

Northwestern In Good Shape Now For Coming Battle Against Iowa

United Press International
Upstart Northwestern was reported in good shape today for its coming game against Iowa and a battle of unbeaten Big Ten teams.

Wildcat Coach Ara Parseghian put the squad through a light workout Monday following its upset win over Michigan and warned Northwestern will "give any team an interesting afternoon if not a shocking one."

Iowa: Iowa's first and second teams held light drills Monday, but the third, fourth and fifth teams scrimmaged against the freshmen for more than an hour.

Illinois: Illinois' first football victory of the season may have come at the expense of senior right end Ron Hill, who reinjured his knee in the Minnesota game.

Michigan State: Coach Duffy Daugherty, unhappy over the Spartans' loss to Purdue, dropped all but four of his starters to the second team.

Minnesota: Coach Murray Warmath sent the Gophers through a drill emphasizing pass defense.

son Kelly. Elevated were end Fred Arbanas, tackles George Perles and Paul Rochester, center Don Wright, quarterback Greg Montgomery, halfback Herb Adderley and guard Mickey Walker.

Ohio State: Coach Woody Hayes warned the Buckeyes they must play their best against Wisconsin this week end or it will be a long afternoon Hayes said Wisconsin still must be rated a title threat despite the Badger loss to Iowa.

Wisconsin: The first two squads of Wisconsin gridgers watched moves of Ohio State at work and received a scouting report on the Bucks.

Purdue: The Boilermakers held a non-contact drill and studied defense problems against Notre Dame's varied attack.

Indiana: The Hoosiers worked on tightening up their ball handling in an effort to prevent giving the ball away through fumbles and pass interceptions.

Minnesota: Coach Murray Warmath sent the Gophers through a drill emphasizing pass defense.

Notre Dame: Coach Terry Brennan promised the Notre Dame football squad rugged practice sessions today and Wednesday.

Coach Andy Knudsen, following the 53 to 0 beating at the hands of Medford Friday night, offered words of praise to his Klamath Union High school football team.

He said: "You may all hold your heads high. You played a fine first half - you are as good a first team as they are - it was the second, third and fourth teams that beat you."

The foregoing quote is from sportswriter Wayne Scott's story of the game in the Klamath Falls Herald News.

TOLL OF NINE
Scott, mentioning the toll the three-deep platooning by Medford took on Klamath, listed a total of nine Pelican players injured in the "rough, hard - fought scrap," forcing Knudsen to empty his bench to gain reinforcements.

Those he listed hurt were Blake Griggs, an eye injury; Gary Kraneburg, John Hancock, Estin Kiger and Larry Bunyard, knee injuries; Steve Stiles, a hip ailment; Joe Cox, an ankle injury, and Gary Hancock, a dislocated jaw, and Ron House, who was knocked out.

GOOD, HARD PLAY BEST
We like to see Medford's Black Tornado play good hard football. It's the only way to play the game well. Football is basically a rough sport. But, we hope the foregoing list of injuries doesn't serve to give the Tornado a bad reputation. There were some complaints. On the other side, we saw a Klamath player tackle a Medford man by his face guard - strictly dangerous and illegal.

SCORE ALMOST LARGER
We hadn't looked on it in the same way, but the Black Tornado matched Klamath Falls prognostications in whacking the Pelicans 53 to 0. Scott in his account of the game, speaks of KU as a 50-point underdog. Guess he did some addition with Marshall's 47 to 0 win over Klamath and Medford 3 to 0 nod over Marshall. Medford came close to making it 59 or 60 to 0, however. Len Griggs fought into the end zone on the last play of the game but officials ruled him inches short of a touchdown.

LONG SECOND HALF
Last Friday's Medford-Klamath game second half, particularly the third quarter, seemed to run overly long. But, we don't entirely agree with Pel Coach Knudsen. He commented, "That was the longest second half in the history of football."

