for Braves Wednesday

Milwaukee — (UPI) — Warren Spahn, who already has won two games, was named by Manager Fred Haney today to pitch the sixth game of the World Series for the Milwaukee Braves Wednesday.

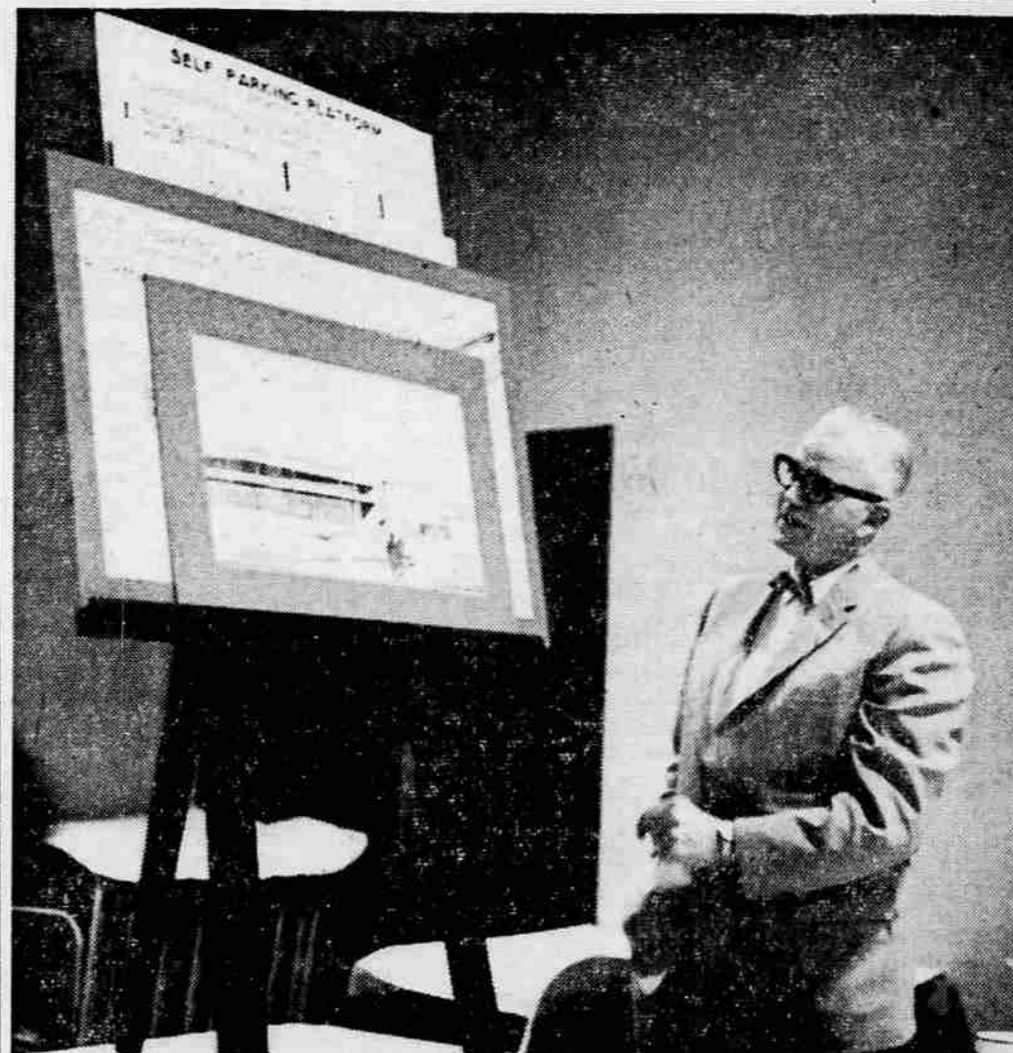

Spahn beat the New York Yankees in the first game in Milwaukee last Wednesday, 4-3, in 10 innings, and then downed the New Yorkers with a two-hitter Sunday, 3-0.

Although the 37-year-old Southpaw ace, will have had only two days' rest, Haney decided to go with him rather than take a chance on big Bob Rush who lost a three-hitter to the Yankees Friday.

