Russians Scientists Win Physics Award

Unprecedented Second Nobel Prize Presented

Stockholm—UPI—Russia won an unprecedented second Nobel Prize today when the Swedish Academy of Sciences presented the physics award to the Soviet experts who discovered and developed the "Cherenkov effect," which may have been put to practical use in Russia's Sputniks.

LITTLE HOOPER—It doesn't take much of a wiggle to keep a hula hoop going if you know how, and Lorita Harris, 27-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harris, who live near Phoenix, has learned to supply the "booms-a-daisy" in just the right places. In fact she could be classed as an expert now, since she has been at it for about four months and can spin two hoops at a time with no trouble at all. Friends think Lorita could be the youngest hula hooper in this area.

Cochairman of Tree Committee Named By Mayor Snider

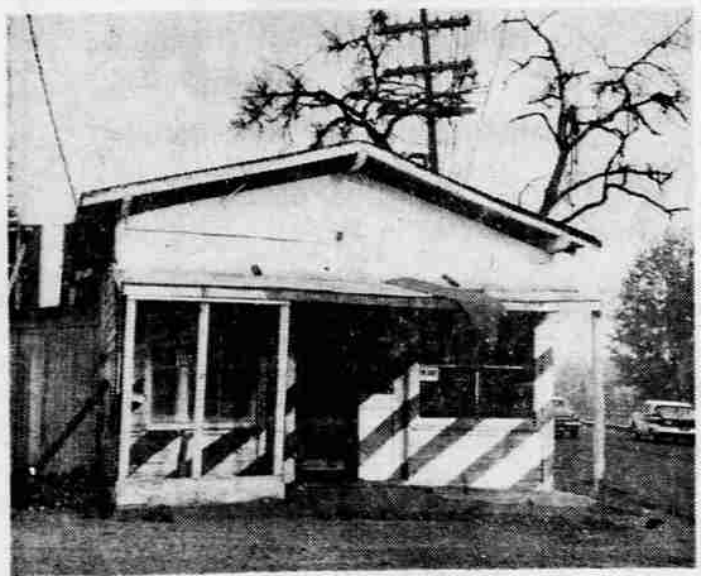

John Adams, landscape architect for Crater Lake National park, has been appointed cochairman of Medford's tree planting committee, according to Mayor John Snider.

Talent Woman Hurt When Hit By Car

A 67-year-old Talent woman was struck and injured this morning by a vehicle driven by an off-duty "rookie" patrolman with the Medford police department, police reported.

DOW-JONES AVERAGES
New York—UPI—Dow-Jones final stock averages: 30 industrials 536.88, up 1.88; 20 railroads 147.89, up 1.69; 15 utilities 82.38, up 0.03; and 65 stocks 186.44, up 0.86. Sales today were about 3,670,000 shares compared with 3,980,000 Monday.

Make Medford Beautiful

RELIC?—This building, in a sorry state of repair, is situated at one of Medford's prominent intersections. Motorists passing through town, as well as local residents, can hardly miss it. Removing it would reduce tax assessments on the property, and help "Make Medford Beautiful."

Gasoline Hoses Cut at Stations

Gasoline dispensing hoses at four service stations in the Medford area were cut last night, according to state police.

Oregon Lifer in Isolation After Escape Attempt

Salem—UPI—An Oregon state penitentiary life-terminer was in an isolation cell today after failing in an attempt to escape by holding a guard at knife-point.

The prisoner, Ernest L. Gibson, 32, tried to make his escape from the prison hospital Monday when the penitentiary was shrouded in fog.

Warden C. T. Gladden said Gibson stuck a knife in the ribs of officer E. E. May in a hospital corridor and forced him into the prison bake shop on the floor below the hospital.

May grabbed a rolling pin and after a scuffle managed to get out of the bake shop and summon help.

Gibson was subdued easily and taken to isolation.

Gladden said the convict, sentenced to life plus 10 years was one of his toughest charges and required close custody.

Land Use Policies Discussed at City Officials Meeting

The development of land use policies to regulate Medford's future growth was discussed at last night's interim meeting of the city planning commission.

Three of the commission's seven members, Paul Selby, Allen Perry and Jack Edson, were present.