THROUGH AS GRID REF
C. A. (Dutch) Meyer, Central Point, a football and basketball game official in this area for some 13 years, says he's hung up his football cleats for good and will don basketball footwear only occasionally as a fill-in referee in the 1938-39 season. Meyer, principal of Central Point Junior High and Elementary schools, will become superintendent of School District 6C next August. He will serve as commissioner of

Stanford Backs May Be Ready Saturday
Stanford, Calif. - UPI - Coach Jack Curtice said today that it appeared that three of Stanford's first-string backs who were hurt against the Air Force Academy would be ready when the Indians meet UCLA.

CUTS PRINCETON TEAM
Princeton, N. J. - UPI - Guard Artie Max, Lawrence N. Y., quit the Princeton University football team Monday. Max suffered a pre-season leg injury this fall and when he returned to practice last week, he suffered a groin injury.

DENY REPORTS
Caracas, Venezuela - UPI - The presidential palace has denied reports that the Venezuelan cabinet submitted its resignation to Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal, president of the government junta.

Moscow, Idaho - UPI - Punched Idaho drilled hard today in preparation for next Saturday's contest with the University of Arizona.

ROSEBURG NOW THIRD IN COACH GRID POLL

Portland - UPI - Powerful Jefferson, averaging 47 points per game so far this season, again headed the list of Oregon's prep football teams in this week's Journal coaches' poll.

Jefferson got all eight first place votes and piled up 80 points 72 for second place Medford. Roseburg moved ahead of North Bend third place after beating the Bulldogs last Friday night. North Bend dropped to ninth.

Astoria was fourth and North Salem fifth. The rankings:

TEAM	POINTS
1. Jefferson	80
2. Medford	72
3. Roseburg	57
4. Astoria	43
5. North Salem	37
6. Marshfield	31
7. Tie Baker	29
8. Grants Pass	29
9. North Bend	27
10. Roosevelt	11

Others: McMinnville 10, Redmond 6, Vale 4, Gresham 2 and Cleveland and Madison 1 each.

HOOP SEASON NEAR
An Oregon School Activities association clinic at Medford high on Wednesday evening is a reminder that the prep basketball season is less than a month and a half away. First games are in early December. Practice is underway in a number of schools already and will be in full swing by this time next month.

WILL BE STRONG LEAGUE
High school football ratings published today in the Oregon Journal coaches' poll give indication that the schools suggested for District 6 A-1 in a proposal before the OSAA would form a potent circuit. Of the five teams which would be in the alignment, four are in the present top eight. Medford is second, Roseburg third, Marshfield sixth and Grants Pass tied for eighth.

Hartack Shoots For Third Win
Camden, N.J. - UPI - Jockey Willie Hartack will be shooting for his third straight victory in the world's richest horse race - the Garden State Stakes - this Saturday on a horse which ran six times before finally reaching the winner's circle.

Andrade, Gonsalves Signed To Fight
Hollywood, Calif. - UPI - Cisco Andrade of Compton, Calif., and Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland, Calif., have signed to meet in a 10-round return lightweight bout at the Legion stadium Nov. 8, according to an announcement by matchmaker Jackie Leonard.

Casanova Fighting Mad Over Showing
Eugene - UPI - The usually mild-mannered Len Casanova was fighting mad today as he worked the Oregon Ducks hard in preparation for Saturday's titanic battle with Cal.

Makes Bout Offer
Boston - UPI - Boston promoter Johnny Buckley has offered Swedish heavyweight contender Ingemar Johansson $15,000 to meet Lee Williams of Boston, former National Amateur champion, in a bout at the Boston Garden next January. Williams, who has won all five of his pro bouts, meets Ralph Ruffin of Philadelphia at the Boston arena next Monday.

HARD TO CONVINCE
Columbus, Ohio - UPI - Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State - ranked second this week in the UPI football ratings - had this to say about his defending national champions today: "Whether we'll develop into a good football team is still questionable."

