

Fame Hall Selections Installed

New York—(UPI)—President Eisenhower, a one-time Army fullback, joined gridiron greats of the past and present Tuesday night at the official installation of the nine newest members of college football's Hall of Fame.

The nation's Chief Executive was presented with the National Football foundation's first "gold medal award" and later addressed members of the foundation and the Hall of Fame.

Named to the 1958 Hall of Fame were: the late Charles Barrett of Cornell (1913-1915); the late David C. Campbell of Harvard (1899-1901); Marshall (Biggie) Goldberg of Pittsburgh (1936-38); the late T.A.D. (Tad) Jones, former coach and star at Yale; Harry Kipke of Michigan (1922-23), who also coached at Missouri, Michigan and Michigan State; Francis L. (Pug) Lund of Minnesota (1932-34); Frank John (Dutch) Schwab of Lafayette (1919-22); Harry Stuhldreher, one of Notre Dame's Four Horsemen (1922-1924) and Harry Killinger (Cy) Young of Washington and Lee (1913-16).

Ortiz Decisions Dave Charnley

London—(UPI)—Young Carlos Ortiz said today he'll wait six months before challenging for the world lightweight title despite Tuesday night's impressive victory over British champion Dave Charnley.

"I'm not ready yet," explained the 22-year-old New Yorker who had given American ring prestige a needed boost before a sellout crowd of more than 10,000 at the final boxing show in Harringay Arena.

Puerto Rican-born Carlos, now ranked third among contenders for the 135-pound crown, broke the American bad luck streak with the first U. S. boxing victory on English soil in four months, studied by four U. S. defeats and one draw. It was his 28th win in 30 professional bouts. He lost only once and had a no-decision affair.

MEDFORD TRIBUNE SPORTS

Ducks, Beavers Favored By Gridiron Oddsmakers

New York—(UPI)—Oddsmakers today tabbed Louisiana State a six-point favorite over Mississippi for Saturday night's "meeting of the unbeaten" that may well decide the Southeastern Conference championship.

Both squads sport identical overall records of 6-0 for the Baton Rouge, La., encounter, with LSU winning three SEC games to Mississippi's two.

In the featured Big Ten contests, top-ranked Iowa is an eight-point favorite over Michigan at Ann Arbor while Wisconsin is the choice by six over Michigan State in the nationally televised game at East Lansing, Mich.

Army Choice
Second ranked Army, hurled from the perfect list by virtue of its tie with Pittsburgh last week end, is a 32-point pick over Colgate.

Oklahoma, Notre Dame and Southern Methodist hold slight edges in the weekly odds. Oklahoma is seven over Colorado for their Big Eight conference showdown at Boulder, Colo.; Notre Dame is three over Navy at Baltimore, Md., and SMU is a three-point choice over Texas in a Southwest conference clash at Austin, Tex.

Three week end games are rated toss-ups. They are Duke vs. Georgia Tech, Georgia vs. Alabama and UCLA vs. Washington State.

Point spreads for other leading games:

BOWLING

Senior Junior league members rolled for the last time last Saturday to determine averages for the start of loop contention. Gary Williams, 212, and Sharon Lang, 184, had high games while Richard Schroeder, 486, and Judy Ross, 401, rolled high series. Schroeder converted a 3-7-10 split.

Elk Season Will Start Saturday

Portland—For some 35,000 rugged and dedicated nimrods the roughest and toughest of all big game hunting will get under way Nov. 1 with the opening of the state-wide general elk season.

In the coast range the season will extend through Nov. 16, with a bag limit of one bull elk with three points or better in the northern coast and one bull elk with antlers longer than the years in the south coast section. The north coast includes all of Clatsop, Columbia, Lincoln and Benton counties and part of Lane and Tillamook counties. Legal bulls in this area must have at least three points two or more inches in length on one antler. The south coast includes all of Coos, Curry and Josephine counties and part of Douglas county.

In the Cascades and north-eastern Oregon the season will extend through Nov. 25. Bag limit in the Cascade range and in the 16 northern elk management units is one bull elk with antlers longer than the ears. In the southern elk management units the bag limit has been set at one elk. These southern units include Wheeler, Grizzly, Ochoco, Maury, Northside, Baker, Keating, Lookout Mountain, Murderers Creek, Beulah, Malheur River, and Silvies.