"I asked Warren if he thought he could close it out for us," Haney said as he announced Spahn's selection. "And he told me, 'I'd sure like to try.'"

Haney added that "I'll have my other 10 pitchers all in the bullpen."

Larsen or Duren
Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees, trailing the Braves three games to two, was to name his pitcher later in the day. It was expected to be Don Larsen, who beat Rush in the third game, or Ryne Duren, his right-handed relief specialist.

DESCRIBES PLAN—Robert J. Keeney, Medford architect, explains his proposal for a multi-level parking platform above the Southern Pacific tracks at yesterday's luncheon of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce roundtable. Mayor John Snider, city councilmen and Keeney himself are interested in public reaction to the plan. A "straw vote" of the approximately 40 people at the luncheon showed a majority to be favorably impressed.

Rental Value of Mansion on List, Governor Claims

'10-Day Letter' Received From IRS

Little Rock, Ark. — (UPI) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus charged today that the federal government is trying to nail him for income tax evasion extending as far back as 1954.

"They are trying to charge me with rental value of the mansion and the grounds, with the salary of the servants, which is appropriated by the Legislature, and for the maintenance which is appropriated for use by the mansion," he said.

Couldn't Buy Socks
"Those three items alone: If I had to pay them out of my salary, I wouldn't have enough left to buy a pair of socks."

Faubus makes a salary of $10,000 a year as governor. He said at a news conference that the government has been investigating him for a year.

Faubus has steadily resisted federal efforts to integrate Little Rock's high schools under a Supreme Court order.

"I have recently received what is known as a 10-day letter from Internal Revenue. It demanded payment of tax on the fair rental value of the mansion, which was estimated at $17,000; on servants' salaries, about $12,000, and the mansion maintenance fund, appropriated by the Legislature, about $9,000," Faubus said.

Tax on Gift Automobile
He said the government wanted tax paid on every voluntary advertisement printed by his paper, a weekly, whether the advertisement was paid for by other persons or not.

In addition, he said, the government wanted taxes on a Mercury automobile given to him and Mrs. Faubus in 1954, as a gift, by friends and supporters in Huntsville, Ark., their home town.

The amounts were: 1954, $20,983.39; 1955, $41,092.33, and 1956, $43,423.43.

Others Contacted
"If I had to pay on all of that, I'd have to move out of the mansion and erect a sign saying, 'Closed by order of the federal government,'" Faubus said.

"As governor, my salary ($10,000 a year) would be insufficient to pay the tax," Faubus said he had telegraphed the other 47 governors, asking whether the government was trying to charge them for their mansions and living expenses.

Taxes on White House
He said "several" had replied and none has said the government is after him to pay taxes.

"If such demands are made on a governor, then the same demands should be made on the President for the use of the White House," he said.

Other projects now planned or considered include historical markers on sites in and around Ashland; publication of a Centennial brochure describing these sites and showing them on a map; Centennial pageants in Ashland schools in February and March; a Centennial issue of the Daily Tidings on the state's birthday, Feb. 14, and a Centennial column through the year, and a Centennial assembly at Southern Oregon college Feb. 11.

Red Chinese Move Big Guns Into Place

Taipei — (UPI) — The Communists silenced their blockade batteries only to give them time to move giant 12-inch siege guns into place opposite the Quemoy and Matsu islands, intelligence reports indicated today.

The Communists have so far kept their promise to suspend the bombardment of the Quemoy for a week despite the refusal of the Chinese Nationalists to meet their terms.

The Defense ministry announced, however, that observation posts in the outpost islands saw "large Communist troop and vehicular movements" around the silenced shore guns Monday.

Sources on Quemoy told UPI Correspondent Robert C. Miller, the only foreign newsmen on the scene, that Russia has delivered highly accurate, long-range 12-inch guns to the Red-held coast.

34.5 Per Cent of Campaign Goal Reached by UMC

Dick Travis, United Medford Crusade campaign chairman, reported yesterday that $45,151, or 34.5 per cent of the $131,030 goal, had been collected.

The total is about $4,000 more than was collected at this time last year, he noted at yesterday's weekly report meeting.

