

Stengel Stands Up For Yankee Players

Milwaukee—UPI—The Yankees were 6-5 favorites to win today's sixth game of the World Series.

However, the Braves, holding a 3-2 lead in victories, remained 3-1 favorites to win the series.

The oddsmakers announced various "conditional" prices on the sixth game, depending on Casey Stengel's pitching nomination, but conceded the Yankees a slight edge.

Milwaukee—UPI—If the Yankees lose this World Series, Casey Stengel says, "Blame it on me."

Never one to criticize his players publicly, even when they sometimes deserve it, Stengel said today he was ready to take full responsibility for a decision which could wind up the series in Milwaukee's favor.

The big decision, Casey explained, was which man to name as his pitcher for today's game.

"Nobody can help me in this," he said softly, without trying to dramatize the situation. "I know that everything depends on it and I gotta come up with the right choice. If I don't, poof! We're all done."

Milwaukee Fans Used To Winning

By RAY W. DOHERTY
Milwaukee—UPI—They're growing accustomed to the pace.

This seems to be the new rapport between the Milwaukee baseball fans and their winning Braves, who have reached a crucial sixth game stage in the 1958 World Series.

"It appears that fans of the Milwaukee Braves are taking a lot for granted," a psychologist told United Press International about the rooters who practically tore the city apart after last year's pennant clinching and World Series victories.

"They're used to the Braves winning now and the novelty has worn off," the psychologist said.

Police Work Easier
This opinion was confirmed by Police Deputy Inspector Raymond Dahl, who handled officer assignments to control crowds when the play of the Braves touches off riotous celebrations.

"Definitely, the crowd response hasn't been as great this year as it was in 1957," said Dahl, who added that "it's made our work a lot easier."

One Milwaukee newspaper the Journal suggested that Milwaukee fans "are growing up, and beginning, like other fans, to cheer winners."

Things have reached such a state that a person can back another team—even the Yankees—without any obvious recriminations.

Fans Still Love Team
This is strange. In the years since the Braves moved here from Boston, Milwaukeeans have won world-wide reputation for their partisanship, for their inclination to applaud the local team for even mediocre plays.

At the first two series games here, there was applause for Yankee plays.

This is not to say that people here don't love the Braves as much as ever. But they're becoming more sophisticated in how they show their loyalty.

Acting Governor Not Due Salary

Salem—UPI—The president of the Senate is not entitled to receive a salary while acting as governor during the temporary absence from the state of the chief executive.

Attorney General Robert Y. Thornton said today. He is entitled to expenses, however.

Thornton said that the payment of a salary was not sanctioned by the constitution for either the president of the Senate or the speaker of the House.

Braves Not Unhappy Over Logan

By ED SAINSBURY
Milwaukee—UPI—Nobody's awarded any accolades to Johnny Logan, the effervescent shortstop of the Milwaukee Braves, but when the hits and runs are counted this week, he's going to be an important entry in the Braves' World Series book.

So far he's made only three hits in 19 times at bat in the series for an batting .158 average. But he's batted in two runs and an error by Tony Kubek, the New York Yankees' shortstop, on another grass skimmer by Logan brought in another and an important run.

It's the timeliness of Logan's hits that count. Only three Milwaukee players have driven in three runs, and only three others have driven in two. Yet 10 players on the roster, including pitcher Warren Spahn, boast better batting averages.

More Hits
"I'd like to get three or four more hits," Logan said today, "just to get the average up to two hundred and something. Nobody's going to remember how many runs you drove in, or how important the hits were. They're just going to look at the figures and judge you on that."

But neither the Braves nor Manager Fred Haney were complaining about Logan's records. In the first game Logan doubled and died on base. But in the second, he hit a vital two-run single in the Braves' seven-run first inning, and in the fourth game at New York, his grass skimmer produced his most important run of the series.

The blow came when Warren Spahn was holding the Braves scoreless, but the Braves hadn't scored either, and when Kubek couldn't make the play, Red Schoendienst came home with the first run of the game.

