

Central Point Club Holds First 'Wintertime' Show

More than 500 visitors attended the "Floral Beauty in Winter Time" show held Monday and Tuesday at the courthouse auditorium in Medford by Central Point Garden club. It was the first show featuring only dried flowers and other material ever to be held in the valley, and was well received by the public and members of other garden clubs in the district.

Among those who attended were professional decorators seeking new ideas, leaders of youth groups looking for handicraft suggestions and public school teachers, as well as garden club members, artists and others who enjoy creative materials.

The show was the suggestion of Mrs. Gaston Floux, and she served as chairman. Working with Mrs. Floux were Mrs. C. H. Ault, Mrs. Eugene Orr, Mrs. Leo Ghelardi, Mrs. Wallace West, Mrs. Ivan Skyrman, Mrs. R. D. Kay, Mrs. John Holmer, Mrs. Everett Young, Mrs. Ralph Hixson, Mrs. W. I. Sutherland, Mrs. Arnold Bohnert, Mrs. Charles Jantzer, Mrs. Joe Juffine and Mrs. L. C. Gorden.

Pouring during the event were Mrs. A. O. Floyd, president of the Oregon Federation of Garden clubs and Miss Claire Hanley, a past president, Mrs. R. T. Nichol, Mrs. I. D. Fitzgerald, Siskiyou district chairman and past chairman; Mrs. Everett Young, Mrs. Ralph Hixson, Mrs. W. I. Sutherland, Mrs. Arnold Bohnert, Mrs. Charles Jantzer, Mrs. Joe Juffine and Mrs. L. C. Gorden.

Pouring during the event were Mrs. A. O. Floyd, president of the Oregon Federation of Garden clubs and Miss Claire Hanley, a past president, Mrs. R. T. Nichol, Mrs. I. D. Fitzgerald, Siskiyou district chairman and past chairman; Mrs. Everett Young, president of the sponsoring club, Mrs. John Wisely, Mrs. Lewis P. Rentschler, Medford Garden club president, Mrs. Carroll E. Stevenson, president of Crater Garden club; Mrs. Ernest M. Gleason, Howard Garden club president; Mrs. R. H. Westerfield, head of Ashland Garden club; Mrs. W. I. House, Phoenix club president; Mrs. Elton Waldron, president of Roxy Gardeners; Mrs. Philip Hoyland, Talent club head; Mrs. Ted Flury, Eagle Point president and Mrs. Dee Hendrickson, Shady Cove club president.

Many were amazed at the variety of material used in the arrangements. A few entries were of dried and preserved flowers, some of which retained their original color and texture. Used in abundance were dried grains, cones, grasses, some broken up into "leaves" or sections, seed pods, such as iris, poppy, gladioli, and milkweed; treated leaves, gourds and little squashes; common weeds such as dock, mullein and wormwood and colorful pods such as the orange Chinese lanterns; dried sage, teasels and cattails.

Some combined figurines, ceramic pieces, wood and other materials with the grasses, leaves and pods, and many used sections of wood, either plain or treated, as bases. Woods noted in the display were lignum vitae, cypress, redwood, myrtle, ash, elm, madrone, cherry, cedar, oak, fir, pine, mahogany, pear, maple, teak, driftwood from the seashore and the bleached, dead wood pieces which gardeners call mountain wood.

Transforming Tips Given for Applesauce

If your children have become bored with plain applesauce, why not add a touch that tells you care? The touch may be nothing more than a stick or two of cinnamon, or a cracked nutmeg cooked with the apples. After the sauce is cooked, a few drops of red food color will make it pretty pink, or you might throw a couple of handfuls of cranberries or Concord grapes in with the apples before cooking.

Here is a dependable basic recipe for applesauce: Wash and drain fresh, sound apples. Remove stem and blossom ends. Slice and cook apples until soft. It is all right to add just enough water if needed, to start cooking. Press apples through sieve or food mill to

Chapter Honors 54-Year Member

Cave Junction — Mrs. Nellie Dean, Portland, a 54-year member of the Western Star chapter 64 of the Order of Eastern Star, was welcomed at a chapter meeting October 21 in the Kerby Masonic temple.

Plans were made for several members to attend a reception in honor of Morris Boughner, sentinel of the grand chapter in Medford, November 15. Entertainment for the evening was a lively demonstration with the "hula hoops." Mrs. Florence Davis was declared the winner and was presented a prize by Mrs. William Weingart, director of entertainment.

The brilliant colors of fall were used in the decorations. The committee was Mrs. Vivian Deaton, Mrs. George Webb, Mrs. Charles Downing and Mrs. William Inman.

Women Frown On Bickering Over Cafe Bills

Chicago—(UPI)—Wives don't want their husbands bickering over the bill in restaurants.

They would like to see a little finesse on the part of their mates in the handling of money in public.

Thomas J. Rolfs, a billfold manufacturer from West Bend, Wis., said these facts stood out in a recent survey of 250 women in six metropolitan centers.

"The fair sex has very definite ideas on the etiquette of who pays for what—when, where and how," Rolfs said.

He said more than three-fourths of the 250 women checked told researchers that their husbands were less gallant in the handling of money after they were married than they were before marriage.

And two-thirds of them were critical of the man who starts playing slap-jack with the check as soon as the waiter deposits it on the table. If a man is invited to dinner, he should let the host pay, the wives said.

One wife suggested that the host arrange to order the dinner at the time he makes table reservations and send a check to cover the estimated cost of the meal.

Another woman suggested that the host hand the head waiter an envelope containing the approximate amount of the check when the party enters the restaurant, and straighten out any discrepancy later.

The researchers found that wives were particularly critical of husbands who insist on divvying up the bill and even the tip at the table when several couples have dined out on an "every couple for itself" basis.

The women were almost unanimous in saying that one man should pick up and pay the check, and the others should pay their share after the party has left the restaurant.