Leading the discussion of this and other topics was Lloyd Anderson, planning consultant from the bureau of municipal research and service at the University of Oregon.

Also present, besides City Manager Robert A. Duff and other administrative officials, were four city councilmen, one from each ward.

Other topics discussed were a revised subdivision ordinance proposal, zoning areas adjacent to freeway interchanges, revision of the multiple family zoning requirements, and regulation of wrecking yards.

Maneuver Seen Saving of Face As Blockade Fails

Secretary Sees Communism Collapse
Washington—UPI—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the Chinese Reds' on-again off-again shelling of Quemoy and Matsu was outlandish and uncivilized.

Dulles said the Communists' intention of shelling on an every other day basis was evidence of what he called the upside down thinking and talking which one has to expect from the Reds.

The board last night agreed to hold an election Nov. 11 for director if possible.

Philipp Lowry, attorney for the Medford Irrigation district, has asked Attorney General Robert Y. Thornton for an opinion on whether the deadline was noon last Saturday or noon yesterday.

The Eagle Point district expressed a desire for an election in case the opinion leaves the deadline date up to the district or interprets the law as setting the deadline as Monday.

A petition nominating C. J. Grebb, incumbent, was filed previously. Petitions nominating Mrs. Ann Todd and James Dunn were brought in yesterday, irrigation district officials said.

In other districts, directors were declared elected since petitions were filed nominating only the incumbent in all four cases.

ANGELO RONCALLI Reigns as Pope John XXIII

Eagle Point May Hold Election for District Director

The board of directors of the Eagle Point Irrigation district last night decided to hold an election Nov. 11 for director if possible.

Petitions nominating three candidates have been submitted in the district, the only one of five irrigation districts in Jackson county in which more than one petition was submitted.

The board last night agreed to hold an election if possible. Holding it hinges on an opinion from the attorney general on the deadline for filing petitions.

Vatican City—UPI—The Sacred College of Cardinals today elected Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli, 76, Italian patriarch of Venice, as the 262nd Pope of the Roman Catholic church. He will reign as Pope John XXIII.

Roncalli is considered a "non-political" Pope in short, one who will devote his main effort to the spiritual affairs of the church rather than to international events.

A cardinal priest, he was born Nov. 25, 1881, and was created a cardinal by the late Pope Pius XII, whom he succeeds, on Jan. 12, 1953.

The son of a north Italian sharecropper, the new Pope served for 27 years as a successful Vatican diplomat, but was known as always a bishop at heart.

Three Days of Voting
The election of the Venetian patriarch came on the third day of voting—apparently on the 11th ballot.

First news of his election came to the world when a thin white wisp of smoke curled up at 5:07 p.m. (8:07 a.m. PST) from the chimney above the Sistine Chapel.

The smoke signal was short and indistinct at first, leaving the hushed crowd of 200,000 persons gathered in St. Peter's Square in anguished anticipation.

The first official announcement that the world's half billion Roman Catholics had a new spiritual leader came when the Vatican Radio said in a Portuguese language broadcast at 5:23 p.m.:

"The church has a new pope." As news of the papal election spread by radio and word of mouth throughout Rome, thousands began hurrying by foot or car to the Vatican.

Charles Porter Defends Record, Discusses Foreign Affairs

Congressman Charles O. Porter last night jabbed at his opponent and his support, defended his own record of accomplishment, and discussed economics and foreign affairs.

The Eugene Democratic congressman, here on his last visit before the election, spoke to some 65 members and guests of the Democratic Social club at the Phoenix Grange at a dinner in his honor.

Porter discussed more than half-dozen economic issues of importance to the Fourth District, and described his efforts to obtain improvement and relief for this area, particularly increased supplies of mortgage money to assist the lumber industry, which he said is still in difficulty.

working, may be constructed before too long as a result of a recommendation last week that part of it be included on the U.S. forest highway network. The recommendation was made by representatives of the state highway commission, the forest service and the bureau of public roads.

As to charges regarding his position on H-bomb testing, which he wants halted if the Russians do the same, he said President Eisenhower now is calling for the same thing, two years after it was first suggested by such figures as Adlai Stevenson.

"dragged it into a partisan political campaign." On farm legislation, the congressman scoffed at his opposition's efforts to make it appear that he favors high farm price supports as a permanent governmental policy.