Leading the divisions in collections is the public employees division, headed by Elliott Becken, with 84 per cent of its goal. Other leading divisions are Larry Clark's special gifts, 73 per cent; Dr. Frank Wilson's professional, 52 per cent; Russ Hogue's lumber, 43 per cent; and Jack Creager's service division, 42 per cent.

Three division leaders, who have reported low collections, were "arrested" by Medford Police Capt. Clyde Fichtner. They were Fred Robinson, commercial division, Jim Ragland, retail, and Ray Menke, distribution. Their collections totaled 5, 6 and 7 per cent of their goals, respectively.

They were "charged" with back hunting without results; failure to clean up on the backs within shooting range; stump hunting instead of beating the brush; shooting the bull instead of going after the buck; failure to use both barrels to stir section leaders and workers where it will do the most good; and being caught with UMC literature, pledge cards and prospect envelopes in their possession when the items should have been with the prospect.

Charges were signed by Travis, and read by District Attorney Thomas Reeder. They were given seven days in which to assemble their case and make restitution, and posted pledges equaling $3,000.

Yesterday's luncheon in the YMCA was served by Kiwanian Dames.

Wernmark Named Chairman of Drive

K. C. (Swede) Wernmark, Central Point, has been named chairman of Jackson county's "Dollars for Democrats" drive, party officials have announced.

The Democratic fund drive will be conducted on a door-to-door basis by precinct workers in an effort to obtain $1 from all Democrats. Wernmark said the drive, originally scheduled Sept. 26-29, was postponed until after Oct. 4 to enable Democrats to continue their registration drive.

A tentative schedule of Oct. 10 to 13 is scheduled for the fund drive.

Area chairmen appointed by Wernmark include Myrtle Newton and Gertrude Wilmet, Ashland; Larry Sheehan, Rogue River; and Scott Hamilton, Central Point.

Budget Committee Members to Return Money When Directed by County Court

Budget committee expense money will be returned when the county court so directs, two of the three budget committee members involved stated today.

M. T. (Tom) Wray, Medford, and Roger Rath, Ashland, were asked by telephone today when they plan to return the expense money which District Attorney Thomas J. Reeder has said was paid them illegally.

"I'll return the money when the county tells me. It's up to the county court," Wray said.

Rath asked what the other budget committee members said and then concurred with Wray's statement.

"I didn't ask for the money," Rath added. "I signed over the money to the Children's hospital in Portland. But, if they think it should be returned, I'm certainly willing to pay the money back. I think the commissioners should be approached on this thing, too."

Reeder said today he will call the three budget committee members involved, Wray, Rath and Arnold Bohnert, Central Point, and inquire when they will pay the money back to the county. Bohnert could not be reached this morning.

Reeder said Sept. 16 he had mailed letters to the three budget committee members requesting a total of $410 in expense money be returned to the county. No deadline for payment was set.

In his letters, Reeder quoted a recent attorney general's opinion on the legality of paying $10 a day expense money to the budget committee, a practice which has since been discontinued. The opinion stated that, according to state law, it is the district attorney's duty to recover any money improperly paid by county officials.

HAROLD H. BURTON
Appointed in 1945

Justice Burton Retires From Supreme Court

Washington — (UPI) — President Eisenhower today appointed Potter Stewart, 43-year-old member of the U. S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, in the Middle West, as an associate justice of the Supreme Court to succeed justice Harold H. Burton.

Washington — (UPI) — The retirement of Supreme Court Justice Harold H. Burton will give President Eisenhower a majority of his own appointees on the court for the first time.

His other four appointees have all backed public school desegregation.

Burton, a one-time Republican senator from Ohio when he was named to the high tribunal by President Truman in 1946, notified the President he would leave the bench "with regret but in accordance with competent medical advice and with the best interests of all concerned." He was 70 years old June 22.

The President last Monday announced the retirement, effective Oct. 13.

Names No Successor
No successor was named immediately. The President's last three appointments have been experienced jurists—John M. Harlan, 59, in 1956; William J. Brennan, 52, in 1956, and Charles E. Whittaker, 57, in 1957.

Eisenhower's first appointee, Chief Justice Earl Warren, 67, had no experience as a judge but was once attorney general of California and held a doctor of laws degree.

