Seoul - (UPI) - President Syngman Rhee has pledged that the United States will "never be alone" in its fight against Communism.

The United States and other "free" nations can count on the support of South Korea with its 720,000-man armed forces in any war against Communist countries including Communist China, he said in an exclusive written interview with United Press International.

Tide Said Turned

The graying statesman vehemently denied that the United States would ever have to fight without allies in Asia. Pointing to recent developments in Burma, Pakistan and Thailand, he said that "almost everywhere in Asia the tide has turned against Communism."

"We in Korea do not have much, but we shall always do what we can in the struggle for freedom and independence," Rhee said.

The Korean leader recalled that his country offered "such help as we could give" to South Viet Nam during the Indochinese War which ended in 1954 and also to the anti-Communist rebel forces in Indonesia early this year.

South Korea also offered to help the Nationalist Chinese soon after the Formosa crisis began in August.

"Those who fight for right and justice will never be alone," Rhee said. "Korea believes in freedom and will fight for it because of prin-principles as well as self-interest. "Even if the only motivation were self-interest, we and other free men and women would still have to fight, because if the United States and the other Allied powers go under, neither Korea nor any other single nation will be able to survive as democratic and anti-Communist in a Soviet-dominated world."

The 83-year-old chief executive said that "all for one and one for all" may be hackneyed expression, but it sums up Korea's policy in Asia and the rest of the free world."

CONFESSING HE STRANGLED three women, buried their bodies in desert, Harvey Glatman, 30, ex-convict, led authorities to bodies of women believed to be Ruth Mercado (right) and Mrs. Shirley Bridgeford (center), at Anza State Park, near Los Angeles. Body of third victim, Judy Ann Dull (left), 19, a model, was believed uncovered near Indio last December. Glatman said he met victims when they advertised for work.

CONFESSING murders of three women in past year, Harvey Glatman, 30, ex-convict, leads authorities to two graves near Los Angeles.

Admitted Killer Of Women Shows Little Concern

Los Angeles - (UPI) - Harvey M. Glatman, whose calm recital of how he raped and strangled three young women led veteran homicide detectives to label him a "cold fish," showed little concern today as authorities sought to determine where he would be tried for the crimes.

Glatman, 30, a television repairman, lost his nerve for the first time Sunday since his arrest a week ago.

Shouts at Jailers
 "What do you think I am—a freak?" he shouted angrily at his jailers as they kept a close watch on him to prevent a possible suicide try.

"Everybody who comes by this cell stops and looks at me," he complained. "They look at me and watch me all the time."

It was the first break of the confessed killer's nerve. All last week he matter of factly told detectives a depraved tale of forcing his attractive victims to pose in the nude before killing them and dumping their bodies in the desert.

His victims, Ruth Rita Mercado, 24, and Judy Ann Dull, 19, both models, and Mrs. Shirley Ann Bridgeford, 24, divorcee-mother of two children and lonely hearts club member, were killed during a period from August, 1957, to last July.

Posed as Photographer
 Glatman said he met the models by posing as an amateur photographer. He killed Mrs. Bridgeford, whom he met through a lonely hearts club, and Miss Mercado in a barren desert area in San Diego county, he told police.

The problem of where Glatman should be tried arose because the crimes occurred in different counties.
