

Eisenhower, Nixon Seek Votes In Critical Republican Areas

Washington—UPI—The 1958 political campaign swung into its final week today with President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon booked into critical states where Republican candidates are in trouble.

The President planned to leave the capital in mid-afternoon to begin the eastern phase of his two-round campaign fight. Prospects were he would continue throwing the same kind of "talk tough" punches that have had Republicans cheering since his western tour last week.

After an airport speech late today at Charleston, W. Va., Eisenhower speaks from Pittsburgh, tonight. The GOP is trying to save two U. S. Senate seats they now hold in West Virginia and another in Pennsylvania in the voting Nov. 4.

Nixon in Minnesota

Nixon was starting the day at Minneapolis, Minn., in a state where GOP Sen. Edward J. Thye is in a tough reelection battle. The vice president was scheduled to go to Battle Creek, Kalamazoo and Flint, Mich., later today in a state where a Republican Senator Charles E. Potter is the underdog in his reelection bid.

In a statement at Minneapolis Sunday, Nixon said this final week of the campaign "could prove to be the most dramatic and significant week in the recent political history of the United States."

He said a public opinion poll published Sunday and forecasting a strong showing by Democrats was not up to the minute. He said he had witnessed a "most striking shift in voter opinion" in the past 10 days.

Alcorn said Sunday Republicans were on the "upswing" and Democrats on the "downswing" at this stage of the campaign. He said Eisenhower's and Nixon's campaign tours had "tremendously fired up" GOP workers.

Stir Up Democrats
A Democratic National committee spokesman here said its reports indicated that the Eisenhower-Nixon trips "may have pepped up" the Republicans but that they also had stirred up the Democrats. He said there was no evidence the Eisenhower and Nixon speeches had "swayed very many votes."

Other Political News
Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, taking sharp issue with Republican candidates backing so-called "right-to-work" laws, asserted he "would question the wisdom of such laws."

The National Committee for an Effective Congress, a bipartisan organization which backs "liberal" candidates, predicted the Senate will "shift in a liberal direction" because of expected Democratic victories.

Alcorn said Sunday the voters know that only the GOP can "keep the peace." But at Elizabeth, N. J., Chairman

Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.), of the Senate Foreign Relations committee attacked administration foreign policy.

Green told a Democratic dinner the Eisenhower foreign policy "seeks to appease everybody, pleases nobody and ends up by accomplishing nothing."

After his Pittsburgh speech Eisenhower flies tonight to New York where he remains until Wednesday. He is booked at the National Football Foundation dinner on Tuesday night, but White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the New York stop would include some political activity.

This two-day trip was expected to be Eisenhower's last in the 1958 campaign. It was understood however he may pop into a nearby state for one appearance later this week.

The speech tonight is expected to follow the pattern of last week's San Francisco and Chicago speeches in which Eisenhower attacked Democratic "radicals" and called for election of a GOP Congress to "fumigate" corrupt labor unions.

Services Planned For Mrs. Clay

Mrs. Alma Clay, 53, nurse on the staff of Sacred Heart hospital for several years, died Sunday. Services will be held Wednesday, Oct. 29, at 9 a. m. in Conger-Morris chapel. Committal will be in Siskiyou Memorial park.

Mrs. Clay, who lived at 709 Melrose avenue, was a member of Jackson County chapter, Licensed Practical Nurses' association, and of West Main Church of Christ. She was born Sept. 2, 1905, in Rankin, Okla., and had lived in Medford 13 years.

Survivors are her husband, Loyd Clay, Medford; a daughter, Mrs. Richard Strelman, and a son, A. L. Clay, both Portland; her parents, Arthur Riegall, Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Grace Riegall, Wray, Colo., and a sister, Mrs. Mildred Stitt, Oklahoma City.

Evidence of Neglect Seen as Cause of Delay

Evidence of apparent negligence by the building department both in issuing the permit and in cracking down on the violation at the building site has been one cause of delay by city officials in taking action until now.

Announcement of plans to bring charges would seem to confirm that no out-of-court settlement with adjacent property owners has been possible.

For Information Only
Asked about the fate of his anticipated report to the city council on this matter, Duff said this morning that it had been intended for their information only. It was reported previously that he planned to turn the matter over to the council for their consideration and possible action.

Duff said he did report to the Mayor. But apparently he has not made a formal report to the council so far.

Mayor Snider was not available for comment today. The zoning ordinance, also referred to by building officials as "the building code," requires a setback in multiple family zones of at least five feet and as much as 10 feet depending on the total width of the lot.

Plans for the eight-unit apartment structure on file in the building department office call for a four-foot setback. Official inspection of the site reportedly confirmed the setback was well under the minimum.

Involves Considerable Sum
One problem is that with work nearly completed, correction would involve a considerable sum of money.

The ordinance sets forth a maximum penalty for violations as $100 fine or 50 days confinement, and adds that each day of the offense shall constitute a separate violation.

It is considered doubtful that the city would count too many days as violations, since official hesitation has been responsible for inaction this past month.

Two Drivers Cited In Auto Mishaps

Two rear-end collisions occurred last week end, according to state police.