During past vacancies speculation on possible appointees has included such men as Judge Potter Stewart of the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals and Judge Elbert B. Tuttle of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. The President in the past has voiced his intention to name as justices men with backgrounds as jurists.

Two Firms Entered On Jackson Street

Would-be burglars entered two East Jackson st. establishments last night but failed to get any loot, Medford police reported today.

Both Modern Plumbing company, 613 East Jackson st., and Hamacher Lumber company, 609 East Jackson, were broken into, police said.

Nothing appeared to be missing, the report added. The burglars bungled an attempt to open a safe and a cash box in the plumbing company's building, according to police.

Police said they searched the area for several hours in the belief that the frustrated thieves were still around, but without success.

Anti-Government Mobs Target of Lebanon Troops

Beirut, Lebanon — (UPI) — Lebanese army troops fired on anti-government mobs manning barricades blocking the main road to Damascus today. At least 20 persons were reported injured.

It was the worst outbreak of violence since Christian Phalangist supporters of ex-President Achille Chamoun called a general strike against the government 15 days ago.

It came on the heels of a tommygun attack by terrorists on a crowded bus in the heart of Beirut. At least 13 passengers were wounded in what appeared to be an attempt to enforce the general strike.

Dive for Cover
The newest firing came from inside the Phalangist sector but an army tank which roared up to the nearest barricade found it unmanned. A few hours later another sniper bullet whining off the pavement beside an army tank at the other end of the Face des Canons, forcing the tank crew to dive for cover while troops on nearby roof tops fired back.

A Lebanese army armored car used its machineguns and cannon against demonstrators who threw up a flaming barricade on the main highway to Damascus a short distance from the Defense Ministry.

$90 Said Missing From Fire Station

The apparent theft of $90 from a locker in the Medford fire department's main station on North Front st., is currently under investigation by city police.

The money, four $20 bills and one $10 bill, was taken between Monday morning and Wednesday morning last week, according to police.

Reportedly two years' proceeds from the sale of cigarettes, the money was kept in a drawer of an unlocked locker belonging to Warren Leroy Ritchie, a hoseman, whose home address is 1011 South Holly st., the police record showed.

It was reported that several members of the department had permission to enter the locker.

Fire Chief Gordon R. Barker reported the incident to police.

Centennial Group Seeks Chamber as Project Sponsor

Ashland—The Ashland Centennial Committee last night decided to seek the sponsorship of the Ashland Chamber of Commerce for two or three of the "more significant" Centennial year projects here.

The committee, holding its second meeting in the chamber office, listed and tabulated projects already scheduled or suggested and came up with three which it was to present to the chamber today.

These are:
1. Creation of window displays by Ashland merchants, typifying their line of merchandise or service as it would have been 100 years ago. The plan would use vacant store windows also, to be serviced by merchants or professional people without displaying space of their own.

2. An Ashland-wide clean-up, paint-up campaign.

3. The use of Centennial emblems and slogans on stationery.

The committee also voted to submit a letter to the city council tonight, seeking financial assistance for the Centennial work.

Other projects now planned or considered include historical markers on sites in and around Ashland; publication of a Centennial brochure describing these sites and showing them on a map; Centennial pageants in Ashland schools in February and March; a Centennial issue of the Daily Tidings on the state's birthday, Feb. 14, and a Centennial column through the year, and a Centennial assembly at Southern Oregon college Feb. 11.

Valley Man Injured By Another Hunter

Walter Mollette, 32, of route 1, box 27, Central Point, is convalescing at his home today from a bullet wound in the hip suffered while hunting in the Bly mountain area last week end.

Mrs. Donna Mollette, sister-in-law of Mollette, said Mollette was accidentally shot in the hip by Henry Greg of O'Brien. A previous report said Mollette wounded himself.

Mrs. Mollette said Greg apparently shot at a deer, and thought the deer went in the direction of the Mollette party, and shot the second time. The bullet struck Mollette, she said. He was treated in Klamath Falls before returning here.

Mollette was in a party of six hunting in the Bonanza ridge area.

Salem — (UPI) — Bids of $5,100-000 in highway projects will be received by the State Highway Commission here Oct. 21.