U. of W. Basketball Team Rated Western Powerhouse

Seattle - UPI - Tippe Dye, diminutive head basketball coach of the University of Washington, has a problem - his team is being picked by pre-season dopsters as one of the West's powerhouses for the coming season.

finest talent that has come together on the shores of Lake Washington since 1953 when Bob "Hooks" Houbregs and company toiled on the court, Dye is feeling a premonition of possible disaster.

And, being blessed with the sports axiom warns a coach to be leery when his team is rated a top-notch.

Dye is well aware of the hazards involved, but because Washington has been anything but a basketball powerhouse in recent years, he admits freely that it's nice to be well respected "even though every team on the schedule will be laying for us."

Boin and Smart
Dye has plenty of reasons, eleven of them - all lettermen, to hope this is the year for a resurgence of Washington basketball.

To begin with the Huskies have two sure-fire All-American candidates on hand. They are Bruno Boin, 6-9 pivot man who decided not to play last year because of NCAA and Pacific Coast Conference penalties inflicted on the team, and Doug Smart, 6-8 bully boy on the backboards and top Washington scorer for two seasons running.

Smart, good on the short hook and an artist at driving the lane from either side, is powerful off the backboards and will be that much tougher all around with Boin in the lineup to take the pressure off him.

More Stars
These range scorers are joined by a trio of lettermen, all highly rated since their high school days. Earl Irvine, 6-5; Al Murphy, 6-4, and George Grant 6 feet.

This is supposed to be "the" year at Washington and Dye is hoping with all of his 5-6 frame that the pre-season basketball seers are not wrong.

He'd like to "boin" his opponents and make the wounds "smart" plenty.

Pullman, Wash. - UPI - Coach Jim Sutherland drilled his team both on offense and defense today in preparation for Saturday's clash with improving Southern California.

Kansas Coach Complains Of Football Officiating

Columbus, Ohio - UPI - Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State, obviously pleased that his "dirty football" charges have brought officials under public scrutiny, had a companion today in Kansas coach Jack Mitchell.

The Jayhawk coach Monday charged the officiating in Saturday's Oklahoma-Kansas game was "pathetic." Last week Hayes blasted the officials for permitting the defense to play "dirty football" while watching the offensive too closely.

Mitchell said "never in my playing or coaching days have I witnessed such an exhibition." Oklahoma beat Kansas, 43-0.

Hayes, meanwhile, said he thought he was "on the way to getting it straightened out." He said he was "encouraged" by the officiating in the Big Ten last Saturday, with the possible exception of the Indiana-Ohio State game.

Mitchell was backed up in his charges by Big Eight Commissioner Reaves Peters, who said he had heard the "officiating was apparently lousy." Peters told Mitchell to give the officials who worked the game a "zero" in his report and they wouldn't be back next year.

Matthews Shoots For Knockout

Philadelphia - UPI - Len Matthews, the boyish lightweight unbeaten in his 14 professional fights, will be "shooting for a knockout" when he meets Cuban Orlando Zulueta in a 10-round bout at Convention hall tonight.

"That's the way we planned this fight and that's the way it's going to be," Tony Graziano, manager of the 19-year-old Philadelphia boxer, said. Graziano said an early knockout would give Matthews recognition as a contender.

Zulueta, who claims he was knocked out only once in 108 bouts, said his boxing skill would win the fight for him. "I've boxed men like that before and I know how to handle them," he said.

Paulson To Start As OSC Tailback

Corvallis - UPI - Oregon State coach Tommy Prothro announced today that Dainard Paulson will start at the key tailback spot next Saturday when the Beavers meet Washington. Paulson led Oregon State to its victory over Idaho last week.

ON COMEBACK TRAIL
Portland, Ore. - UPI - Johnny Saxton, ex-welterweight king on the comeback trail, was rated even-money today against young Denny Moyer of Portland in their scheduled 10-round fight here tonight.