"I just knew I had to get him home," Logan said. "I felt that if we could get Spahn just one run, he'd win it."

It figures, because he always goes to bat for them.

Throughout the entire series, Stengel never has put the rap on any of his players, although it was obvious he was not always pleased with their performance.

In the fourth game, for example, when Yogi Berra's hesitance in running out a smash to Red Schoendienst

Milwaukee—UPI—Mickey Mantle came up with a "dark horse" candidate for the Yankees starting pitcher today.

Mantle said, "I know who I'd pitch if I were the manager."

When asked who, the Yankee center fielder said: "Me."

Mantle throws an excellent knuckle-ball and is reported to be faster than a number of regular pitchers.

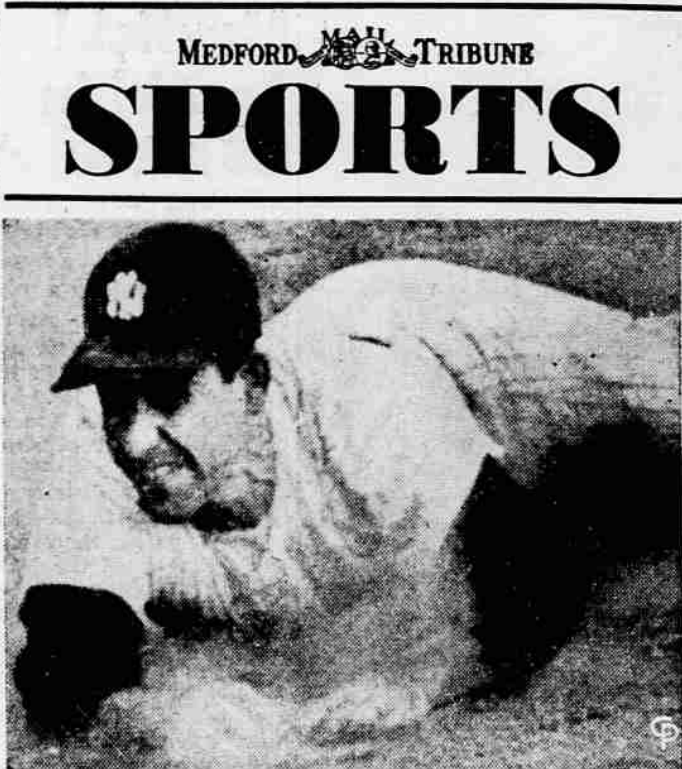

Excused Siebern's Errors
Casey again came to the defense of one of his men when a wave of criticism was directed at Norm Siebern's fielding deficiencies during that same fourth game.

"Siebern feels badly enough without me harping on it," said the Yankee manager. "Go out there in left field at Yankee stadium and see how tough it is to catch a ball!"

"He happens to be a mighty fine ball player, regardless of anything. Very few people know that no one on this club—that's right I said no one—has a better eye at the plate than Siebern with the possible exception of Enos Slaughter."

Once in a while, a Yankee player may have a critical word about Stengel but for the most part, they're rather fond of him.

It figures, because he always goes to bat for them.

HITTING DIRT at first base, Yogi Berra is thrown out in fourth inning, ending hopes of Yankee victory. Two were out and Mickey Mantle was on third via a triple when Yogi lined out one that Red Schoendienst, Milwaukee second baseman, blocked to throw out Yankees' catcher.

SL Cards, SF Giants Tell Swap

San Francisco—UPI—"This is only the beginning," the front office of the San Francisco Giants announced today after completing a five-player swap with the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Giants received pitcher Billy Muffett, catcher Hobbie Lendrieh and infielder Ben Valenzuela in return for pitcher Marv Grissom and Ernie Broglio.

A club spokesman said that other deals would be completed within the next 10 days. He said that the key figures in Tuesday's trade were Broglio and Muffett.

The club prized Muffett's reliable pitching ability over Broglio's potential as a starter, the spokesman explained.

