

Truman Points To Presidential Aides

New York (UP) - Former President Harry S. Truman said today that the President of the United States is in danger of becoming insulated from his appointed officials by a layer of presidential aides.

In an article entitled "My View of the Presidency" in the current issue of Look Magazine, Truman discussed the various factors that have a tendency to erode the influence of the chief executive.

He mentioned the "present trend toward a huge White House staff" in particular. An accompanying chart showed that Truman's White House staff of 293 persons on a $1,712,000 annual payroll has grown to 412 persons earning $2,850,000 under President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Truman said White House aides get in each other's way and insulate the President so that he no longer has breathing space.

The Medical Roundup

How to Sopt a Quack

The people of the United States could save themselves perhaps a billion dollars a year if they would only learn to recognize a quack the minute they see one. To show how much money some of these people "take," I happen to know a girl whose father for years has been paying a quack $1,000 a month to treat her for an incurable condition. Another woman tells me she has recently given thousands of dollars to a quack medium who, after gaining her confidence completely, advised her to buy a lot of stock from one of his confederates—stock which she now finds worthless.

The American Medical Association's Bureau of Investigation, headed by Oliver Field, knows well the quacks of the United States. Field has a file of information on every one of them, and hence there is no need for a person's being fleeced by a supposed doctor. Sometimes when an old patient of mine comes in to tell me that, after agreeing to be operated on by a certain man, he got suspicious of him because of his demand for cash in advance, I call Field to ask if he knows the supposed doctor, and he practically always says, "Oh, yes," and goes on to tell me perhaps that the fellow is really an old confidence man who has found the medical racket safer and more remunerative than his old game.

In "Today's Health" for September, Fields tells briefly how to spot a quack. 1) The man usually says he has a secret formula; 2) he guarantees a quick cure; 3) he advertises in the newspapers or distributes thousands of leaflets, or he shows testimonials. Often nowadays he calls his den of thieves a clinic, or a research institute. If he claims to cure cancer, he is always complaining that the doctors will not investigate his "cure," or give him the credit he deserves.

Suspects Held in Dynamite Blasts

Portland (UP) - Police are holding two young suspects and sought a third in connection with a series of dynamite and shooting here during the week end.

Jailed on charges of unlawful use of explosives with intent to injure persons and property were Roger H. Mobley, 23, of Beaverton, and George Edward Layman, 19, of Portland.

Police were questioning the youths about dynamite explosions near two buildings, the attempted dynamiting of an unoccupied automobile and the shooting of three cars. Police said Layman told them he and Mobley had been at a party.

HISTORIAN DIES

Tel Aviv, Israel (UP) - Prof. Joseph Gedaliah Klausner, 84, historian, educator and author, died here Monday night. He was defeated by Dr. Chaim Weizmann in 1949 for president.

From 500,000 to 1,000,000 Americans fall victim to poison ivy each year.

Children Who Have Difficulty in Reading

Mrs. Romalda Bishop Spalding, of 77 Merchant st., Honolulu, Hawaii, recently sent me her new book, "The Writing Road to Reading: A Modern Method of Phonics for Teaching Children to Read," (Whitcomb and William Morrow, New York). Mrs. Spalding has made a special study of the problem, and has written a very interesting book designed to help children who have trouble reading.

Dr. Alvarez hopes his readers will understand it is impossible for him to answer requests for information or to attempt to diagnose by mail. (Released by The Register and Tribune Syndicate, 1958)