The first accident occurred about 8 p. m. Saturday when a car driven by Wayne Curl, 18, of Oregon City, skidded into the rear end of a car driven by Warren Mathew Long, 41, of 1029 Oak Grove rd., Medford, officers said.

Long was travelling west on the Jacksonville highway and had signalled for a left turn onto the Oak Grove rd., officers said. Curl was cited for violation of the basic rule.

Hulda Skevington, 62, of Rogue River, received a slight cut on her lip and another on her arm as a result of an accident about 11:25 a. m. Sunday at the intersection of Highway 99 and Scenic ave., state police said.

The car driven by Hulda Skevington pulled out of Scenic ave. onto Highway 99 in front of the southbound car driven by Nancy Lee Torveh, 26, of Grants Pass, officers said. The Skevington car was struck on the rear by the Torveh car.

Hulda Skevington was cited for failure to stop at a stop sign.

Burst of Selling Hits Stock Market

New York—UPI—A burst of selling hit the stock market in the fifth hour of trading today and prices dropped sharply.

Some stocks dropped three points or more with recent favorite the biggest losers. They included Lorillard, Polaroid, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Plough, Pfizer, Alcoa, Philadelphia and Reading, and Gulf Oil.

Before the decline set in American Motors had been bid up nearly three points to a new high. The issue lost all its gain.

Studebaker-Packard also fell back. Chrysler lost more than two points. Utilities outperformed the other sections of the market and their average held small gain most of the day. Rails also did better than the industrials.

Secretary of Labor Takes Stand Against Right To Work Laws

Washington—UPI—Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell has taken a campaign-time stand against right to work laws that may anger some Republican candidates in next week's congressional election.

"I would question the wisdom of such laws," the administration's top labor spokesman said Sunday.

President Eisenhower has avoided publicly taking any side of the controversial right to work question. Mitchell had previously gone on the record against such legislation which would restrict "union shop" agreements between unions and employers. But this is the first time he has commented on the matter since the election campaigning entered the home stretch.

Sen. William F. Knowland, (R-Calif.), is campaigning for the California governorship on a platform favoring a state right to work law. Mitchell's statement opposing the law is not likely to help the chances of the retiring Senate Republican leader who is generally believed to be running far behind his Democratic opponent Attorney General Edmund G. Brown.

Among other GOP candidates up for reelection next week is Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona, who sponsored an unsuccessful bill in the recent session of Congress calling for a national right to work law.

Mitchell gave his reason for opposing restrictions on union shop clauses that he said that 70 percent of all collective bargaining agreements now in force include such provisions. These provisions have been agreed to in free bargaining by management and labor, he said.

Issue in Six States
"I question the wisdom of this in prohibiting that," he added. Voters will cast ballots of right to work proposals in six states next week—California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Washington and Ohio.

Eighteen other states already have such laws, enacted in the past few years.

Absentee Voting Explanation Given By County Clerk

Persons who will be out of town election day, Nov. 4, due to business, vacation, or because of illness will be unable to get to their polling places, may obtain absentee ballots at the elections department in the county clerk's office, County Clerk Bereth P. Hopkins, reminded residents today.

She explained that due to the closeness of election day no absentee ballots are now being mailed. She said that persons may vote in the elections department until 5 p. m. Wednesday, Oct. 29. It was mentioned that persons who would be away hunting could also obtain absentee ballots and vote at the elections department prior to this deadline.

Voters who are unable to go to the polls to vote due to emergencies arising following the Oct. 29 deadline may vote until Monday, Nov. 3, at 5 p. m. in the elections department. They must sign a statement of explanation, officials said. Mrs. Hopkins added that emergencies that arise on election day, particularly in the case of illness, will also be taken care of. She said a doctor's certificate stating that the registered voter is ill may be taken to the elections department by a person designated by the voter. The person will be given the ballot to be taken to the voter which must be witnessed by two qualified electors or two property owners, or a notary public, Mrs. Hopkins said.

Encourages Absentee Voting
The county clerk encouraged all registered voters who are qualified to vote an absentee ballot. She explained that arrangements have been made by the elections department to take care of absentee ballots as they will be counted Nov. 5, by an official elections board at the courthouse.

The county official also reminded voters to check their polling place prior to voting. She added that the precinct numbers were included in the address on the envelope in which the voter's pamphlets were mailed earlier.

National Income Claimed Close To 1957 Record Year
Washington—UPI—The government says the national income has bounced back from the recession depths to within a few percentage points of the all-time record rate of last year.

A Commerce Department report released late Sunday said the national income picked up slightly from April through June of this year and hit an annual rate of $352,400,000,000. It said this was up $2,200,000,000 from the rate in the first quarter of the year and within 4 per cent of the all-time peak of $368,700,000,000 attained in the third quarter of 1957.

Third Quarter Unavailable
Three-quarter national income figures for this year were not yet available, the report said, because not all data was in on corporate profits. However, national income did rise "more substantially" in July-September than in April-June, the department said.

The optimistic new report followed release last week of figures showing that by October the economy had regained about three-fourths of the recession slowdown in production.

Sunday's report said business activity expanded in the spring and expanded from July through September in factories producing manufacturing equipment and other investment goods.

The department previously predicted that these capital goods outlays, a focal point in the recession, would turn up slightly in the final quarter of this year.
