Displays of Books, Art Themed to National Weeks

Because Children's Book Week coincides this year with National Art Week, visitors to the junior department of the Medford Public library on Monday and Wednesday, November 3 and 5, have a double treat in store according to Library Director Helen E. Webster. Not only will there be the usual annual exhibits of new children's books for their enjoyment, but the work of local artists in several media will be displayed by the arts committee of the American Association of University Women.

Patrons of the arts are cordially invited to inspect the displays of some of the finest books published for children when they attend the art showing. Included in these displays will be the winners of the Caldecott awards for distinguished illustration of children's books for the past 20 years, an interesting field of artistic expression in itself. Newberry Award winners for literary excellence will also be on display. The annual displays of the best in children's books are intended to help individuals plan their Christmas gifts, Miss Webster said, as well as to attract children to the enjoyment of reading.

All boys and girls in the area are invited to visit the children's room and be introduced to the fun of reading good books during Children's Book week. Families are especially invited to attend the library's "family night," to be held on Monday, November 3, since the usual Tuesday family night would fall on election day, a civic holiday, when the library will be closed.

The junior department of the library will be open on Monday from 1:30 until 5:30, and from 6:30 until 9, closed on Tuesday, and open Wednesday through Friday at the usual hours, 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. Usual hours will be maintained on Saturday. During the following week, because Tuesday, Veterans' Day, is another civic holiday, the junior department will be open on Monday night instead.

Members of the AAUW branch will serve as hostesses of the art show Monday evening from 6:30 until 9 o'clock and on Wednesday from 1:30 until 5:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served on Monday. Mrs. Helen Gebhard is in charge of arrangements.

Costume Party Given at Church

Phoenix-A party was held at the First Presbyterian church Thursday for Sunday school children from the first through eighth grades.

Women assisting with the party were Mrs. Charles Marrs, Mrs. Vincent Clafin, Mrs. James Mitchell, Mrs. Richard Wright, Mrs. Robert Foster, Mrs. Lloyd Nikodyn, Mrs. Harold Ross, Mrs. Edward Brown, Mrs. Jim Gardner and Mrs. Jack Sult.

Speaker Named For Coin Club

Donald Wendt, Jacksonville, will speak for a meeting of Rogue Valley Coin club Monday, November 3, at the Girls' Community club at 8 p.m. "Foreign Crown Sized Coins" will be Mr. Wendt's topic.

An auction of coins consigned by members will be held for the benefit of the members present. A general discussion of coins and collections will follow.

William Warner, Medford, left, and Charles Walker, Portland, look over the original charter of the Medford Kiwanis club at club's 35th anniversary dinner October 25. Mr. Warner was first president of the club in 1923 when Mr. Walker presented the charter. Mr. Walker, governor of the Kiwanis Pacific Northwest district in 1930, presented a plaque to the Medford man in recognition of his years of service. The dinner and dance were at Rogue Valley Country club.