Special bull elk regulations this year require hunters to tag and possess the antlers while the carcass is in possession in the field, forest, or in transit. This new ruling has been put in effect to halt a few unscrupulous hunters from using old sets of antlers to bring out deliberate illegal cow and calf kills.

From all indications hunters can look forward to another good year with elk populations on a par with last year. The greatest number of animals will be taken from the elk ranges of eastern Oregon with the Wallowa and Blue mountains the greatest producers.

Along the coast, Clatsop in the north will be the hot spot, while Coos and Douglas counties will be the main producers in the south.

Welter Tilt Confirmed

Los Angeles—(UPI)—Some backstage maneuvering accompanied official confirmation today that welterweight champion Virgil Akins would make his first title defense against Don Jordan here Dec. 5.

Co-promoter George Parnassus has been insisting all along that Akins and his camp had agreed to take on the winner of the Jordan-Gaspar Ortega fight in a bout to be held at Olympic auditorium.

So when Eddie Yawitz, co-manager of Akins, in effect refuted the announcement by saying no site had been selected, Parnassus was surprised and not very enthusiastic.

Tuesday, it was Yawitz who announced Akins was ready to defend his title against Jordan in Los Angeles on Dec. 5.

Parnassus, ready to make official announcement of the fight terms today, refused to release advance figures. "I never had any dealings with Mr. Yawitz," he insisted, "all my dealings were with Akins' co-manager, Bernie Glickman."

Calhoun Fights Franz Szuzina

Rochester, N. Y.—(UPI)—Brawn meets brawn tonight when Rory Calhoun, 10th-ranked middleweight squares off with squat Franz Szuzina of Bremen, Germany, in a 10-round, nationally-televised fight.

Both employ similar styles, boring in constantly to concentrate on heavy body punching.

SCHOOL BUSES COLLIDE

Florence, Miss.—(UPI)—Fourteen students were injured, but none critically, when three school buses collided near here Tuesday. Investigators said one bus struck another from behind, knocking it into the third vehicle.

Bobo Olson Halts Grant

Oakland, Calif.—(UPI)—Don Grant, who suffered a seventh round technical knockout on Tuesday night at the hands of Carl (Bobo) Olson, was taken to a hospital early today after he complained of difficulty with his breathing.

Grant was rushed to Highland hospital by ambulance. He was immediately taken into emergency for examination.

Oakland, Calif.—(UPI)—If Bobo Olson still has a glass jaw, it will take some other fighter besides Don Grant to test it.

The former world middleweight champion used Grant, of Los Angeles, as a punching bag Tuesday night while launching his second comeback attempt in a lopsided bout that was stopped at 2:33 of the seventh round.

At that point, Grants was standing helpless in the center of the ring while Olson showered him with short left hooks and rights to the head that had the crowd of about 4,000 hollering for surcease.

Referee Frankie Carter stepped in between the two men and Olson's second comeback officially was launched.

Winter Angling Rules in Effect On November 1

Portland—Anglers are advised by the game commission that Oct. 31 marks the final day of the general summer trout season in Oregon. Beginning Nov. 1 and continuing until the spring of 1959, the winter angling regulations will be in effect.

Anglers after Nov. 1 will find it necessary to check the winter regulations in the back of the angling synopsis. Winter regulations begin on page 34. Instead of listing closed waters as in the summer rules, the booklet lists only open waters.

In zone 1, or the coastal zone, the winter season will extend through Feb. 28, 1959. Rogue Rules Listed

In zone 2, the Willamette valley area, and zones 5, 6, and 8, which encompass central and southeastern Oregon, the winter rules will extend through April 24, 1959.

The ending dates in zones 7 and 9, northeastern Oregon, vary as to stream, and anglers are urged to consult these rules found on pages 22 through 25 for winter regulations.

Bag limit for most zones for trout, salmon and steelhead 12 inches in length or over is two fish per day, four in possession or in seven consecutive days. Punch cards must be used for salmon and steelhead 20 inches or over.