Muffett, a 27-year-old right-hander, had a 4-6 record and a 4.93 earned-run mark for the Cards this year. Broglio, 23, of El Cerrito played at Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League and Toronto in the International League this year and had a combined record of 13 wins and 3 losses.

Grissom, a 40-year-old veteran who came to the Giants in 1953, had a 7-5 record this year and a 4.02 ERA. He compiled a 31-23 mark during his career with the Giants.

Valenzuela, 25-year-old native of Mexico, played at Omaha in the American Association. The fleshy infielder hit .284 with 13 home runs and 72 runs batted in.

Lendrieh, 28, hit .215 in 68 games for the Cards this year. His arrival gave the Giants' three catchers including Lendrieh, Valmy Thomas and Bob Schmidt.

There was speculation that one of the three receivers might be traded with one or two of the Giants' fine young outfielders to the Chicago Cubs soon. The Cubs would deal the Giants one of their pitchers in return, possibly Dick Drott or Moe Drabowsky.

Ortega-Jordan Victor to Face Welter Champ

Los Angeles—UPI—Interest in the Gaspar Ortega-Don Jordan rematch Oct. 22 took an upward swing today with announcement that the winner will get a shot at welterweight champion Virgil Akins' title here Dec. 5.

Jordan, the world's number one contender according to Ring Magazine, won a split decision from third-ranked Ortega Sept. 17 in Portland, Ore.

Their second meeting will take place in the ballroom of the Lafayette hotel in nearby Long Beach, following a semi-formal dinner.

Matchmaker George Parnassus announced plans for the Akins fight Tuesday. He said the 15-round contest would be nationally televised from the Olympic Auditorium.

Mt. Shasta Ski Bowl Preview October 25-26

Mount Shasta, Calif. — No tables from all parts of the Pacific Coast will gather here during the week end of October 25-26 for a press preview of the $2 million Mt. Shasta Ski bowl.

The group will be taken over the 14 miles of new road leading from Highway 99 to Panther Meadows at 7,703 feet.

There they will gather in the ultra-modern $300,000 three-deck lodge, for a ride on the chair lift, which takes them to the 9,212 foot altitude.

From there they will look out over the tops of the Trinity Alps and Mt. Lassen as well as into Nevada and Southern Oregon, and toward the Marysville Buttes in the Sacramento Valley.

A cocktail party and dinner at the lodge will follow. And, if the weather is clear, the guests will be treated to the sight of a full harvest moon on the snow covered mountain.

A fund of $6,000 has been raised by Siskiyou county chambers of commerce and the Ski bowl for the party, which will attract several hundred persons. Guests will represent newspapers, radio and television stations, magazines, railroads, airlines, travel agencies, tourist associations and similar groups.

ALL-STARS SIGN PITCHER
New York—UPI—Pitcher Arnold Portocarrero of the Baltimore Orioles has signed to play with Mickey Mantle's All-Stars against a Willie Mays' National league team at Yankee Stadium Sunday.

Portocarrero, a right-hander, had a 15-11 record this season and posted a 3.25 earned-run average.

Applegate Gets UPI Sports Post

San Francisco—UPI—The appointment of Howard Applegate as United Press International sports editor for Oregon was announced today by Hal Wood, the UPI's Pacific division sports editor.

Applegate will work under the immediate direction of Willard D. Eberhart, Oregon manager.

A graduate of the University of Oregon, Applegate joined the news agency in 1947 in Portland. He later served as Tacoma, Wash., and Seattle night manager for 20 months before returning to Portland in 1952.

He is a native of Yoncalla, Ore., and a Navy veteran of the Philippine and Okinawa campaigns of World War II.

Saxton Starts Comeback Bid

Holyoke, Mass.—UPI—Former welterweight champ Johnny Saxton of New York City today appeared to have a long way to go in his comeback bid to regain the crown.

Fighting Tuesday night for the first time in nearly two years, Johnny squarred out a split decision 10-round victory over Barry Allison, 148, of Springfield—a boxer he defeated with much less effort more than two years ago.

Saxton, weighing in at 151 1/2, resorted mainly to infighting.
