

Dean Cautions On Criticism of Supreme Court

Coronado, Calif. (UPI)—Dean Erwin N. Griswold of the Harvard University School of Law cautioned Thursday against wholesale criticism of the U.S. Supreme court.

He said the high court was by no means above criticism but that it should be tempered with a realization that Supreme court judges simply have too much to do.

"I believe that the Supreme court has been a great instrument toward law and order and justice and an effective and workable constitutional system in the United States," the dean told the annual conference of the California Bar association.

'Sheer Sophistry'

Sharply critical of those who have objected to the high court's decision on integration on purely emotional grounds, Griswold said:

"To say that there was 'usurpation' in this, or that the court was 'legislating' in reaching its decision, is sheer sophistry if not hypocrisy," he said.

"One need not agree with the decision, though I find no rational way to disagree. After all, what does 'equal protection of the law mean if not equal protection?'"

At the same time, the dean was critical of Chief Justice Earl Warren, who he accused of dealing in generalities in some cases. He said a recent dissent by Warren contained more "yearning" than law.

Griswold said he hoped the Supreme court would limit itself sharply to deciding constitutional questions only when absolutely necessary, and then in carefully restricted written opinions.

Mothers Agree To Rules on How To Rear Children

Washington (UPI)—A conference of young mothers agrees children should:

- Be spanked as needed.
- Not call their parents by their first names.
- Do household chores without being paid for them.

The 100 delegates to a "better living" conference concluded a three-day session Thursday by also agreeing that parents should act as parents instead of trying to be "pals" with their children.

The mothers—whose average age is 32—felt that school work should be stiffened. Most said they would consider it a compliment if their children were called "eggheads."

Object To Steady Dating

They generally agreed that youngsters start dating when they are too young. They objected to teenagers going steady, but felt this custom had declined somewhat.

They also felt that the subject of "teen-agers" has been so over-emphasized that the word has developed a "bad" connotation and should be dropped from the vocabulary.

A question on what person they would like their children to emulate brought mention of these names: Franklin D. Roosevelt, Albert Schweitzer, Bob Hope and Mamie Eisenhower.

Langley Move for Dismissal Loses

Portland (UPI)—Circuit Court Judge Charles W. Redding Thursday rejected a move by former District Attorney William Langley to dismiss a conspiracy indictment pending against him.

Langley sought the dismissal on the grounds that he had already been convicted of one of the overt acts charged in the indictment and that prosecution of the other constituted double jeopardy. Langley was removed from office following his conviction on a charge of failing to prosecute a gambling violation. The indictment under attack by Langley accused him of conspiracy to commit the felony of receiving and agreeing to receive a bribe as an executive officer by agreeing to accept pay for permitting certain gambling operations.

Judge Redding ruled that the commission of a crime and conspiring to commit it are two separate offenses.

Authority To Hold Information Rapped by Demo

Los Angeles (UPI)—For every law Congress passed last session to increase the flow of government information "two more were uncovered as claims of authority to withhold information," Rep. John E. Moss said Thursday night.

The California Democrat, chairman of the House Government Information subcommittee, told a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, a journalism fraternity, that "stampahhy bureaucrats" still are trying to stifle "the people's right to know."

However, Moss said, "there were probably more developments during the two years of the 85th Congress insuring the people's right to know than during any comparable period in recent history."

More Than Reporter Fight

Moss emphasized that "the fight for freedom of information" is "more than a fight by reporters seeking a story." He said the Air Force and the International Cooperation administration recently refused "in clear violation of the law" to give Congress information it wanted.

He said that the executive branch had "thrown down the gauntlet and in effect told the Congress we will determine how much you need to know."

"The situation was bad under past administrations, and it is worse under the present administration in Washington," Moss said.

Portland Stabbing Case Up to Jury

Portland (UPI)—A jury was to decide today if Phyllis (Torchy) Jessing stabbed the man she plans to marry.

Miss Jessing, 28, is on trial for the stabbing last July of Alfred E. Kiefer, who nearly died from the wound. Both sides rested their cases Thursday. The defendant did not take the stand.

Kiefer, 35, who faces an extortion charge in connection with another case, testified he loves the defendant.

Kiefer's attorney, Earle P. Skow, testified for the defense that he found Miss Jessing intoxicated early July 13 at the city jail, some two hours before she made a statement admitting the stabbing.

Nixon Blasts Demos' 'Score'

Columbus, Ohio (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon Thursday night blasted Democrats for a "no hits, no runs, all errors" box score on dishonesty in government charges and urged Republicans to campaign on the Eisenhower administration's "magnificent" record.

"I thought it would not be necessary," he said, "to refer to the mess in Washington we found when we took over from the Truman administration. But they have asked for it and here are the facts."

"No administration in history has a better record of honesty and integrity in government than the Republican administration of Dwight Eisenhower," he said.

"The Truman administration, on the other hand, was one of the most corrupt in the history of this country."

He said that five of the top Bureau of Internal Revenue officials in the Truman administration were guilty of criminal actions.

Newspaper Guild Approves Contract

Portland (UPI)—Members of the Portland Newspaper Guild voted unanimously Thursday night in favor of a contract agreement calling for a weekly $9.50 two-year package offer from management of the Oregonian and the Oregon Journal.

The agreement covers about 200 persons, news employees at both papers, circulation workers at the Journal and the promotion department workers at the Oregonian.

FLOOD SALE BEHIND

Jefferson City, Mo. (UPI)—The Artistic Upholstery company is running one "flood sale" behind. The store, advertising a sale of $20,000 worth of goods damaged in a July flood, was flooded again Thursday when Weir's creek spilled over its banks.
